Birding BITS

Safe Keeping

I store my feeders in a large aluminum trash can on my porch during the night. Not only do my feeders stay dry, but undesirable rodents are less likely to come into my yard spreading germs. It's a little more work, but worth the effort.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was 20th-century Canadian-American economist John Kenneth Galbraith who made the following sage observation: "Faced with the choice between changing one's mind and proving that there is no need to do so, almost everyone gets busy on the proof."

• The original jack-o'-lanterns were turnips, not pumpkins. The custom began in Ireland, where residents hollowed out and carved faces into large turnips for the Celtic harvest festival of Samhain. The turnips, placed on windowsills, were believed to ward off evil spirits. In Scotland, young men would dress in white and blacken their faces in an imitation of the dead.

• Peter the Great was known during his reign in the late 17th and early 18th centuries as "Emperor and Autocrat of All the Russias." In order to raise money, he taxed just about anything he could think of, including births, burials, chimneys and even beards. • By law, if you are planning to build in Washington, D.C., the edifice must be no taller than the Capitol building.

• You probably know that physicist Albert Einstein was awarded the Nobel Prize. You might not realize, however, that the prize was for his work on the photoelectric effect of light, not for his more famous theory of relativity.

• If you are like the average American woman, you will spend a grand total of 60 days of your life in the practice of removing body hair.

• In 2010, the record for the world's largest pumpkin was broken. The Atlantic giant pumpkin, grown by Chris Stevens of New Richmond, Wisc., weighed in at the Stillwater Harvest Fest at a whopping 1,810.5 pounds.

Q: I have a spun aluminum canister set which made in 1957 by Kromex. It includes four sugar, tea and coffee canisters in addition to matching salt and pepper shakers, a spice rack with eight containers and a bread box. All are in excellent condition. I would like to know the approximate value of this set. -- Joyce, Daytona Beach, Fla.

A: As more and more people are restoring mid-century homes, the price of accessories such as your canister set from 1957 continue to edge up in value. It's a plus that your set appears to be fairly complete and is in such excellent condition. One of the better reference books for kitchen accessories from the post-war period is "Spiffy Kitchen Collectibles" by Brian S. Alexander (Krause Publications, $24.99). This guide features several canister sets, and most are valued in the $25 to $75 range.

Q: I have a silver spoon from the Columbian Exposition of 1892. How much is it worth? -- Glenn, Peoria, Ariz.

A: A souvenir spoon from the Columbian Exposition recently sold on eBay for $35. There were dozens of spoons with various designs sold at the event, but most seem to be selling in the $25 to $35 range. On the other hand, one of the most popular fairs was the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1904, commonly known as the St. Louis World's Fair. A spoon showing an image of Jefferson and Napoleon currently sells in the $50 to $100 range; a demitasse spoon with twisted handle, $35 to $50; and one showing Festival Hall and the Cascades, $600 to $800.

Spotlight on Garrett County Non-Profits:

The Work They Do, The People They Serve

This column, sponsored by the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland, is one of a series of articles about local non-profit organizations. The purpose is to inform citizens about the services offered by the organizations, and to let them know about the volunteer opportunities available within these groups.

What is Our Town Theatre?

OTT, the "little jewel of a theatre" in Oakland, is entering into its 15th year as a local, non-profit organization presenting quality theatrical productions and educational opportunities to the community.

During the past decade and a half, hundreds of people have had the chance to showcase their talents by appearing on stage, directing, or working behind the scenes during OTT's extensive activities. Thousands of people have been provided with a wide variety of enriching entertainment and artistic activities.

These activities are all guided by OTT's mission statement, which reads in part: "We strive to open the mind, inspire the imagination, animate the senses, nourish the spirit, and propagate humor."

How It Works

Our Town Theatre functions almost solely by the work of unpaid volunteers. No one at Our Town Theatre receives a salary or compensation for their efforts, yet it takes many hands to bring an event to fruition.

The play process begins with a director, actors, stage managers, and technical personnel who coordinate lighting and sound. Then costumers, prop managers, and scene designers and painters are needed. On performance nights, house managers and box office personnel are necessary.

During those times when a play is not in production, volunteers are asked to help organize and maintain an extensive inventory of props and costumes, clean and maintain the buildings, help with mailings and fundraisers, and contribute skills to the ongoing activities of the theatre.

Some of the other continuing activities of the theatre include fundraising events; presentations in collaboration with the Dove Center, the Garrett County Arts Council, Garrett Lakes Art Festival, and other community organizations; and children's plays and summer barter camps for children.

These programs are also guided by the organization's mission statement, which continues: "Our Town Theatre will provide...other theatrical experiences to encourage the growth of knowledge and positive action in our community... nurture respect and compassion, and foster awareness, perseverance, and hope."

Volunteering Opportunities

People who have volunteered at OTT have found a satisfying way to help the community and have made lasting friendships with an interesting group of people. While Jane Avery was supervising a group of kids painting scenery, she said she overheard one boy say to another, "I love coming here. I mean, we have to work, but it's so cool!"

All ages (from youth to older), all skills (from small to large), are needed and can be useful in helping OTT further its mission of .. "maintaining high artistic standards, interrelating with our citizens, and endeavoring to meet the needs of our community."

Our Town Theatre will provide training for any interested volunteer. Persons may call the theatre at 301-334-5640, send e-mail to ourtowntheatre@verizon.net, or visit www.ourtowntheatre.

OTT is also on Facebook and Twitter.

FireFly Farms Receives Awards At Recent National Convention

FireFly Farms received five honors last week for its aged goat cheeses from the American Dairy Goat Association at its annual national convention in Grand Rapids, Mich. The ADGA Products Committee sponsors the annual Goat Milk Cheese Competition.

Mountain Top Bleu™ received a first-place ribbon competing in its class against other unflavored, blue-veined cheeses with exterior molding. This new award brings Mtn. Top Bleu's total individual award count to 15, including its selection in August as America's top goat's milk cheese at the American Cheese Society Conference annual judging. Other previous awards include its 2005 selection by Saveur magazine editors as one of their 50 favorite American cheeses and its international recognition at the World Cheese Awards in 2004, 2006, and 2008.

Black & Blue™ received the first-place ribbon competing in its class against other unflavored, rindless blue-veined cheeses. The new award brings Black & Blue's total individual award count to six, including consecutive first-place finishes in the ADGA Goat Milk Cheese competitions every year since 2007.

Merry Goat Round™ received a second-place ribbon competing in its class against other unflavored, surface mold-ripened cheeses. This award brings Merry Goat Round's total award count to nine, including international recognition at the World Cheese Awards in 2004, 2007, and 2008.

Cabre LaMancha™ received a third-place ribbon competing in its class against other unflavored, washed-rind cheeses. This award brings this cheese's award count to nine, including its 2005 selection by Southern Foodways Alliance as one of the top 10 American goat's milk cheeses and its international recognition at the World Cheese Awards in 2008 and 2009.

Bella Vita™ received third-place competing in its class against other unflavored hard cheeses. This award brings its award count to eight, including its 2010 Super-Gold designation at the World Cheese Awards, its 2010 first-place award from the American Cheese Society, and its 2007 selection as Reserve Best-in-Show at the ADGA Goat Milk Cheese Competition.

"We are proud and humbled by the continued national recognition for FireFly Farms' cheese," said head cheese maker Matt Cedro. "This is a great honor for us, and we dedicate these ADGA awards to the four local family dairy goat farms that produce such high quality goat milk for us to use in our cheese-making process."

"Once again, it's two first-place finishes for FireFly Farms' two goat's milk blue cheese," echoed assistant cheese maker Dan Porter. "It just feels great, and it's a great way to cap off a great October and the first American Cheese Month."

The ADGA Products Committee was formed to investigate ways to bring dairy goat products to the attention of the buying public and encourage the use of these products. Members of this committee are committed to raising awareness of the public to the quality and variety of dairy goat products available today ranging from cheese, yogurt, and other dairy products to the vast array of body care products that are increasing in popularity.

FireFly Farms cheese is available at farmer's markets, restaurants, many specialty stores, and its own flagship retail location in Accident. The business recently announced its partnership with Wagon Wheel ranch, Mt. Airy, in the collection and use of whey, a by-product of the cheese-making process.

We extend a compassionate helping hand.

SEASONS OVERLAP – Heavy, wet snow lay upon autumn leaves not yet fallen on Saturday, as an early snowstorm passed through Garrett County and dumped about an 9-inch blanket across the Mountaintop. While the storm left a wet mess, the complications were relatively slight in the county. Some were without electricity for a short time, but fared much better than surrounding West Virginia, where the power was not restored in a few places until yesterday. The snow lingered in piles through Halloween, forcing trick-or-treaters to step carefully. Most of it has melted now, and the week has been classically fall-like, with 30-degree nights and 50-degree days. The weekend is to be crisp and clear, with rain holding off until sometime next week. National EAS Test Slated For November 9

The federal government will conduct the first nationwide test of the Emergency Alert System (EAS) on Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 2 p.m. The Maryland Emergency Management Agency wants all residents to understand this event will be just a test, and not a real emergency alert.

The test will last up to three and a half minutes. During this period, regularly scheduled television, radio, cable, and satellite shows will be interrupted as the system is being tested.

"It is important to make sure the system works at the national level," said Richard Muth, executive director of the Maryland Emergency Management Agency. "The system is regularly used for local and regional notifications, but this will be the first national test. And I want all Maryland residents to understand that this will only be a test."

The test is being conducted by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), as part of an ongoing effort to keep the nation safe during emergencies and strengthen resilience against all hazards. The EAS is an alert and warning system that can be activated by the president to provide information to the public during emergencies.

NOAA's National Weather Service, governors, and state and local emergency authorities also use parts of the system to issue more localized emergency alerts. The test is an important exercise to ensure communication of critical information in a national emergency. Similar to EAS tests already conducted frequently on the local level, the nationwide test will involve television and radio stations across the United States and its territories.

Under the FCC's rules, radio and television broadcasters, cable operators, satellite digital audio radio service providers, direct broadcast satellite service providers, and wireline video service

HEALTH DEPARTMENT TRAINING PARENTS TO "BE THE WALL" – The Garrett County Health Department is sponsoring a county-wide marketing campaign encouraging parents to be both clear with their children that they will not condone underage alcohol and drug use, and firm and consistent in their discipline. Training for this effort, titled "Be the Wall," will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 9, from 8:30 to 11 a.m. at the health department conference room. Amity Chandler, director of Drug Free Charlotte County in Florida, will present information about the campaign she helped develop, which promotes the idea that adults need to "be the wall" between teens and alcohol. The presentation will help participants learn the importance of both the message and how the message is presented, a spokesperson said. The campaign is also targeting those who sell alcohol in stores and establishments by asking them to reinforce their legal and personal responsibility to refuse sales of alcohol to minors. There will also be a Community Planning Group training session from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Chandler will be gave participants a quick overview of the teen brain and details about how a community can embrace the campaign to change attitudes, behaviors, and perceptions about teen drinking. The campaign is sponsored by Garrett County Drug Free Communities Coalition and the Maryland Strategic Prevention Framework State Incentive Grant. For more information about the trainings, persons may contact Nancy Brady at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Commissioners Hold Public Hearing; Residents Oppose Junkyard Proposal

The Garrett County county commissioners held a public hearing Tuesday morning on granting a junkyard license to Oakland area businessman Don Nine of Don's Classic Car Company, 5062 Hutton Road. More than 20 neighboring property owners attended the event.

The vast majority of them indicated their opposition, either through verbal testimony or a show of hands, to granting the license. Their main concerns were a possible decline in property values and negative impacts on the environment.

"Don has made this application pursuant to the Garrett County Junkyard Ordinance; that ordinance has been in effect since the late 1970s," explained Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development.

Nelson noted that the document is not a zoning ordinance, but a premise that falls under the authority of the State Highway Administration because of proximity issues pertaining to public roads.

"The process outlined in the application gives the commissioners the discretion to hold a public hearing on any application made by a property owner who wishes to establish a salvage yard or automobile salvage junkyard on their property," Nelson said.

The county currently has nine licensed junkyards, noted Mark Weber, licensing and enforcement inspector. He said the county has received numerous complaints from neighbors about the Nine property over the last three or four years.

"Mr. Nine has brought his property into compliance intermittently over this time," Weber said.

He said his office has been working with Nine, who wants to bring his property into compliance, try to get a junkyard license, and be "legitimate."

"He has effectively met the requirements of the junkyard license regarding setbacks," Weber said. "He does not intend to run a business as junkyard per se."

Weber said Nine runs a recycling business in which he brings used vehicles to the property, where they are salvaged/repaired and resold.

"He doesn't have a sign that says 'Don's Junkyard'; he's not selling parts," the inspector said. "He has met the requirements for screening. He just recently put up fencing."

A 7-foot high fence was erected in front of a 150-foot by 300-foot area at the back of Nine's 4½ acre property, where the salvage cars would be stored. Restored vehicles would be located on a retail lot at the front of the property.

"In order for it to be a storage yard, it has to be a junk yard," Nine explained. "We aren't operating a junkyard, as such. We would be operating only as a storage lot and a recycle lot."

He indicated he has had a junkyard license for another location for 10 years and is very aware of Environmental Protection Agency inspections and laws about disposing of vehicle fluids and tires.

Nine added that he has been a licensed car dealer and owned a body shop for numerous years.

He said the car shells would be hauled away, and there would be no car crushers or other heavy equipment

Maryland DNR Closes Black Bear Hunting

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources closed its 2011 black bear hunt at 9 p.m. last Thursday. Hunters from Garrett and Allegany counties tagged 65 bears at mandatory check stations in western Maryland. The DNR opened the season on Monday, Oct. 24.

"Maryland's black bear hunters enjoyed another safe and successful hunting season," said Harry Spiker, game mammal section leader for DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service.

"The cool, mild weather during the first two days kept hunters in the woods and helped DNR meet its management goal in four days."

The average live weight of the bears taken this year was 154 pounds. Twelve-year-old Colton Lucas of Kitzmiller took the largest bear of the season, a 376-pound male.

Of the 65 bears taken this year 59 were harvested in Garrett County. The remaining six were taken in Allegany County. Sixty-nine percent of the bears were taken on private land and 55 percent of successful hunters were residents of Garrett and Allegany counties.

Those interested in further information about Maryland's black bear population may visit dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife.

Man Sentenced To Eight Years In DOC For Burglary

A 42-year-old Oakland man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Monday to eight years in the Division of Corrections. Keith Allen Dooley pleaded guilty in August, and Judge Jim Sheibin ordered a presentence investigation be completed for the sentencing hearing.

Dooley was arrested and charged in May by investigators with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office, who responded to an Oakland residence for a reported burglary in progress. A resident returned to his home during the noon hour and found a man inside the house, removing property.

The burglar fled, with the victim giving chase and obtaining a description of him and his vehicle.

After developing Dooley as a suspect officers obtained a search and seizure warrant for Dooley's Oakland residence and recovered numerous items reported stolen, the state's attorney noted.

PRO SHREDDERS ENJOY EARLY SNOW – High Mountain Sports hosted the Capita Snowboard Pro Team at its retail location at Deep Creek Lake for a meet-and-greet event on Saturday, the day the area was hit with an early 9-inch snowstorm, and the guests just could not resist strapping on their boards to take advantage of the conditions. One of the pros is pictured above catching lots of air off the surrounding stone walls. Capita Pro Team members present were sales rep Brad Bradley, marketing and board designer Sean Tedore, Capita pros T.J. Schneider and Cale Zima, and Capita amateur Mike Ravelson.

DOWN COMES A LANDMARK – The water tower of the former Kelly's Furniture Store that has been a part of the landscape in Loch Lynn for many decades came crashing to the ground on Saturday, as the structure had corroded to the point that it was too dangerous to leave it standing. Fortunately it did not fall on its own, but was purposely brought down by local contractor Jeremy Martin after it was deemed unsafe by town authorities. SOME STARS FROM HOOP HOPE HOORAY – The fundraising and fitness effort Hoop Hope Hooray, organized by Brenda's Body Shop and benefiting the House of Hope, culminated last weekend in a community party at Southern High School. The campaign brought in more than $22,000 for the House of Hope, and involved more than 100 people over the past eight weeks. In the photo above left, Jazlynn LeBon is shown as organizer Brenda Brosnihan presents her with the trophy for winning the hula hoop competition at the party. At right is Katie Catulle, who was one of the hoop finalists. "I could do this all day long," she said while hooping. Pictured below are the top fundraisers in the effort. Shown from left are Charlee Pettit ($450), Brooke Rose ($452), Lilla Rose ($452), Gracyn Upole $312, Emily Pysell ($502), and Emily Holland ($1937). In back are Kayla Harvey ($663) and Lauryn Moon ($311). See story.

Hoop Hope Hooray Effort Brings In $22,000+ For House Of Hope

Hoop Hope Hooray, a fundraising and fitness effort spearheaded by Brenda's Body Shop (BBS), brought in a total of $22,295, presented to the House of Hope this past weekend. The presentation took place at the final event of the campaign, held at Southern High School.

More than 150 people participated in the "hoopmania," according to organizer Brenda Brosnihan, at the last event, which included entertainment, hula hooping, and dance.

"It was an incredible day with so much fun and energy all around," Brosnihan said. "The audience was great and the participants' enthusiasm was contagious. Completing this event with such an astounding amount of money raised in these tough economic times once again states the unbelievable generosity of the people in Garrett County. I'm so proud to live here and be part of such an amazing community that really exemplifies the House of Hope's motto: 'A Community of Caring.'"

The House of Hope has been attending to the emergency needs of Garrett Countians since 1978, often assisting when government funding guidelines restrict other area programs.

"Since the House of Hope never seeks or accepts government funding of any kind, this ministry has always relied on the sole generosity of the community," Brosnihan said.

Sister Joanna Sinko and Sister Mary Ann Mazza, who operate the House of Hope, wished to thank all the sponsors, participants, and Brenda's Body Shop for organizing the effort.

"The funds are so needed and we are so grateful to receive such an amazing donation," the sisters stated. "Brenda's leadership and vision to create such fun and productive events is a true blessing."

Money for the event was raised through sponsors, hula hoop sales, and the seeking of donations from friends and family.

"We sold nearly 200 hula hoops," Brosnihan reported. "And the creativity in which they were decorated gave our dances such a visual impact."

She reported that 78 participants turned in donations at the event. The top fundraisers were Emily Holland with $1,937, Kayla Harvey, $663; Emily Pysell, $502; Lilla Rose, $452; Brooke Rose, $452; Charlee Pettit, $450; Gracyn Upole, $312; and Lauryn Moon, $311. Each of these participants were given additional prizes for their contributions.

Two of the highlights of the Hoop Hope Hooray final event were the mass hoop dance and the hula hoop competitions. Brosnihan said the group worked for 8 weeks preparing. Participants learned five different hoop routines and several classic party dances, some Jazzercise routines, and Zumba dances.

"We videotaped our favorite hoop routine to put on YouTube to share with friends and family who live out of the area," she said. "We coaxed audience members Tyler Tasker and Betty Scott to join the 'hoopla' and compete against one another using one Redskin and one Steeler hula hoop. Tyler had lots of style and was very entertaining, but Betty spun her Redskin hoop effortlessly, winning a gift certificate while Tyler earned an event T-shirt."

The first round of the Hoop Hope Hooray contest began with 70 participants attempting to keep their hoops spinning around their waist during the 30-minute dance party workout taking place on the other side of the gym. The dance party was led by BBS instructors Lisa Malone, Lexi Torrisi, Lisa Nichols, Sheri Hershman, Alissa Garland, Abbi Smith, Amy Anderson, and Jessica Warnick.

"It was an incredible sight to see all these kids hula hooping on one side of the gym and the other side packed with enthusiastic dancers," Brosnihan said. "We had more than 35 adults who participated weekly to learn the dance and hoop routines. This event really got people moving, and as a fitness specialist, I love that. The hula hoop is such a simple toy and concept, and I believe it's that simplicity that gave our event so much appeal."

Twenty-five hoopers advanced to the second round where they had to execute a series of tricks while keeping their hoops spinning. The final round included the top 10, who had an opportunity to freestyle and present their best hoop tricks, she said.

Medals were awarded to the top 10 hoopers: Alysia Smith, Maria Walch, Laina Holler, Michaela Vitez, Brooke Rose, Kailey Nugent, Jazlynn LeBon, Kaitlin Shaffer, Lilla Rose, and Katie Catulle.

The winners of the hula hoop competition were third place Kaitlin Shaffer, second place Michaela Vitez, and first place Jazlynn LeBon.

Brosnihan said the hooping for Garrett County is not quite over, as she has been invited to choreograph the halftime show for the WVU women's basketball team's Pink Zone Game for Breast Cancer Awareness in February.

"I'm honored to receive this opportunity, and I believe our Hoop Hope Hooray will be a huge hit for this game," she said. "So I encourage all those hoopers to decorate their hoops pink and get ready to learn a new dance."

To learn more about the halftime performance, persons may check the BBS web site at brendasbodyshop.com.

Virginia Man Sentenced For Sexual Offense

A 29-year-old Lanexa, Va., man was sentenced in Garrett County Court on Monday to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a third degree sexual offense.

Judge Jim Sherbin then suspended 10 months of Kenneth Barnhart IV's sentence. In accordance with the law, Barnhart will also have to register as a sex offender.

In May, Barnhart was found in Friendsville Community Park after hours by Maryland State Police. They determined he was with an underage female, engaging in sexual activities, and arrested him at that time.

He pleaded guilty to the crime in August, and sentencing was postponed for 60 days.

In an unrelated case, Travis Gordon Stalnaker, 22, Accident, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property in Circuit Court on Tuesday.

Related charges were dismissed upon his plea. Judge Sherbin then sentenced Stalnaker to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail and ordered him to pay restitution of $50 to the victim. Fines and costs totaling $235 were also assessed.

Stalnaker was arrested by Maryland State Police in August after he was identified as the person who had broken into a shed in the Accident area and attempted to steal a can of gas.

In an another case, Thomas James Ravenscroft, 22, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol per se. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea.

Sherbin sentenced Ravenscroft to six months in the Garrett County Jail and then suspended all but 10 days to be served. Ravenscroft was placed on probation and ordered to pay $400 in fines and costs.

Ravenscroft was arrested and charged in July by Maryland State Police who investigated a motor vehicle accident that occurred along Garrett Highway, south of Lake Shore Drive.

Ravenscroft's motorcycle had struck the left rear of a passenger vehicle he was following. While investigating the accident, troopers determined Ravenscroft had been drinking. They arrested him based on their observations and his failure of field sobriety tests, the state's attorney noted.

In an unrelated case, Erik Daniel Van Elburg, 19, Ellicott City, pleaded guilty to possession of psilocyn. Related charges were dismissed upon his plea.

Sherbin sentenced Van Elburg to six months in the Garrett County Jail and suspended the sentence. He was placed on probation and assessed $685 in fines and costs.

Van Elburg was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police along Interstate 68 in July. The vehicle in which he was a passenger was stopped for an equipment violation. An officer with a drug-detection dog scanned the vehicle, and it was searched when there was a positive alert. A quantity of psilocyn was located inside a cooler in a duffle bag belonging to Van Elburg.

Although 1.5 pounds of suspected drugs were seized, crime laboratory testing confirmed only five ounces of the substance to contain the controlled dangerous substance psilocin, the state's attorney said.

MOST WANTED* – Pictured are the current Most Wanted persons who are being sought by local law enforcement officials, as submitted by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office. From left are: Austin McCann Goodwin, 26, Mount Hope, W.Va., arrest warrant/controlled dangerous substance; Jacob Benjamin Hanson, 32, Greensburg, Pa., bench warrant/failure to appear; and Linda Lee Hoffman, 51, Richmond, Va., bench warrant/violation of probation. Anyone with information on the whereabouts of any of these persons is asked to call 301-334-1911 or go online to garrettcountycrimesolvers.org and leave an anonymous tip.

Well Done, Molly...

The utter frustration being experienced by many Americans right now is manifesting itself in what has become known as Occupy Wall Street, as groups of protesters can now be found in a number of cities throughout the nation. Frustration seems to be the prime motivator, as most of them seem to have trouble articulating specifically what it is they want those connected with corporate America to do. Many say they are just fed up with the level of greed and seemingly uncaring attitudes of those at the top of corporate America, the continued lack of jobs, and the ever growing difficulty in just trying to make financial ends meet in their personal lives.

Unfortunately, protesting often leads to rioting, injury, destruction of property, and arrests, and undoubtedly a certain number of persons in these various groups are not so much victims of corporate America as they are victims of their own poor judgment and decision making.

With this in mind, it was refreshing to hear this week of the efforts of 22-year-old Molly Katchpole of Washington, D.C., a person who is working two part-times jobs and basically living paycheck-to-paycheck.

Less than one month ago, Bank of America announced a hike in various fees for its customers, plus a new monthly fee just to use a debit card. But instead of joining a group of Occupy Wall Street protestors – where her individual voice would have likely been ineffective – Molly wisely decided to protest in a different way by utilizing the Internet and its various tools now known generally as "social networking." She started an online petition, which was signed by over 300,000 people, most of them probably customers of Bank of America. Low and behold, the corporation announced earlier this week that because of the scope of this outcry, it was rescinding its fee-increase plan. In fact, several other large banks that had also intended to raise its fees also scrapped their plans.

Not only was this a perfect demonstration of the "power of one," but Molly's effort achieved a major goal in a matter of days, and in a way that was far less time consuming, less expensive, required no camping out on the sidewalk, was totally legal, and resulted in no arrests, damage, or injuries. She awakened the silent majority in a civilized way, and corporate America conceded. To date there has been no such response to the Occupy Wall Street groups.

Now, it is likely that Bank of America et al. will garner the additional income in other, more subtle ways, but the effectiveness of Molly's action cannot be denied. So it seems that we consumers do indeed have considerable power to influence the decisions of corporate America. Nothing works better than simply threatening to take your business elsewhere.

Well done, Molly.

To the Editor:

There is an unusual (and exceptionally good) movie out these days titled Courageous. This movie is never going to be reviewed or given the slightest notice by the "mainstream media," because it colossally violates one of their cornerstone mandates: "Keep religion private and don't let it surface into your external or public life." That may well be why you've never heard of it.

Courageous is most unusual in that it presents religious individuals openly and treats religion with dignity and respect, showing how faith plays a pivotal role in their lives. The notion that people would actually be shown praying on the screen is so foreign to our contemporary movie culture that I was taken by surprise. Having seen lots of movies over the years, I was prepared for the typical stereotypes by which Hollywood portrays religion, but those are totally absent. Throughout Courageous, nobody's religion is caricatured, demeaned, or ridiculed.

Also, religion is not portrayed as mushy or sentimental. This isn't a fluffy pleasantry like Going My Way, or an epic like Ben Hur. It is real.

The movie is predominantly about men addressing the seriousness of fatherhood. The plot follows a set of policemen, so early on you're placing your bets on which cop is going to get killed. But the standard movie cliches don't occur. The various cops portrayed are courageous in more ways than one. They understand that integrity is essential to their jobs, and their actions are guided by their religious commitment. At various points it contains humor, sadness, gunfire, and very realistic family situations.

This movie is going to get virtually zero publicity. If you want to see it, make the trip to a movie theater – don't hold your breath waiting for it to be on TV. Not a chance! It goes too much against the grain of our secular-humanist dominated movie industry.

I highly recommend seeing Courageous. It needs to be seen by every guy in America (and women will find it meritorious, too).

To the Editor:

Trick or treat!

Here's the treat: Dr Richard Muller, a physicist and skeptic of global warming, spent two years trying to disprove climate change. Instead, Dr. Muller discovered he was wrong!

Dr. Muller findings show that today Earth is 1.6 degrees warmer than in the 1950s, which is no different from what NOAA, NASA, the United Nations, and mainstream climate scientists have been saying for decades.

A $600,000 grant to fund the research came from the Charles Koch Foundation. The University of Massachusetts at Amherst's Political Research Institute named Koch Industries one of the top 10 air polluters in the United States. Another one of the Koch brothers' projects is the Tea Party.

The climate-change issue isn't over – the stakes are too high. The Koch brothers and others still make huge sums by polluting our atmosphere and environment. They expect us to pay for their acts of pollution, just as the banks had us pay for their credit defaults swap mess.

The ultra wealthy have eliminated the letter "A" from USA, and the US part will continue to fund their misadventures – bail them out, clean the environment ... blah ... blah ...

Now the trick: We have a trickster in Garrett County who wears a scientist mask to cover his partisan ideas. This may sound harsh, but you decide for yourself.

A sampling of Sheahen quotes:

"The scientific fact is that CO_2 is not a pollutant in any sense of the word." Completely false.

"There is so little CO_2 in the atmosphere that plants are basically starving." The truth – 21.3 billion tons of (CO_2) is produced every year through the burning of fossil fuels! Only half of carbon dioxide can be absorbed by photosynthesis; the rest is added to the atmosphere.

"I commented to the others that 2008 would be the year when the anthropic global warming bubble would burst. My prediction seems to be coming true." (For those of you who believe in the hereafter, Nostradamus is turning over in his grave on this prediction.)

Sheahen has continually been tricking the readers by distorting known scientific facts. If he continues down this road, he may get a Rick Perry science award. (Believe me, he deserves it.)

You, sir, are part of the problem, not part of the solution!

Barry Krewson

Mr. Krewson,

You will no doubt be interested in Dr Sheahen's column this week.

Hold Hearing

on the site. In addition, no "big trucks" would be coming and going from the property.

"Basically, all we're doing is trying to find a way to comply with the law and still be able to keep a few old cars," Nine said.

He added that the business could provide jobs for a few more people and would have a positive impact on neighboring properties, as the old cars would now be in a fenced-in area where no one could see them.

Neighbor Marjorie Diclemente disagreed. Her property sits on a hill directly across from Nine's. She indicated that, even with fencing, she can look down and see the salvage lot.

"I'm very upset about it because [our] property has been in the family for a long time," she said. "I just don't think a junkyard should go in right across."

Neighbor Lester Dement said what people do with their own land is their business, as long as it does not reflect in any way on surrounding properties.

A Maryland real estate broker for 30 years, Dement said two main considerations bring down property values: nuclear facilities and junkyards.

He indicated he was also concerned about the effects of vehicle fluids on the environment and residents' drinking water.

"I believe, too, it will devalue our properties, as far as having a junkyard there," said Jack Thomas, who lives ½ mile from the Nine property. "In my opinion, a junkyard is a junkyard. If he gets a permit, it'll be a junkyard."

He told the commissioners that in 2007 several people in his area circulated a petition which noted there were 30+ "junk" cars on the Nine property.

"Not only is this in violation of the county ordinance, but the property is becoming a terrible eye sore for those of us who travel the roadway, not to mention the visitors coming to Oakland and to this area," Thomas read from the petition. "The property could become a health hazard, as well as an environment that breeds mosquitoes, snakes, and a dangerous place [for children]."

Thomas said he has talked to Weber about the issue several times over the years.

"Don Nine would clean his place up for maybe five to six weeks and go right back to the same thing," Thomas said. "This has been since 2007. So, if he didn't want to comply then, what's going to make him comply in six weeks or two months?"

Rose Matthews, Old Crellin Road, asked the commissioners to consider the names of those who signed the petition.

"There are a lot of lovely homes there, and who wants to drive past a junkyard," she said. "It's really sad that this might happen."

Aaron White, who plans to build a home on his Old Crellin Road property, wondered why the issue has even gotten to this point.

"To me it seems more of an 'ask for forgiveness' instead of 'ask for permission' because I don't understand why the current facility hasn't been addressed," he said.

White noted the junkyard ordinance states that no more than five vehicles slated to be junked or dismantled may

NATIONAL DRUG FACTS WEEK, which is this week, Oct. 31 to Nov. 6, was proclaimed locally by the Garrett County commissioners and 13 SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) members. The students represented three of the seven SADD chapters in Garrett County. "National Drug Facts Week is a celebration of the inquisitive minds of teenagers and encourages them to ask questions about drugs and drug abuse and get scientifically based answers, without judgment or biased comment," the proclamation states. Members from Southern High School, Crellin, and Kitzmiller SADD groups gave a number of specific drug facts to the commissioners. See story. Pictured left to right are Lydia Palmer, Commisioner Bob Gatto, Jackalynn Wolf, Sadie Liller (SHS SADD advisor), Commissioner Gregan Crawford, Halley Cortez, Nathanial Martin, Alexis Sharpless, Kathy Elliott (Kitzmiller SADD advisor), Natasha Friend, Brennon Crosby, Joe Calhoun, Commissioner Jim Raley, Noah Calhoun, Nichole Snyder, Nathaniel Calhoun, Austin King; Macey Walker, and Kristen Walker (Crellin SADD advisor).

Teens Meet With Officials To Tout Drug Facts Week

A total of 13 teenagers met with the Garrett County commissioners this week to proclaim National Drug Facts Week, which is Oct. 31 to Nov. 6. The teens are all members of SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions), and represented seven chapters of the organization from across Garrett County.

"National Drug Facts Week is a celebration of the inquisitive minds of teenagers and encourages them to ask questions about drugs and drug abuse and get scientifically based answers, without judgment or biased comment," the proclamation states.

Members from Southern High School, Crellin, and Kitzmiller SADD groups gave a number of specific drug facts to the commissioners. They reported both general and county specific drug facts to the commissioner, including:

• Prescription drug abuse is drug abuse; nine out of 10 Garrett County parents don't approve of teen drug use; a person who abuses drugs is a minority in Garrett County, 82% of Garrett County youth don't smoke marijuana; addiction is a disease of the brain.

• Nine out of 10 Garrett County youth don't take prescription drugs to get high; Drugs dull senses, affect memory, and make teenagers lazy; and 14% of youth in Garrett County reported that someone had offered, sold, or given them illegal drugs on school property during the past year.

The teenagers discussed several other drug facts with the commissioners during their visit.

National Drug Facts Week is sponsored by the National Institute of Drug Abuse (NIDA) at the National Institutes of Health, in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, to encourage teens to ask questions about drugs and drug abuse and receive scientifically based facts and answers in return.

Garrett County SADD groups are supported in part by funds from the Garrett County Health Department to promote healthy living and prevent risky behaviors. For more information about SADD Groups in Garrett County, persons may call the Health Department at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111.

Hold Hearing

be stored on a property. He also noted that a junkyard cannot be within 500 feet of any residence, retail business, church, or other institution, unless the proposed junkyard screening effectively prevents it from being detrimental to or detracting from the value of those places.

He said Rosedale Auction is within 500 yards of the site, and there are residents who, despite the fencing, can see the proposed junkyard from their elevated properties.

"So, I don't think the property itself allows for this to happen," White said about the Nine site becoming a junkyard.

White indicated that if a license is granted, the county would have no control over the issue and Nine could then bring in a crusher and other related junkyard items.

Nine addressed the points made by his neighbors, stressing that he only plans to restore cars, fencing will hide the storage yard, vehicle fluids will removed and disposed of properly, the property will be inspected by the EPA and others, no old junk will be sitting around, and he has been cleaning up the site.

"The things that you've complained about is what I'm trying to comply with in order to put these cars behind a fence so no one will see them and they won't be unsightly," Nine told his neighbors. "This is basically what we're trying to accomplish – to try to comply with your wishes and make the property more attractive when you drive by."

Commissioner Gregan Crawford asked if a property inspection had to be made within 10 days of a junkyard application being filed.

Director Nelson said Weber has inspected the property and will make further inspections following the public hearing concerning issues raised at the event, such as setbacks and entrances.

"I think that's probably wise to have that inspection report back to you all before you make your decision," Nelson told the commissioners.

The director asked Nine if he would consider constructing an additional fence closer to the proposed storage yard.

"Yes," Nine said.

The commissioners voted unanimously to leave the record open on the license issue for written public comments until Monday, Nov. 14. They will announce their decision on Tuesday, Dec. 6.

providers must receive and transmit presidential EAS messages to the public.

"A national test will help federal partners and EAS participants determine the reliability of the system, as well as its effectiveness notifying the public of emergencies and potential dangers nationally and regionally," said a spokesperson. "The test will also provide the FCC and FEMA a chance to identify improvements needed to build a modern and fully accessible system."

The public should use this event as a reminder that everyone should establish an emergency preparedness kit and emergency plan for themselves, their families, communities, and businesses.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC greets students as they enter the building each morning at Route 40 Elementary School, thanks to the gift of a piano with a link to the past. Students take turns playing, and one student will be selected to receive lessons. See feature story for details. Pictured above are students Laura and Sara Huelskamp. Piano With Link To Past Brings Gift Of Music To Route 40 Elementary

by Brenda Ruggiero

A gift with a link to the past recently made its way to Route 40 Elementary School.

The journey began in September 2010 when Leigh Huelskamp mentioned a piano that a friend owned and wanted to get rid of. After trying for the entire school year to find a way to get the piano moved, it was finally brought to the school in May.

"As it entered the gym, Leigh informed me that the piano belonged to the father of our friend, Patrick Mitchell," said Candy Dolan-Opel, principal. "The whole world stopped for me. This was my favorite teacher, the one I aspire to be like, the reason I wanted to be and became a teacher. This was Mr. [Don] Mitchell's piano."

Mitchell was Dolan-Opel's fourth grade teacher at Accident Elementary School, and he died of cancer on Nov. 1, 1986.

"His first teaching job was at Route 40, "Dolan-Opel said. "It was like he was coming home."

The piano, which was in need of tuning, was placed in the school gym.

"The physical education teacher, Jeff Rice, was not thrilled with this placement, but he was accepting because he knew Mr. Mitchell, and as principal, I felt strongly about it belonging here," Dolan-Opel said.

After sending a thank-you note to Mitchell's wife, Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Dolan-Opel received a follow-up e-mail from the couple's daughter, Suzanne Wilburn, a current Garrett County teacher. She expressed her knowledge of how special the event was, and her gratitude for sending her mother the card.

"We all know what an impact a teacher can have on kids," Dolan-Opel replied. "Your dad was one of those special teachers who impacted so many. He was and is always near and dear to my heart. I had such a spirit lift when I found out it was his. It was like a hug directly from heaven. Your mom is a quieter version, but just as influential in what she has done in her career."

In September, Dolan-Opel's friend Conrad Maust, who is the director of the performing arts center at Frostburg State University, decided to have the piano fixed as a surprise for her.

"Unbeknownst to me, he elicited the help of staff and had pictures taken, bartered his lighting skills, and had it fixed and tuned to become functional on Wednesday, Sept. 28," she explained. "He then hired Amy Kouyeas from FSU to play the piano and sing for me that evening. He invited Mr. Mitchell's spirit to return to our school and allowed us to continue his legacy."

Dolan-Opel noted that she wanted to hear the piano on a regular basis, so she asked a pianist to play during the morning and then during a pep assembly on Sept. 30. During the assembly, the story of the piano and the previous owner was shared with the students. In addition, current piano students were identified and asked to play on a rotating schedule.

"Now every morning, students take turns playing music for the rest of the school during morning bus arrival," Dolan-Opel said. "The FSU people involved in this process were thrilled to know that what happened here furthers interests in the arts."

Dolan-Opel noted that students are proud to be able to play on this special instrument, and confidence is exuded where it wasn't always present in the past. In addition, prodigies are being

Rethink Recycling Sculpture Contest Winners Named

Thirty-six students from Northern and Southern Garrett County high schools competed in the seventh annual regional Rethink Recycling Sculpture Contest on Saturday at the Oakland Community Center. Prizes were awarded for first and second place for each grade entered (10th–12th).

The event was sponsored by the Garrett County Department of Solid Waste and Recycling and the GC Arts Council.

First place prizes were awarded to Dallas Hetrick, a 10th grade student from Northern High School; Julianna Sharpless, an 11th grade student from Southern High School; and Keith Miller, a 12th grade student from Southern High School.

Second place prizes were awarded to NHS students Rhiannon Dodge, 10th grade; Kelly Mast, 11th grade; and Sean Kamp, 12th grade.

This year's judges – Garrett County commissioner Robert Gatto, GC Arts Council director Karen Reckner, and retired SHS Art Department director Sonia Pratt – commented on how hard it was to judge this year's competition.

"It is unbelievable the amount of talent we have in this county," said recycling coordinator Kimberly Madigan, Solid Waste and Recycling. "Each year the students surpass my expectations with their creativity by the way they reuse and recycle materials in their imaginative sculptures. Our three judges certainly had a tough time selecting the first- and second-place winners."

The regional contest was made possible by donations from Coca-Cola Enterprises,

TIME FOR KIDS THAT'S INCREDIBLE
C. 2011, TIME for Kids Books, $19.95, 208 pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

Homework has broken your brain. You've hauled home dozens of books already this school year, gone through piles and piles of paper and pencils, and worked on problems and essay questions and pop quizzes. You've studied and experimented and erased and rewritten. Now your brain has all these little cracks in it and you can hardly think anymore.

So maybe it's time to give your broken brain a break by doing something fun. Why not head for your favorite curl-up place with Big Book of How and That's Incredible!, two new books by the Time for Kids folks.

Okay, so admit it: Learning is kind of fun. And it's even better when you don't feel like you're learning anything, which is where the Time for Kids books come in.

Let's say, for instance, that you think Komodo dragons are very cool. You'd like to have one in your back yard, but you might want to reconsider, because Komodo dragons are deadly creatures. Find out just how deadly in these two books.

Or let's say you've noticed the weird weather around the country this year, and you'd like to know how it happens and how to stay safe. You'll learn a lot about weather, as well as space and geography.

Maybe you're thinking you'd like to become a doctor some day. With Big Book of How and That's Incredible! you'll learn lots of cool things about your body, including what goes on in your head and your hands, how loud music hurts your ears, and how to make a stethoscope that really works.

Perhaps, though, you're a kid who likes sports more than anything. Well, these two books gotcha covered. Check out the life-size picture of Shaq's hand, sports oopses, and almost everything you ever need to know about a baseball bat.

But what if you don't know what you want to read about? Big Book of How and That's Incredible! are perfect for reading a little here and a little there, excellent for skipping around 'til something catches your eye, and awesome for finding activities that look fun to do. And, of course, these books are great for relaxing, which is great for keeping your brain from breaking – again.

You know how it is. You can't work all the time, and neither can your child. That's why these books are nice to have around during the school year. Big Book of How and That's Incredible! are simple escapes for curious kids.

With lots of color pictures, small bites of information, easy activities, and subjects they'll love learning more about, these books are just the right thing for kids who want leisure reading that doesn't require a lot of follow-along. I like books like these, in fact, because they're brief, browse-able, and they give kids just enough information to spark their inquisitiveness.

Big Book of How is perfect for 9-to-12-year-olds, while That's Incredible! will please older middle-schoolers. If your young scholar has been working hard this school year, look for these books and give the kid a break.

Reservations Now Being Taken For OTT's Quilters

Reservations for Our Town Theatre's production of the musical Quilters are now available to the public, and can be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640, ext. 1. Organizers expect this show to sell out quickly, so persons should make reservations as soon as possible, according to Jane Avery, artistic director.

This musical, written by Molly Newman and Barbara Demashek, explores the pioneer life through the eyes of a mother, played by Lynn Broderick, and her daughters, portrayed by Angie Sincell, Kim Cogley, Krysta Stacy Huxford, Liz Rees Gilbert, Miriam Sincell, and Sandy Rodeheaver.

Productions, which will begin at 8 p.m., are scheduled for Nov. 15 through 19, and one 2 p.m. matinee on Nov. 20.

Seats for Tuesday through Thursday, as well as Sunday, are $8 per person. All other seats are $10.

"Long ago, when a woman was getting ready to make her very last quilt, she would piece together a composite of patterns or blocks, which would become her legacy to her daughters and their descendants," Avery said. "Sarah McKendree Bonham, the mother of six daughters, is piecing her last quilt, made up of her favorite blocks – the ones which represent pieces of her life.

"The play evokes her memories, which compose a rich mosaic that captures the sweep and beauty, the terror and the joy, the harsh challenge and abiding rewards of frontier life," Avery said.

"Illuminating stories contained in the various 'blocks' of the play combine with music and drama to depict the life of women on the frontier: girlhood, marriage, childbirth, spinsterhood, tornadoes, fire, illness, and death," Avery continued. "These stories are sewn together with threads of love, warmth, rich and lively humor, and the moving spectacle of simple human dignity and steadfastness in the face of adversity."

The musical direction is by Susan Peterson, and the play is being produced via a special arrangement with the Dramatists Play Service. It is being funded in part by the Garrett County and Maryland State arts councils, as well as the Garrett County American Association of University Women.

recognized, and the staff has decided to offer lessons for a child that shows promise. They will be taught by Patty Rice, first grade teacher at the school.

"Music is heard as students enter our building, and it has had an amazing calming effect," she said. "Students are learning to appreciate the arts and becoming an appreciative audience. A silent hush can be observed when the notes begin."

A piano concert is also being planned for the future.

A piano cover with casters is currently being built by the carpentry department at Northern High School, which the PTO has agreed to fund. This will allow the piano to be safely removed from the gym during physical education classes, while still allowing the mini-concerts to continue in the mornings.

When Dolan-Opel called Dr. Mitchell to share the story with her, she was thrilled to hear it, and noted that she was sure that Mr. Mitchell would be giving a high five in heaven.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I am so weary of wateh-ing many fellow Christians choose our union's faith as a political weapon in so many polieies that are not in line with many of the messages of Christ. I would not say that I am willing to abandon my personal faith, but I am unwilling to be associated with polieies that are supposedly based in the Christian faith, but clearly are not.

Some claim that their polieies have "a seal of approval" from Christ or God. I think that is taking their names in vain, beeause they often use it to claim that their moral high ground is better than that of other people whose faith is different from their own. Religious faith should not be used to gain a position of power or approval.

It is not really true that our nation's problems are unsolvable. It's just that too many people simply refuse to ever eonsider a balanced solution for them. That is partially why the approval rating of Congress is only nine pereent, whieh is the lowest in history.

Let us look at what kind of executive orders were issued by our eommander in ehief: foreclosure relief, student debt relief, and incentives to hire many veterans. It is abundantly clear that the free market will not act quickly or signifieantly enough to help pump up eonsumer demand for American products and services. It seems pretty strange that the American Congress is more in favor of a double-dip recession than giving any hope to the Ameri-ean voters.

I had a visit from Pastor Randy and his wife Cindy Riehardson on their way to their Bible study session at Cherry Hill. He was reeently in Philadelphia for a national Lutheran eonvention. He was asked to attend a meeting of Lutheran lawyers, whieh happened to be held at the same hotel as a meeting of Blaek Muslims. Also in that hotel was a Hindu wedding with many guests. Outside, a demonstration was going on.

I asked him if any of those things were seary, and he said, "Oh, no. It was wonderful be around so many different kinds of people." Of eourse, at home in Bittinger we are surrounded by only a few types of people.

A large eelebration was held by area Lutherans on Sunday, whieh was Reformation Sunday. It not only involved the Bittinger Lutheran Parish, but also the Accident Parish and another indepe-ndent Lutheran ehureh. Serviees were followed by a dinner at the fire hall.

Reformation was a major event in Europe, both in ternis of cultural and religious aspeets, beginning in 1517 when Martin Luther posted his objections to stan-dardized Catholie doetrine and practices. This led to the formation of the many forms of Protestant denominations, including Lutheran, Methodist, Brethren, and Mennonite. They are all different, but all removed the artificial barrier of clergy between individual believers and their God. It was a major break from traditional power structures in many European nations where Catholieism is the offieial national religion.

One reason we now see women in positions as CEOs of major corporations is that it is common knowledge that females are generally better listeners and more aceepting of ideas from others. And a reeent study showed that eorporations with women on the board of directors perform better.

It's amazing that the media made sueh a big deal about the October snow. It is as common as dirt in Garrett County. It certainly looked like a Christmas card, with big fluffy pillows of snow on the braneh es of my hemlock bush beside the house, and I saw lines of glittering icicles crackling in the early sunshine.

But it also made me very isolated, because most people really hate to drive in snow. At least we do not have high winds. This is a pretty wet, heavy snow, but most of our leaves are down, so we are unlikely to see lots of braneh es and major tree damage, so it is unlikely that we will lose electrie power (knock on wood).

Here it is Halloween. It is not unusual for us to have snow for this holiday. This is the kind of holiday when I miss my younger daughters so much, because Halloween is always a very big deal for children. There are very few children in the neighborhood, so I doubt I will get any trick-or-treaters, especially since I don't even have a jaek-o-lantern at the end of my lane.

I worry that maybe some stupid person will bash my mailbox. We were able to hammer it so that it at least works and keeps the mail dry. But I imagine that will not be true tomorrow morning.

WVU faced Rutgers in a very snowy Saturday afternoon game. It was touching, but heartbreaking, to watch the Rutgers squad led onto the field by a player who became eompletely paralyzed last year. He rode in an electric wheelehair. But he is determined to walk again. I hope so, but the odds are against him. He reeently started to work out on a new apparatus designed by the Christopher Reeve Foundation.

But even with that motivational inspiration, West Virginia defeated Rutgers, 41-31.

On Sunday afternoon, as usual I was joined by Sandy Glotfelty and her dog Rock. He and Jaekson enjoy each other's company, but like most youthful males, they play pretty rough.

The Steelers defeated the New England Patriots Sunday evening. In fact, the Patriots' quarterbaek Tom Brady hardly got a hand on the ball beeause the Steelers offense was on the field for almost the entire game. Now next Sunday – my birthday – the Steelers will face off with their ehief rival, the Baltimore Ravens. I hope I see some of my daughters next weekend.

It is almost exactly one year until the election of 2012. I wonder if the Republicans can come up with a deeent candidate?

Altar flowers at Emmanuel Lutheran Church last Sunday were given by Jaek and Judy Perkins in memory of Ralph Buekel and in honor of Ethel Buekel.

Emmanuel Women of the ELCA will meet at the ehureh next Monday, Nov. 7, at 6 p.m. The thank offering will be collected at this meeting. Lynn and Carol Newman will eonduct a grief workshop at 7 p.m., and everyone is invited to attend.

Order forms for poinsettias at Emmanuel are available at the ehurch. All orders must be placed by Sunday, Nov. 20.

The annual Thrivent Finaneial for Lutherans, Garrett County Chapter, election will be held Sunday, Nov. 13, immediately following the worship service. All benefit or associate members age 16 or older are eligible to vote in the annual election.

Ram Run Game Reigns Supreme In Shellacking Of Silver Oak Academy

With snow and wind whipping through the night air on Friday, the Southern High School varsity football team leaned heavily on its ground game to topple visiting Silver Oak Academy, 37-0. The Rams finished the game with 304 total yards of offense on 56 plays. All of their scoring came off the run.

"Well, we ran the ball a lot, but our pass game was perfect," Southern head coach Steve Savage joked.

"Kurt Gangler did complete all his passes – 1 for 1. But really, the wet conditions bogged down the passing games of both teams. The ball was a slippery mess all night."

It was running back Zack Knotts who got to work for Southern. The senior carried the ball for 126 yards on 21 plays, leading Southern to its fourth victory of the season.

Perhaps because of the poor field conditions, the first quarter came and went without either team putting itself on the board.

It was Southern's signal caller Gangler who, with the final seconds of the first half ticking away, struck first.

"Kurt scored with a second left on the clock before the half – which isn't a bad way to end the second quarter," Coach Savage stated.

"The play was supposed to be a 'Hail Mary' pass, but he didn't like what he saw downfield and made it happen with his feet."

Finishing the game's first scoring drive, Gangler dashed 35 yards, beating Silver Oak's line and then its secondary for a touchdown. The Rams were then successful in a two-point conversion attempt, as Knotts charged into the endzone to make it 8-0 before the break.

The third quarter opened with a Southern scoring drive that ended when Derek Noble powered past the goal line from 4 yards out. The Rams again went for two and again looked to Knotts on another successful run play, making it 16-0.

Knotts then had a touchdown run from the 8-yard line. This time Mason Dick got the two-point conversion run to make it 24-0.

It was Dick who opened Southern's scoring in the fourth quarter, breaking through from the 12-yard line for six more points. The point-after attempt was missed, and the score temporarily sat at 30-0.

The Rams' final touchdown came courtesy of senior Danny Sislo, who brought the ball in from 10 yards out. Wyatt McBee kicked in the extra point, notching the final score at 37-0.

Noble finished the outing with 16 carries for 78 yards for Southern High.

"Our defense played a great game against Silver Oak and really neutralized their speed and their passing game," said Coach Savage.

"I'm really pleased with their performance. They played a really solid game and didn't give our opponent much of anything."

In fact, the Rams completely dominated their opponent, which finished the game with negative 24 yards.

With the win firmly placed in the books, the Rams now set their sights on cross-county rival Northern High School. Coach Savage believes his squad will be facing the highly touted Husky quarterback Patrick Sines, who sustained a shoulder injury earlier in the season. The Rams, though, have no intention of overlooking Northern's prolific running game.

"They've have an impressive one-two punch in their backs Mason and Baker," explained Coach Savage.

"Compared to other teams we've played this year, those two arguably have the best feet – the best balance – of any run game our guys have faced. I look for it to be a great matchup."

"In preparation for the Huskies we've been training our defense to face the wildcat formation, but the pro-style stuff Northern runs with quarterback Pat Sines back in the mix isn't unlike what we've faced against other area teams – Fort Hill, Mountain Ridge, and others. I feel we'll be prepared for whatever they throw at us."

Southern should have all of its weapons ready to go for the rivalry game to be played in Accident. The team had no new injuries to report as of Wednesday, and Coach Savage believes that his big-time defensive player Josh Wotring will available. The lineman has played through illness and injury for most of his senior campaign.

"Wotring has maybe been 75 percent, health-wise, all season. He's had some injuries and some adversity to overcome, but he's played hard for us. I look to get him in some game situations to help the team. I feel he will match up nicely for us against the Huskies."

Though Southern, (4-5) holds the lead in the overall record between these two schools, Northern (5-4) will be looking to extend its nine-game win streak against the Rams. The game, which will be played at Northern High School, is scheduled to begin tomorrow night (Friday, Nov 4) at 7 p.m.

SOUTHERN TOPS SILVER OAK ACADEMY – If you braved the wintery weather and were in the stands at Friday night's varsity football matchup between Southern High School and visiting Silver Oak Academy, then the above picture of senior running back Zack Knotts (#21, right center), preparing to plow through both the snow and Silver Oak's D-line, comes as a familiar sight. Before his team claimed a 37-0 victory, Knotts carried the ball for 126 yards, one touchdown, and a pair of two-point conversion runs. In fact, all Ram touchdowns in the game came on the ground, with quarterback Kurt Gangler and running backs Derek Noble, Mason Dick, and Danny Sisio all charging into the endzone. In the photo, Knotts is receiving some excellent blocking from Noble (#25), Chase Garner (#52), and Charlie Harvey (#58). See story for details. Photo by John McEwen. Baker, Mason, Sines Lead Husky Offense To Thrashing Of Indians

The Huskies of Northern High School's varsity football team wasted no time taking complete control of Friday's night's home game with Berkeley Springs, as they put 20 points on the board in the first quarter and never looked back. The contest was played in falling snow and on a wet, icy surface.

The 43-7 win was the fifth of the campaign for the Huskies (5-4) and assures them of a non-losing regular-season record this year, as the only remaining foe on the slate is county rival Southern. The Huskies will host that contest this Friday evening when they will shoot for their 10th consecutive win over the Rams.

In Friday's manhandling of Berkeley Springs, the Husky offense piled up 456 yards of total offense, while the defensive unit allowed a total of only 97 yards to be gained by the Indians.

The contest also marked the return of senior quarterback and school record-holder Patrick Sines, who has been sidelined for six weeks recovering from a broken collarbone sustained in the second game of the season. Sines tossed a pair of second-half touchdown two touchdowns.

A 70-yard touchdown run by Mason just over two minutes into the game, followed by a successful conversion pass from Baker to Cody Rodeheaver, put the Huskies up 8-0.

Northern's next drive was capped by a 6-yard touchdown carry by Mason to make it 14-0 at the 6:40 mark of the first quarter. The kick for the conversion was no good.

The Huskies took a 20-0 lead just over two minutes later when Baker scored on a 55-yard carry. The pass for the conversion fell incomplete.

The second period went scoreless, and the Indians got a boost when Andrew Truex returned the opening kickoff of the second half 81 yards for a touchdown, followed by a good conversion kick by Jack Wise.

But the score was quickly answered with two more touchdowns recorded by Baker in the third stanza.

The first was scored on a 2-yard carry and was fol-

A HISTORY OF TALENT – It is a little-known historical fact that a scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates made a visit to Friendsville circa 1930 to check out the curve ball of Charlie Welch, who played baseball for the Friendsville Athletic Club. With his winning curve ball, which was reported to break "well over a foot," Welch led FAC to an undefeated season that year. The known members of the FAC were: Charlie "Bill" Welch (pitcher), Johnny McCullough Sr. (pitcher), Jim Linlnger Sr. (catcher), Bud Fisher (center field), Fred Lowdermilk, Wilber Fox, Merle Frantz, Laverne East and Ralph Sines, who is the only known member still living. Earlier members that wore the FAC uniform were Bill Dunham, Orvil "Red" Jenkins, Clarence Nicklow, and Earl Statler. The FAC played its opponents in the towns of Cumberland, Oakland, Accident, Grantsville, Mt. Storm, Confluence, White Rock, Bayard, Terra Alta, and others. The outcome of the scout's visit to see the famed pitcher is unknown. Anyone with information about the history of the FAC may contact Jan Hileman at 301-746-5400, Jane Fox at 301-746-5519, or Shirley Drent at 301-746-4247. Above is the Friendsville Athletic Club baseball team photographed sometime around 1920. Some of the members who have been identified are Orvil "Red" Jenkins, Bill Dunham, Clarence Nicklow, Earl Statler, Percy Friend, and Robert McCandlish. A 2011 World Series footnote: Matt Holliday, left outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, is a second cousin to Margaret Nicklow-Thomas of Friendsville.

SHS NAMES WINNER OF FOOTBALL GAME TICKETS – Southern High School running sports recently announced Heather Kelm, McHenry, the winner of two Steelers vs. Ravens game tickets for Nov. 6. The track and cross country teams extend thanks to Kelm and the rest of the community who supported them by donating the tickets and supplies, as well as those who purchased the chances for the prize. The money raised will cover annual expenses of the teams and will be used to purchase new uniforms for both the girls' track and cross country teams. From left are Lauren Keefer, Kelm, and Karisa Weissgerber. Keefer and Weissgerber are captains of this year's cross country team.

Southern Jayvees Edge Fort Hill, 2-1

Southern High School's junior varsity girls' soccer team played at Fort Hill last Tuesday (Oct. 25) and took a 2-1 win.

Sierra Lageer and Jessica Cooper scored for the Rams. Their goals both came off assists by Lara Paxton. The Fort Hill goal was scored by Alexis Kimmell.

lowed by a successful conversion run by Chris Murdock, which gave the Huskies a 28-7 advantage. The second was via a 6-yard touchdown pass thrown by Sines to Baker with 2.33 to play in the period. A successful run for the conversion by Ty Owens gave the Huskies a commanding 36-7 lead going into the final quarter.

Baker scored his fourth – and the Huskies' final – touchdown of the night when he caught a 9-yard strike from Sines in the fourth quarter. Justin Durst booted the PAT

HUSKIES STEAMROLL INDIANS – Behind a 215-yard rushing, four-touchdown effort by Alex Baker, and the return of record-setting quarterback Pat Sines, who missed the previous six games because of injury, the Northern Huskies cruised – skated – to a 43-7 victory over visiting Berkeley Springs during last Friday's snowstorm. Above, quarterback Chris Murdock hands off to Baker on one of his dozen carries. Josh Mason (#5) is also visible. Mason, who ran for 157 yards and two touchdowns, is pictured below during his first-quarter scoring runs. The win upped the Huskies' record to 5-4, which they will put on the line at home this Friday evening against county rival Southern. Pictured above right is the 2011 Northern Homecoming court. From left are the king and queen, Kyle Rosenberger and Haley Margroff, and the prince and princess, Tyler Owens and Kelsey Durst. Photos courtesy of Bob Carney.

Leading Northern's outstanding defensive performance were Zach Meyers, who recorded 10 tackles, including a sack; Murdock with six tackles, an interception, and a fumble recovery; and Jeremy Bender with an interception.

The Southern Rams, whose current record is 4-5, lead the all-time series with the Huskies, 33-20-3; however, the last time the Rams won the "county title" was in 2001. Based upon game results this season with common opponents, the Huskies would have to be considered be the favorite again this year, but there have been many upsets in the series over the years.

Friday's kickoff is set for 7 p.m.

Huskies Power Past Fort Hill, 3-2; Remain in West Region Title Hunt

The Northern High School girls' soccer team is now the only representative of Garrett County in this year's Maryland 1A West Region playoff. The top-seeded Huskies remain in the title hunt after toppling Fort Hill, 3-2, in Accident on Tuesday. The win advances the Northern girls into the semifinals, in which they will host Smithsburg tonight (Thursday, Nov. 3) on their home field beginning at 7 p.m.

Playing host to Fort Hill, the Huskies fell behind early, as Taylor Hoppert gave the Sentinels an early lead with an unassisted goal at 36:40 of the first half. Husky Madi Gallagher tied things up, however, with an unassisted goal, 15:57 on the clock.

Emily Fratz gave Northern its first lead at 37:08 in the second half. That goal came off an assist from Callie Vernon, who booted in a corner kick. Teammate Sydney McFarland made it 3-1 with an unassisted goal 39 seconds later.

The Sentinels threatened with 9:16 left in regulation, as Leah Yurko added an unassisted goal to bring the score to 3-2.

Rams Eliminated From Regional Soccer Playoffs By Sentinels, 1-0

The 2011 season came to an end for the Southern High School boys' varsity soccer squad Tuesday evening when the Rams were edged by Fort Hill, 1-0, in a Maryland Class 1A West Region quarterfinal match played at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland.

Ram goalkeeper Seth Ingram provided an outstanding performance in the net, as the Sentinels recorded 21 shots, with only one getting past Ingram. He was credited with 10 saves. Fort Hill keeper James Johnson stopped all seven of the Rams short to record the shutout.

The only goal of the evening was scored just over four minutes into the match, when Austin Parker took a feed from Cullin Brown and was able to get the ball past Ingram. The rest of the contest was all outstanding defense by both squads.

The Rams trailed in corner kicks by a 7-1 margin.

The win was the 10th in 15 starts for the Sentinels (10-4-1), and the Rams finished with a 5-7-2 mark.

A 1995 graduate of Webster County High School in Upperglade, W.Va., Boggess was a multi-sport athlete who lettered in football and basketball. As a senior, he led his basketball team in assists and steals, and was also second in scoring.

After high school, while attending Concord University, Boggess assisted the team as a player and student-coach from 1995 to 1997. In the spring of 1998 he transferred to West Virginia University where he earned his bachelor's degree in 2001. He is currently on pace to receive his master's in sports management this November from American Public University.

While at WVU, Boggess formed a team organization known as WV RUCKUS (respect, unity, commitment, knowledge, understanding, success) for which he continues to serve as a player and coach. WV RUCKUS is made up of former high school, college, and semi-pro players. Boggess has lead RUCKUS to numerous successes at the local, regional, and national levels. Professionally, Boggess has spent his summers competing in semi-professional tournaments and leagues, and has received invites to play basketball overseas.

In 2005, Boggess began working as a professional skill-development trainer and has trained thousands of athletes. In 2006, he created the RUCKUS Elite travel basketball program, which is one of the largest boys' and girls' basketball organizations in the state of West Virginia. The RUCKUS Elite travel program, which began with only one team, has grown to its current configuration of 11 teams over the span of five years. He has coached all 11 teams at every tournament and has compiled a record of 346-123.

"Coach Boggess is very active in the success of his players and has helped many players play at the collegiate and pro levels," said Coach Gibson.

"He strives to not only help players be successful on the court but also in life."

Young Laker Team To Open Season Saturday In Railey Realty Classic

A young Garrett College men's basketball team will take the floor this Saturday when the Lakers open their 2011-12 campaign by hosting the annual Railey Realty Classic.

Coached by Dennis Gibson, the Lakers will face Penn Highlands CC in a 7 p.m. tip-off, and then take on Potomac State College Sunday afternoon, with that clash slated to get under way at 3 p.m.

The only returnees to the Laker squad this season – that is, sophomores who garnered starting minutes last year – are center Frank Holloway and wing Theo Dubuche. Redshirted sophomores include guards Ed Herpel and Din Moore, and forwards Jordan Grady, Armond Perez, and Daniel Brown.

A sophomore redshirt transfer, Antonio Butler, will make an immediate impact at all three guard positions, according to Gibson, while true freshmen Matt Gibson from Northern High School, Anne Arundel County Player of the Year Larry Mike, and Katrell Henry are also hoping to make the starting lineup.

International posts Guila Panzo and Patrice Tekeda, a St. Maria Goretti grad, are expected to provide additional inside rebounding punch. Isaac Akwara could play at the wing or in a big forward position.

The Lakers are coming off a 16-10 season that was riddled with injuries.

"Our core sophomores should be able to hold their own with most of the teams in Region XX, but we will need an immediate impact from freshmen if we hope to win a title," said Coach Gibson. "We are pretty good when everyone is healthy, but getting young guys to understand that the game is played possession by possession has been a challenge.

"I am aware that we are going to have growing pains," Gibson continued, "but the regular season is all about preparation for the post season. I am optimistic that, with a little luck, we have the ability to win this league and region."

The Lakers are slated to play 14 of their 26 regular-season games at home, with seven of their first eight games to be played on their floor. The Railey Realty Classic will be followed by the Lakers' annual McDonald's Tournament Nov. 12-13.

ACCIDENT ELEMENTARY STUDENTS EXCEL – Accident Elementary School recently released the names of its star-slip students, who were selected for being responsible during the month of October. Each of these children received a McDonald's meal certificate while being recognized at a school-wide character assembly. Also receiving an award was Jaden Spak, who won the grand prize for character and received a coin collection from First United Bank and Trust. At a separate assembly, Accident Elementary students were entertained by a skit on responsibility, which used the book David Goes To School to promote positive character traits. The star-slip students are shown above, from left. In the front row are: Reagan Emory, Robert Clem, Lennie Miller, Tarayn Myers, Calden Andris, and Robert Hughes. In the second row are: Sydney Livengood, Justin Gelucci, Ella Ashby, and Ethan Fratz. In the back row are: Coltan Cervi, Allysa Johnson, Sarah Smith, and Harley Rhodes. Romney Winner In Maryland – In Early Presidential Money Race

by Andrew Damstedt
Capital News Service

Maryland residents have donated nearly $1 million to Republican presidential candidates so far this year – with Mitt Romney ahead – despite the state's "true-blue" reputation.

Romney's business leadership is why Potomac resident Stephen Caldeira said he donated $2,500 – the limit for individuals – to Romney's campaign. But, Caldeira has also given $2,500 to former Godfather's Pizza CEO Herman Cain, who surged in popularity recently and is a frontrunner in the first-in-the nation caucus in Iowa.

"They understand what it takes to create jobs, to meet a payroll," Caldeira, International Franchise Association president, said. "They understand business, and these guys are problem-solvers."

According to the year-to-date reports filed with the Federal Election Commission on Oct. 15, the bulk of Romney's Maryland contributions came from Potomac, Bethesda, and Chevy Chase residents, totaling $355,615 of the $563,557 in contributions he received from the state. Those communities also donated $698,791 to President Obama, who has raised $1.76 million in Maryland.

Adding to the total $964,550 that Marylanders gave Republican presidential hopefuls, Texas Gov. Rick Perry raised $133,925 since entering the race in August. Marylanders gave Rep. Ron Paul, R-Texas, $106,572; and Rep. Michele Bachmann, R-Minn., $48,306.

Tim Pawlenty raised $28,315 from Maryland donors before dropping out of the race in August, which was more than Maryland residents gave to former Utah Gov. Jon Huntsman, $27,015; former Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich, $26,410; Cain, $15,680; former Sen. Rick Santorum, R-Pa., $11,720, and former New Mexico Gov. Gary Johnson, $3,050.

Chris Cavey, part of Romney's Maryland team and former Maryland Republican Party vice chairman, said he feels Romney's support has been strong and steady.

"While there's been no official Maryland poll, if I had to guess and I keep an ear to the ground, I'd say that [Romney] is probably ahead of the pack a little bit," Cavey said. "I don't think he's a runaway candidate in Maryland, just as nationally he's not."

Paul has received the greatest number of contributions from Maryland residents with 584 individual contributions, followed by Romney with 502 contributions, Bachmann at 172 contributions, and Perry with 85 contributions.

Paul has received 361 individual donations at $100 or less, raising $22,667. Thirty-three of those contributions were for $20.12, which is the lowest suggested donation on Paul's campaign web site.

Damascus resident Eric Ileyse made 10 of those $20.12 contributions.

"The #1 policy issue that got me interested was monetary policy. Back in 2008 when things started going bad in the economy, I decided I wanted to understand why, and it coincided with the campaign and my discovery of Ron Paul," said Heyse, who wrote in Paul as a candidate in the 2008 election.

Cain has seen his popularity soar since the recent presidential debates, and that has Karen Winterling, state director for Cain's Maryland campaign, excited. She said more people are signing up to volunteer, and she hopes to have leadership in place across the state by mid-November.

"We'll be a money-making machine and getting his name all over the state," she said.

Cain, who came to the Howard County Lincoln Day dinner in July, has received one $2,500 contribution in Maryland and only 48 total contributions, but Winterling said once people hear Cain's message, they are intrigued.

"People want to get behind somebody they believe can win and because he wasn't a career politician and the establishment wasn't behind him, businessmen don't like to throw their money around," she said. "He's clearly a competitor now, and now they're starting to think, 'I didn't really like Mitt, but I liked Cain and his policies,' and they are getting behind him. People are coming to us."

Romney has received 146 contributions of $2,500 – the limit for individuals – the most of any Republican candidate in Maryland. Perry came in second with 44 $2,500 contributions. Romney has also received 120 $500 checks and 69 $1,000 donations.

Lawrence Scott, a co-chairman of the Perry for Maryland campaign and an Annapolis attorney, donated $2,500 to the Texas governor's campaign. He said there's a better chance Maryland voters could help decide the nominee if Perry and Romney are still battling for the nomination on April 3, Maryland's primary date.

"If Perry hasn't won by then, Maryland could certainly be in play," Scott said. "That's a good scenario since Governors Perry and Romney are the only two candidates with significant funds at this point."

In the bottom rung for Maryland donations are Johnson with six total contributions, Santorum, 22 contributions; Huntsman, 42 contributions; Pawlenty, 45 contributions; and Gingrich, 47 contributions.

Maxine Vickers, an Aberdeen housewife, said she donated $250 to Santorum's campaign because she thinks he is the most capable.

"I think he is the most principled person there," Vickers said. "I think you know exactly where he stands and why."

Don Murphy, who led John McCain's campaign during the 2008 election, said while he supports Johnson for president he believes Maryland Republicans are still candidate shopping. Maryland voters typically don't affect the outcome on picking the presidential nominee, he said.

"Not only will this be over before we get a chance to vote, as it's been the case forever, non-Republicans in these early primary states will have a greater influence on this process than we will. It's disappointing to have our choices whittled down to just a couple when we get a chance to vote," Murphy said.

This year, the Republican National Committee adopted new rules for the upcoming presidential primaries. States holding primaries after March 31 are designated winner-take-all states, such as Maryland, whereas states holding primaries in March are required to divvy up their delegates on a proportional basis.

Kathleen Kendall, University of Maryland communications professor specializing in presidential primaries, said she believes the rules were changed to get states to set later primary dates after the prolonged, media-hogging, battle between Obama and former first lady Hillary Clinton in 2008.

"Maryland is taking a chance by going with April 3; they may be irrelevant," Kendall said. "But if there's a tight race between the candidates, and if you win in there and get all the delegates, it could be important."

Many states have disregarded those changes, scheduling early primaries because of the increased media attention and economic boost they bring to the state, Kendall said. Adding to the controversy, Florida has moved its primary date to Jan. 31, causing other states to move up their primary dates.

"Once the votes start, the money flows to the winners," Kendall said.

Rams Take Round-One Win Over Clear Spring; Fall To Brunswick

The Southern High School varsity girls' soccer team edged Clear Spring, 1-0, in round one of the Maryland Class 1A West Region tournament on Monday. With the win, the seventh-seeded Rams advanced to the quarterfinals but would go no further, falling 3-1 Tuesday, on the road to second-seeded Brunswick.

Against Clear Spring, Alli Shaffer scored the game's only goal early in the second half (37:11), sealing the win for the Rams. Southern goalie Annie Martin had seven saves and notched her sixth shutout of the year.

Victoria Albert made 13 saves in goal for 10th-seeded Clear Spring.

The game, which was originally scheduled to take place in Oakland, was moved to Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland because of poor weather conditions.

In its second-round match with Brunswick, Southern's season would come to an end (9-6-1). It was Ram Julianna Sharpless who scored her team's lone goal, off an assist from Jill Yant with 32:33 left in the second half.

For Brunswick, Dara Demich scored all three goals, all unassisted and within a 10-minute span through the first half (34:02, 31:15, 24:29).

Both teams had seven shots and Southern held a 2-1 edge in corner kicks. Martin made four saves in goal for the Rams, and Tara Shriver had six for the Railroaders.

Adorable Adoptables

The Aurora Community Educational Outreach Service met Oct. 18 with nine members present. The meeting was called to order by president Opal Myers. Jeannie Whitehair welcomed us into her home by greeting the guests with ghosts and goblins along the path at her home, serving fresh apple cider, gingerbread with lemon sauce, and candies. Devotions were headed by Dee Douglas using a reading from Chicken Soup for the Soul.

The program, "Talking About Money With the Grown-ups in Your Family," was discussed by Jeannie. The group learned that all families should be aware of all the locations of important documents, keys, banks, and assets of the elder family members. Members should have all personal papers in order where those in charge will know where to find them. It is recommended that their power of attorney is outside the family.

Yearly dues were paid by all members. Selling tickets at the Buckwheat Festival was a success, as several members participated. Opal Myers reported that the Fall Conference was very informative and interesting. Several members will participate in the Santa Tree again this year. The school is asking for volunteers to help with the Fall Festival.

Ressie Conrad's vice president feature discussed "How Happy Are You?" which helped those present to decide there are many things that make them happy such as good friends, vacations, family, and so on.

The Christmas dinner will be held again, and Dee Douglas will complete further the plans made at the meeting for an evening dinner.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15, perhaps at a local restaurant with Opal Myers presenting the program and leading devotions. Social Media Workshop Set By GC Chamber

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce will host a social media workshop on Friday, Nov. 18, to explain the campaign and provide hands-on training to businesses. The workshop will be held in a computer lab at Garrett College from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. The first stage of the campaign will launch two weeks after the workshop.

"Social media can be an extremely beneficial tool for business promotion when used correctly," said CEO and chamber president Nicole Christian. "That's why we are going to provide hands-on training to our local businesses so that they can be active participants in this new campaign and reap the most benefits."

The campaign being launched is a community-wide initiative utilizing the social media application Foursquare, which is used by people to "check in" from area locations. Individual users of Foursquare can alert friends of where they are, and business users can promote their establishment and reward loyal customers.

"The application is free and is one of the newest and fastest growing social media tools," noted Christian. "The campaign will start out on a local level using Foursquare to help encourage Garrett County residents to patronize local establishments. Once local participation has taken root, it will help to fuel the use of Foursquare by visitors to Garrett County."

The workshop will also touch on Facebook and Twitter but is not an introductory course. Those unfamiliar with basic social media skills are recommended to take a precursor social media class.

The cost to attend the workshop is $10 for chamber members and $20 for non-members. However, businesses must be a chamber member to participate in the campaign. Because of

Not pictured is Katherine Drennan, who earned SOM status for her work in mathematics.

SOUTHERN FRESHMAN RECOGNIZED – Ashley Krieg, a freshman at Southern High School, was recently selected as the Uno's RAM (Random Acts of Maturity) Student of the Month. The character trait for September was courage. Krieg was nominated by teacher Denise Hartman, who was impressed with Krieg's courage after she entered the high school as a new student with visual impairments. "She had nothing but smiles, thank-yous, and 'I love this place,'" Hartman said. "She is an inspiration. Her attitude amazes me, she's someone we all could learn from." Krieg was presented with a gift card to Uno Restaurant. Pictured above are Pam Denning, teacher of the visually impaired, Hartman, Krieg, and Jim Maddy, SHS principal.

CLIMATE CHANGE CONTROVERSY

by Dr. Thomas P. Sheahen

Q. I saw that a new report has come out showing that global temperature is rising after all, just like Al Gore always said. Will this finally get the climate skeptics to shut up?

A. The short answer to your question is "no." There's a lot more to it.

Although the public interest in global warming has declined in recent years, occasionally some news item bubbles up to prominence. That happened recently. Not surprisingly, the media hyped the announcement in the most flamboyant way possible. The news reports implied that the climate skeptics are wrong and man-made global warming is once again the menace that it was previously believed.

Here's what actually happened: A group headed by Professor Richard Muller of University of California at Berkeley conducted a study with the acronym BEST (Berkeley Earth Surface Temperature study). The authors released four papers to the public ahead of publication in a journal, in order to let everyone (including critics) examine their data. That was a somewhat unusual step, but welcome.

Then professor Muller wrote an op-ed article for the Wall Street Journal titled "Cooling the Warming Debate." Headline writers changed it to say "The Case Against Global Warming Skepticism," and that's where the fun began. Muller said that there is no doubt that the Earth is warming, which is a totally non-controversial point. He also stated that they didn't investigate why the Earth is warming. Despite this very reserved scientific conclusion, it was seized upon as a confirmation of the entire anthropomorphic global warming (AGW) theory, especially the supposition that warming is due to CO_2 produced by mankind.

Big mistake. No way

By examining much more data than had ever been compiled before, the Berkeley study drew one conclusion and made a helpful contribution; but it certainly didn't close out debate on urgent topics.

There are five very distinct questions that pertain to climate change:

- How has the global average temperature been changing recently?
- How much of that change is attributable to human activities, and how much is natural?
- What can we expect in the future?
- How will forthcoming changes affect us?
- What should we do about it today?

These are separate questions – and need to be kept separate. The Berkeley study addressed only the first question. The other questions weren't part of their study at all. That should be "end of story" right there. Those who want to jump all the way to the fifth question are doing so without any supporting scientific evidence. That's risky.

I don't know of anybody who thinks the temperature doesn't change; it's been doing that for millions of years, across ice ages, warm periods, etc. Recently, the Earth has been warming since the end of the Little Ice Age (about 1850), but the observed data show that the warming isn't linear at all – several times in the last century there have been wide swings in the way temperature changes.

When we look for an explanation, it is fair to ask if humans could be influencing the climate. Now we're into the second question. "Conventional wisdom" attributes the upward temperature trend to CO_2 produced by humans burning fossil fuels.

Many scientists have been skeptical of the association between global warming and CO_2, stressing that correlation does not necessarily mean causation. That is a reasonable scientific stance to take. They point out that man-made CO_2 has been going steadily upward for about two centuries, and assert that if CO_2 were the cause of the temperature rise, you should see temperature going up steadily too. The fact that temperature doesn't match that prediction undermines the belief that CO_2 is to blame.

There are alternate theories of climate variability that get much less attention. For example, temperature variation has been found to correlate well with the historical patterns of ocean currents. Two prominent ocean currents are the Atlantic Multidecadal Oscillation (AMO) and the Pacific Decadal Oscillation (PDO), both of which go through a full cold-to-hot-to-cold cycle in about 60-70 years. Each contains a junior cycle of about nine years within it. One paper from the Berkeley group goes into detail on that, and ever-so-delicately concludes "the human component of global warming may be somewhat overestimated."

It is possible to construct a temperature-variation model containing only two components: 1. a constant rise since the Little Ice Age ended, and 2. an up-down variation synchronized with the PDO. That matches the temperature data since 1850 remarkably well. In particular, this kind of model accounts for the substantial temperature rise observed in the 1990s, the leveling off during the latest decade, and predicts a downturn in the coming decade. Such models have nothing to do with CO_2 at all.

That temperature is warming is not in doubt; it's the CO_2-as-a-cause claim that's in doubt.

Unfortunately, in the public arena the proper focus on scientific method has been pushed aside. The charge is often recited that anyone who doesn't buy the CO_2 theory doesn't believe that climate changes, which in turn makes it easy to ridicule skeptics. Such faulty association of two different things is called "conflation" – another big mistake.

The take-home message is: Always distinguish between different scientific questions.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Life travels fast and can take different tracks. God's track, our track, how do we choose the right way to go? We have our own plans and goals and God has plans and goals for us. How do we unite the two tracks? Pray for His guidance and discover His will for your life. He will give direction and guide you in the right way to go. Get on the right track at your house of worship and have a safe journey.

Grace Is Simple & Sublime

Grace can mean many things, but here it is taken to mean God's love and protection, freely bestowed upon us. Nothing could be simpler or more basic than God's grace. That is, our very existence is a gift. No one is responsible for his or her own existence, and even if we treat our parents as the proximate and indirect cause of our being, there is still something deeply mysterious about how their union led to precisely that individual that is you. If you don't have a sense for how miraculous your existence and individuality are, you haven't thought much about the odds involved in human conception. Another way in which God's grace is manifest is by His continuing protection. If you are alive to read this, then you have no doubt "dodged a few bullets" and other near misses. I am amazed that I survived my childhood, when virtually no one wore seat belts, or had even heard of child safety seats, not to mention falling off of bicycles at high speeds without a helmet. That we have survived this perilous world has to mean something more than mere chance and a lot of lucky breaks. There is something awe-inspiring about God's grace. That God takes notice of us at all is sublime. And that we exist in a world where everything looks to be mere chance and contingency is even more so. There is no explaining the how or why of God's grace, and perhaps that is what makes it simple and at the same time sublime.

"Rather, he himself gives everyone life and breath.... For in him we live and move and have our being."

An ABC series has inherited a real Bratt

By Jay Bobbin

Benjamin Bratt

Q: I heard Benjamin Bratt has another series coming up. Can you give us some information on this? – Stella Martin, La Junta, Colo.

A: The "Law & Order" alum actually is on another series already, and one that has been going for a while. He joined ABC's "Private Practice" as a full-fledged cast regular at the start of this season, playing Jake Reilly, who's connected to Addison (Kate Walsh) on a very personal level.

Q: I guess I missed an episode of "CSI: NY." Why is Danny a street cop now? – Grant Beamer, Westerville, Ohio

A: That episode would have been last season's finale of the CBS crime drama, in which Danny (Carmine Giovinazzo) revealed to wife Lindsay (Anna Belknap) that not only had he taken the exam for sergeant, he'd passed it. Actually, though, he isn't a sergeant anymore; in an October episode, after he was cleared of complicity in a shooting that involved one of the officers on his watch, he decided he'd rather be back in the CSI lab.

Q: What happened to Christopher Meloni on "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit"? He was not visible at all in the season's first episode, nor was there any mention of why the actor quit. – Cheryl Kroemer, Syracuse, Ind.

A: We actually thought this was pretty well known before the new season began, but the amount of mail we've received on it suggests that maybe it wasn't. Back in May, it was announced that after 12 years, Meloni wouldn't be returning to the NBC crime drama as Elliot Stabler because an agreement couldn't be reached on a new contract for him.

That situation had occurred before, and though it came close to an impasse in the past, it had been resolved. Meloni hasn't been hurting for work since ending his run on the show, though; he's in the cast of director Zack Snyder's forthcoming Superman reboot, "Man of Steel."

Q: On Oct. 6, TNT ran the movie "Pirates of Silicon Valley" in honor of Steve Jobs, and I missed it. Are there additional plans to run it again in the future? – Evelyn Cruikshank, Columbus, Ohio

A: Not that we're aware of. The repeat of the 1999 movie was hastily scheduled to be timely in the immediate wake of Apple co-founder Jobs' passing last month.

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was French Renaissance essayist Michel de Montaigne who made the following sage observation: "Nothing is so firmly believed as what is least known."
• If someone called you a "mumpsimus," would you be flattered or insulted? It seems that the appropriate reaction would be to take offense. According to the Merriam-Webster dictionary, a mumpsimus is "a stubbom person who insists on making an error in spite of being shown that it is wrong." • The English language is unique in the number of collective nouns it possesses. For instance, a group of frogs is known as an "army" and a group of crows is called a "murder." We have a "shrewdness" of apes, a "wisdom" of wombats, a "congregation" of crocodiles, a "smack" of jellyfish, a "wiggle" of worms, a "crash" of rhinoceroses, a "waddle" of penguins and a "scourge" of mosquitoes, to name a few. Geese flock together in "gaggles," unless they're in flight, in which case they are collectively known as a "skein."
• In the Baltic region, it's traditional for a bride to wear black.
• You've probably never heard of Harvey Lowe, but in the 1930s he enjoyed a certain amount of notoriety; in 1934 he won the first World Yo-Yo Contest. Now that you know who he is, can you imagine what he had in common with Rolling Stones guitarist Keith Richards and notoriously flamboyant entertainer Liberace? It turns out that all three took out insurance policies on their hands.
• If you're like 20 percent of the respondents in a recent poll, you find it embarrassing to order tap water when you're in a restaurant.

• On Nov. 8, 1847, Bram Stoker, author of the horror novel "Dracula," is born in Clontarf, Dublin, Ireland. Stoker's villainous, blood-sucking creation, the vampire Count Dracula, became a pop-culture icon and has been featured in hundreds of movies, books and plays.
• On Nov. 10, 1903, Mary Anderson receives patent No. 743,801 for her "window cleaning device for electric cars and other vehicles to remove snow, ice or sleet from the window." Anderson tried to sell it to a Canadian manufacturing firm, but the company said the device had no practical value.
• On Nov. 11, 1921, three years after the end of World War I, the Tomb of the Unknowns is dedicated at Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia when an unknown American soldier is buried. A 2-inch layer of soil brought from France was placed below the coffin so that the soldier might rest forever atop the earth on which he died.
• On Nov. 7, 1940, the Tacoma Narrows Bridge collapses due to high winds. At the time, wind forces were not taken into consideration by engineers and designers. The remains of the bridge, at the bottom of Puget Sound, form one of the largest man-made reefs in the world.
• On Nov. 12, 1954, Ellis Island, the gateway to America, shuts it doors after processing more than 12 million immigrants since opening in 1892. First- and second-class passengers had easily passed through customs, but those in third class underwent medical inspections to ensure they didn't have a contagious disease.
• On Nov. 9, 1965, Roger Allen LaPorte, a 22-year-old member of the Catholic Worker movement, immolates himself in front of the United Nations headquarters in New York. Before dying, LaPorte, who was against war, declared that he did it as a religious act.
• On Nov. 13, 1982, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial is dedicated in Washington, D.C. The long-awaited memorial was a simple V-shaped black-granite wall inscribed with the names of the 57,939 Americans who died in the conflict, arranged in order of death, not rank, as was common in other memorials.

Q: I have a Singer sewing machine that appears to be one of the first factory models made. I was once offered $400 for it when I took it in for minor repairs. Can you tell me what's it is worth, and where I can sell it if I choose? -- Loraine, Brooklyn, N.Y.
A: I examined the pictures you sent and suspect your sewing machine was made during the early years of the past century. It has obvious wear and might retail for about $200. I was at an auction several months ago and saw a Singer Model No. 9W1, circa 1905, encased in a tiger oak cabinet with all its attachments sell for $350.

Q: I have a Staffordshire ceramic figurine of a spaniel dog that I would like to have appraised. Can you help me? -- Bill, Albuquerque, N.M.
A: First, let's review a little information about Staffordshire pottery. The company was founded in England's Staffordshire district during the 17th century and continues with its production work to the present. The company gained an international reputation for its ornamental pieces. The height of production occurred during the Victorian-era. Many of the earlier pieces of Staffordshire are considered folk art.
To determine the value of your ceramic spaniel, you should hire the services of a professional appraiser. Two established appraisers in Albuquerque are Suzanne Staley, 505-738-1118, and Phyllis Thunborg, 505-898-0863. You can find appraisers listed in the business pages of the phone book of most cities. Make certain that the appraiser you contact appraises personal property, not real estate.

Q: I have three of my childhood storybooks from the early 1950s. They are "Bugs Bunny Keeps a Promise," "Bill's Birthday Surprise" and "Buster's Bulldozer." Are they worth keeping? -- Tom, Arapahoe County, Colo.
A: Perhaps for sentimental reasons, but the three you listed are worth only about $10 each, if in mint condition.

College Prep 101 Free Forum Slated At Garrett Campus

The public is invited to attend a free workshop titled "College Prep 101" in the auditorium at Garrett College next Thursday, Nov. 10, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Representatives from area colleges will take part in this event to help explain the college entrance process. This forum is appropriate for students from middle and high school, as well as any adults considering college in the future.

According to a Garrett College spokesperson, the workshop is designed with a focus on providing a forum for identifying steps that individuals interested in attending college would need in order to be "college ready."

Among the colleges participating will be Garrett College, West Virginia University, Potomac State College, Frostburg State University, and Allegany College of Maryland.

This forum will help familiarize visitors with steps that need to be completed in order to enroll in college, as well as costs involved and avenues to pursue financial assistance. Methods of exploring career choices will also be discussed, as well as things one might want to consider when choosing a college. College representatives will also be prepared to answer general questions about college life.

Current GC students will hold a panel discussion addressing the topic of "What I wish I had known before enrolling in college." Time will also be allotted for individuals to meet with college representatives to discuss specific issues.

Those interested in attended the College Prep 101 event are asked to RSVP by either registering online or by calling 301-387-3044 or 866-554-2773.

HERMAN NAMED PRESIDENT EMERITUS – Dr. Stephen J. Herman, former president of Garrett College, was honored last week in a ceremony to confer upon him the title of President Emeritus. The GC board of trustees voted unanimously to select him for this title in recognition of his 24 years of "outstanding service" to the college. Among the accomplishments noted in the board's resolution were: development of Garrett's 10-year Vision 2004 process; initiation of the nation's first adventure sports degree program; design of the county's tuition-free program for high school graduates; and the development of a grant program making Garrett College the Maryland state center for inquiry and design-based STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) education on behalf of the U.S. Department of Defense. In the photo, Dr. Herman, at left, displays the resolution plaque presented to him by current GC president Dr. Richard MacLennan.

ARTICULATION AGREEMENT SIGNED – Garrett College recently signed an articulation agreement with California University of Pennsylvania between GC's juvenile justice program and Cal U's Justice Studies Degree Program. Professor Elizabeth Grant, who has developed this new contract, explained that it will create a smooth transfer pathway for Garrett's graduates into the third year of Cal U's program. Above, Grant presents the agreement to James Allen, GC's interim dean of instruction, for his signature. Lean Management To Be Conference Topic At Garrett

Jeff Fuchs of the Maryland World Class Consortia, pictured, will be the keynote speaker at a conference on principles of lean management slated for Tuesday, Nov. 15, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Garrett College. This workshop is offered in cooperation with the Garrett-Allegany Lean Forum and the Maryland World Class Consortia.

The main focus of lean is to maximize customer value and minimize waste. Goals of the process include reducing human effort, time, and expense, while increasing quality. Lean is implemented as a business-wide philosophy and not simply as a cost-cutting initiative, according to the Lean Enterprise Institute. Fuchs will define the concepts of "lean" and outline ways in which it can be implemented in any organization.

Conference topics will include: key aspects of continuous improvement, lean in action: a hands-on example, how leadership can support a continuous improvement culture, steps for developing a lean transformation plan, and keys to success.

During the afternoon portion of the conference, representatives from local businesses and agencies will describe some of the ways in which they have implemented lean principles in their businesses and organizations. Those businesses include: First United Bank & Trust, the Garrett County Health Department, Total Biz Fulfillment, ATK, and the Western Maryland Health System.

Since 2008, Fuchs has served as director of the Maryland World Class Consortia, a non-profit organization that increases the competitive capacity of Maryland organizations through lean principles and methods. A veteran Army officer, Fuchs holds a B.S. degree in aerospace engineering with honors from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. He maintains an SME/AME/Shingo Prize/ASQ Lean Bronze Certification, plus co-chairs the Lean Certification Oversight Committee and serves on the Shingo Prize Board of Examiners.

For a decade Fuchs has been president of Neovista Consulting, a firm that focues on lean implementation, leadership development, and organizational change. He has been a key contributor to the development and deployment of the country's first nationally recognized Lean Certification, sponsored jointly by the Society of Manufacturing Engineers, the Association for Manufacturing Excellence, the Shingo Prize for Operational Excellence, and the American Society for Quality.

Bosley Named Among 16 "Next Banking Leaders"

The Maryland Bankers Association and The Maryland Banker magazine recently recognized Josh Bosley, commercial loan officer for First United Bank & Trust, as one of the "Next Leaders in Banking."

The inaugural awards breakfast, held at the Renaissance Harborplace Hotel in Baltimore, honored 16 outstanding bankers throughout Maryland who are considered "rising stars" in their profession. These individuals have made significant contributions to their institutions and the communities in which they serve, according to an association spokesperson.

"I take great pride in congratulating Josh on such a prestigious achievement," said William B. Grant, president and chief executive officer of First United Bank & Trust. "Josh's experience and expertise in commercial lending has made him a tremendous asset to the company."

Before becoming a commercial lending officer with First United, Bosley was a commercial lines account officer with First United Insurance Group.

Bosley graduated cum laude with a bachelor's degree in business administration/management from Shenandoah University, Winchester, Va., and also received the Harry F. Byrd Jr. School of Business Distinguished Best for Business Award. He has also attended the Hartford School of Insurance, American Bankers Association National Lending School, and the Maryland Banking School, from which he graduated with honors and received the Lillian T. Moffat Award for being at the top of his class.

Bosley is also the president of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club. He resides with his wife Jill and daughter McNeely in Mtn. Lake Park.

First United Bank & Trust has a network of community offices in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties in Maryland, as well as Mineral, Hardy, Berkeley, and Monongalia counties in West Virginia. As of June 30 of this year, the corporation posted assets of $1.5 billion.

Barnard Urges "Change Clock, Change Battery"

In anticipation of daylight saving time ending in the early morning hours of this Sunday, Nov. 6, the Maryland State Fire Marshal is urging Marylanders to "Change Your Clock – Change Your Battery" in both smoke alarms and carbon monoxide (CO) detectors in their homes.

Recognizing that working smoke alarms and CO detectors double a family's chance of surviving a home fire and/or an unsafe carbon monoxide level, Fire Marshal William E. Barnard says the end of daylight savings time is good time for families to change the batteries.

"This simple step can help us avoid tragedies in the place we feel the most secure – our homes," he said.

Along with working smoke alarms and CO detectors, home escape plans are another way Barnard says Marylanders can avoid injury or death in their homes. By identifying at least two different escape routes, families can practice the plan together – before an emergency strikes. Practicing the plan helps educate younger children to the danger of hazardous situations and the importance of recognizing that the sound of a smoke alarm or CO detector signals a potential hazard in the home.

"Changing the battery in your smoke alarms and CO detectors, along with developing and practicing a home escape plan, are two of the best ways to protect your loved ones and yourself from fire and carbon monoxide poisoning," he said.

Barnard also asks motorists to observe the overhead electronic signs as they travel throughout the state this weekend, which will issue the same reminder.

For more information on fire and life safety, persons are advised to log on to the following web site: www.firemarshal.state.md.us.

Trout Researcher To Be Next SRWA Meeting Speaker

The Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) will hold its regular meeting at Route 40 Elementary School on Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Dave Kazyak, graduate student, Appalachian Laboratory, University of Maryland Center for Environmental Science. Kazyak will share information from his ongoing research on brook trout in the Savage River watershed in his program titled "The Savage River PIT Tagging Project." The public is welcome to attend.

Kazyak is currently working on a large-scale collaborative project using PIT (passive integrated transponder) tags to understand the life history and population ecology of native brook trout in this area.

"PIT tags are basically little microchips that give off unique radio signals when near an energized antenna, the same technology used to identify dogs and cats," he said.

Kazyak's research is addressing key knowledge gaps identified by fishery managers, such as growth rates and longevity of brook trout.

TROUT RESEARCHER Dave Kazyak will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Savage River Watershed Association. He is pictured here holding one of the native brook trout he has tagged. See story.

Kazyak grew up in central Maryland and attended Frostburg State University, from which he earned a bachelor of science degree in wildlife and fisheries. Afterward, he attended the University of Maine, where he spent time researching the ecology of coastal populations of brook trout. He has also spent time conducting amphibian research in the back country of Yellowstone National Park.

The SRWA is a group of local landowners and other citizens dedicated to preserving and enhancing the rural nature and natural resources of the Savage River watershed. Members assist interested landowners and public land managers with environmental stewardship efforts and educational outreach. Anyone who is concerned about the Savage River watershed is invited to join.

SRWA meetings are generally held at Route 40 Elementary School on the third Thursday of odd-numbered months, beginning at 7 p.m. For more information, persons may contact SRWA via e-mail at SRWAdirector@gmail.com or by telephone at 301-689-7156.

The SRWA is a non-profit, charitable organization. Donations may be sent to: Savage River Watershed Association, P.O. Box 355, Frostburg, MD 21532.

Deep Creek Baptist Church Welcomes Rev. Jason Heath

Deep Creek Baptist Church recently welcomed an associate pastor of family ministries – Rev. Jason E. Heath. He will begin his ministry on Monday, Nov. 7, and will become part of the church's expansion plans.

"Rev. Heath's goal is to introduce Jesus Christ to the youth, 'tweens, children, and families of Garrett County," said Dr. Ben J. Lahay, Deep Creek Baptist Church's senior pastor. "This is a new position and a first for our church and in our community, the church needed to expand in order to minister to all people of all ages, if we are truly to be a family friendly church."

Heath and his wife Kammy have two sons and one daughter. The pastor graduated from Mid-America Baptist Theological Seminary in 2007 with a master's degree in Christian education, and formerly served in Tennessee as a minister for youth and students.

Heath enjoys wrestling and was an assistant wrestling coach at Rhea County High School in Tennessee.

JROTC Benefit Dinner Slated In Accident

A dinner to benefit the Northern High School Junior ROTC program will be held on Sunday, Nov. 6, from noon until 5 p.m. It will be served at Goehringer's Catering Canopy, located along Main Street in Accident, across Rt. 219 from Hartman's Amoco.

Customers will have their choice of ribs or chicken, plus two sides and a roll. The dinner price will be $8, with all proceeds to benefit the Northern JROTC program.

Cadets will be on site to help and thank all customers for their support, according to Jack Riley, advisor.

"The ROTC program is instrumental in providing a good platform of leadership, responsibility, dependability, accountability, and respect," Riley said.

Cadets participate in adventure training, drill team competitions, raider competitions, land navigation training, field trips, and physical training. They also participate in a number of community support activities throughout the year.

RAM JROTC EXCELS IN COMPETITION – The Southern High School Army JROTC drill and color guard teams recently competed against four other JROTC groups from three states. The Ram JROTC competed in the events of color guard, knock-out, squad unarmed, and platoon unarmed. The competition required cadets to call a sequence of commands while executing movement and non-movement routines. The routines typically had 20 to 40 commands. The cadets calling the commands were required to recite them from memory, while directing either a four-man color guard or a 12-man squad. The Ram JROTC took third place overall in the drill-team event with Carl Cosner as leader. The color guard also took third place with both its varsity and junior varsity teams. Leading these teams was Colton Wassell. In the knock-out event, Ryan Schrier took 10th place out of 60 cadets. The next drill competition will be held on Saturday, Nov. 12, at Southern High School, 9 a.m. Pictured above, from left, is Darren Lange, Wassel, John Cage, Schrier, and Kyle Hackett of the color guard team.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 14th year, The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The Republican and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.(We may also shop at Magic Kids in Oakland.)

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2011. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Seedlings Being Offered At Cost For Marylanders

The John S. Ayton State Forest Tree Nursery of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Forest Service is offering seedlings, at cost, to individuals and organizations wishing to plant trees.

"The sale of these seedlings is one of the ways that DNR's Forest Service works to help individuals and organizations invest in the future," a spokesperson said.

Individuals are encouraged to plant trees as stream buffers, windbreaks, and to improve wildlife habitat and erosion control. Neighbors can get together to plant 1/4 acre along their property lines, and communities are encouraged to plant seedlings in parks and other common areas, the spokesperson noted.

Seedlings are offered for sale in minimum quantities of 100 seedlings. Conifers may be ordered in multiples of 50, and hardwood seedlings in multiples of 100. Hardwoods may now be ordered in the following units: 25, 50, 75, 100, 200, 300, and so on.

Wye oak descendants are once again available this year. The Wye oak is Maryland's state tree.

Persons interested in planting trees on their property in the spring of 2012 are advised by the DNR Forest Service to contact the local foresters for additional information and guidance in planning the planting "because proper site preparation is extremely important," the spokesperson said.

Seedling orders will be taken until Feb. 28, 2012, but seedlings are sold on a first-come, first-served basis, so persons are advised to order early.

Those who are planning to plant more than one acre may be eligible for one of the incentive programs offered by the state or federal government. Persons should call the Forest Service office at Mt. Nebo at 301-334-3296 for further information about these programs.

Landowners or groups interested in purchasing seedlings for planting this coming spring can also place their orders by contacting the John S. Ayton State Forest Tree Nursery at 1-800-873-3763. Persons may also view the 2012 catalog by visiting the web site at www.dnr.nid.gov/forests/nursery

McInay To Speak At Folk Meeting House In Springs

Dennis P. McInay will present a program regarding a Nazi plot to destroy the Horseshoe Curve during World War II on Monday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the Folk Meeting House in Springs, Pa.

McInay, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., is professor emeritus of management at St. Francis University in Loretto, Pa. He received the Distinguished Professor Award from the National Alumni Association and the Salute to Teaching Award from the Pennsylvania Academy for the Profession of Teaching. He holds a doctorate in higher education administration from Seton Hall University.

The author of five books, he will highlight events in one of his books, The Horseshoe Curve: Sabotage and Subversion in the Railroad City. Events include the Nazi plot to destroy the Horseshoe Curve, the FBI's search of homes of 225 Altoona residents as "alien enemies," and the personal and organizational drama of the founding of the Pennsylvania Railroad and building the Horseshoe Curve.

The Nazi plot to destroy the Horseshoe Curve – a mission that Hitler himself conceived – was one of the world's deadliest terrorist acts, according to McInay "Had the Nazis succeeded in demolishing the Horseshoe Curve, they could have crippled the American war machine," he said.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, and being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area Two, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated November 8, 2004, prepared by Thrasher Engineering, surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by a letter dated October 17, 2011, to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland from Bypass Ventures, LLC, being the sole owner of the land to be annexed, requesting said annexation.

Operation Christmas Child Gift Boxes To Be Collected In Oakland, Terra Alta

Operation Christmas Child volunteers are currently focused on filling empty shoe boxes with school supplies, toys, hygiene items, and notes of encouragement for needy children overseas.

This year-round Christian relief/evangelism project of Samaritan's Purse is coming to its peak, as local business, churches, and school prepare to collect gift-filled shoe boxes during National Collection Week, Nov. 14–21.

Volunteers can drop off their shoe boxes at one of two local locations: Pleasant View Baptist Church near Oakland and Woven Treasures Variety Store in Terra Alta, W.Va.

Pleasant View's collection hours will be as follows: Monday and Tuesday, Nov 14 and 15, 11 a.m.–2 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 16, 11 a.m.–3:30 p.m.; Thursday and Friday, Nov. 17 and 18, 11 a.m.–2 p.m.; Saturday, Nov. 19, 9 a.m.–noon; Sunday, Nov. 20, 9 a.m.–1 p.m.; and Monday, Nov. 21, 9 a.m.–noon.

Woven Treasures will accept shoe boxes Monday through Friday, 10 a.m.–5 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m.–4 p.m.; Sunday, 1–5 p.m.; and Monday, 10 a.m.–5 p.m.

Tracking technology allows donors to follow their boxes to the destination country, where they are hand delivered to children in need. To register shoe box gifts and find out the destination country, participants can use the "Follow Your Box" donation form found online at samaritianspurse.org/occ.

Single-Vehicle Accident Results In Driver's Death

A single-vehicle accident on Rt. 40 last Thursday evening resulted in the death of a Grantsville woman. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to the 5:30 p.m. scene near the Green Lantern Road intersection.

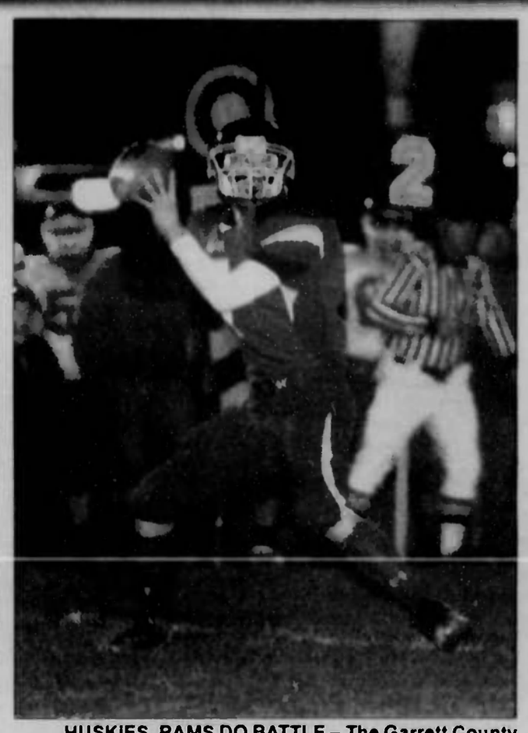
Investigation revealed that Trisha Jo DeLorenzo, 27, had been operating a 2005 Chevrolet west on Rt. 40, when, for unknown reasons, the vehicle crossed the centerline and eastbound lane. The vehicle struck an embankment and overturned several times, partially ejecting DeLorenzo from the vehicle.

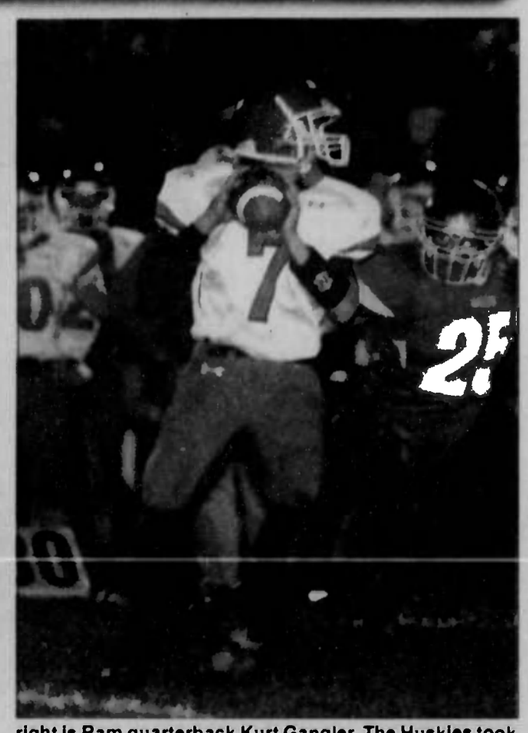
She was transported by Northern Rescue Squad to the Western Maryland Regional Medical Center, Cumberland, where she succumbed to her injuries on Friday. Finzel Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the scene.

Clarifications On Water Tank Noted

It was incorrectly reported in last week's issue that the town of Loch Lynn deemed the Kelly's water tower unsafe prior to its removal by a private contractor on Oct. 28. According to Mayor Carolyn Corley, the town was notified that the tower was being removed, but that its condition was not part of the discussion. She said that the current owner of the property decided to have it taken down.

Also, while the tower carried the Kelly's Store logo, it was in fact the tank erected by the former H.P. Stores, as this was the site of the company's warehouse.





HUSKIES, RAMS DO BATTLE – The Garrett County gridiron season finale for both GC high schools once again pitted the Northern Huskies against the visiting Southern Rams at the Cove last Friday evening. Pictured in action are the starting quarterbacks for each squad – both sporting #7 – as they look for potential receivers downfield. At left is Northern signal caller Pat Sines, who missed the bulk of the season because of injury, but was able to play in the Huskies' final two games. At right is Ram quarterback Kurt Gangler. The Huskies took the lead on the very first play from scrimmage, as Alex Baker broke loose and raced 73 yards for a touchdown, and the home team went on to record a convincing 36-6 victory, its 10th straight over the Rams. Swallow Falls Road Bridge Scheduled For Opening Today

The Garrett County Roads Department expects to reopen the Swallow Falls Road bridge site to vehicular traffic today, Thursday, Nov. 10, at approximately 3 p.m., general roads superintendent Jay Moyer announced earlier this week.

"Everything's pretty much back to normal, except that traffic across the new temporary bridge will be one way and foot traffic is discouraged," he noted.

Vehicles traveling northeast on Swallow Falls Road will have the right of way across the bridge. Those traveling southwest will have to yield to oncoming traffic.

Moyer requested that pedestrians not cross the bridge, as there is no space available for them to safely do so. Swallow Falls State Park visitors are asked to drive their vehicles into the park.

The temporary bridge will once again allow combination vehicles carrying legal loads up to 80,000 pounds/40 tons to cross over the Youghiogeny River on Swallow Falls Road.

The site was closed in late September because the old bridge had deteriorated to the point where it would have failed the next inspection. There was no immediate funding available for a new bridge, so a temporary one, already owned by the county, was installed by the Roads Department.

Moyer said the temporary structure will remain at the site for approximately five years until federal and local funding for a permanent

WOODS INDUCTED INTO HALL OF FAME – Among six persons recently inducted into the West Virginia chapter of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame was Mountain Lake Park resident Tom Woods, pictured above with his wife Debbie. While Woods is best known locally for being the most successful football coach in the history of Southern High School, his first coaching position was as mentor of the Spencer High School wrestling program in Spencer, W.Va., where he recorded a recorded a dual meet record of 50-1. Woods, a certified wrestling official for 25 years, also served Southern as a teacher, athletic director, and for the final eight years of his career as principal. See story for details.

Woods Among Inductees Into W.Va. Chapter/Nat'l Wrestling Hall Of Fame

Tom Woods, the most successful coach in the history of Southern High School football and now retired principal of the school, was recognized recently for his noted involvement in another sport, as he was inducted into the West Virginia chapter of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.

Six were inducted during the ceremony, held Oct. 30 in Charleston, with Woods being named one of five recipients of the 2011 Lifetime Service to Wrestling award.

The Lifetime Service Award Program, coordinated by the National Wrestling Hall of Fame, is designed to honor and recognize persons dedicated to wrestling and for their years of commitment to young people.

"The award is not about win/loss records," stated a chapter spokesperson. "It is about a person's dedicated efforts to help young people to not only succeed in wrestling, but also in life."

Each award recipient will be permanently recognized in the National Wrestling Hall of Fame (Stillwater, Okla.) with an embossed name plaque, and each received a commemorative plaque and jacket.

Woods, a 1972 graduate of Glenville State College, was the wrestling coach at Spencer High School (Spencer, W.Va.) from 1973 to 1977, just prior to his arrival at Southern High School. He posted a dual meet record of 50-1 during his five years at Spencer. He also produced three state champions – including Matt Ashley, the first freshman state champ in West Virginia history who went on to be the first four-time state champion under Coach Woods and his successor, Garry Bender.

Spencer High School's 1977 squad won the West Virginia AA-A State Team Championship. For his efforts as mat mentor, Woods was

Pittsburgh Man Sentenced To Three Years

A 58-year-old Pittsburgh, Pa., man pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court last week to reckless endangerment. Related assault charges against Andrew Mark Sulka were dismissed upon his plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin then sentenced him to three years in the Division of Corrections and imposed fines and costs of $1,485. The prison sentence was then suspended, and Sulka was placed on probation, with conditions that include payment of $700 of medical bills to the victim.

He was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police in June 2010 after being called to a residence along Marsh Hill Road. Sulka and a man staying and working at the residence for Sulka had an altercation after Sulka was heard berating and verbally abusing a female also in the house.

The victim intervened, leading to a physical altercation, after which Sulka cut him in the abdomen and on the elbow with a knife. Sulka fled, but was located nearby a few hours later and taken into custody, according to the state's attorney.

In an unrelated case, David Duane Sisler, 56, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol per se. Sherbin then sentenced Sisler to one year in the Garrett County Jail. The sentence was suspended, and Sisler was placed on proba

GC Commissioners Accepting Offers For Bloomington Elementary School

The Bloomington Elementary School building is available for purchase. The Garrett County commissioners said last week they would consider all "reasonable" offers for the 21,123-square-foot structure, which sits on 1.25 acres at the foot of Backbone Mountain.

The Garrett County Board of Education permanently closed the facility following the 2010-2011 school year because of funding issues. About 34 prekindergarten through fifth grade students attended the school last year. Bloomington area children in those grades now attend Yough Glades Elementary School.

The Garrett County Department of Purchasing recently invited the public to submit bids for the Bloomington school. Purchasing agent Brian Bowers told the county commissioners last Tuesday that the bid request fulfilled local guidelines about public notification, and the commissioners may now sell the property outright.

"There is a provision within the county code – that we've made our public notice obligation, notifying the public of the sale – if we do have an interested party after the fact, the board has the ability to negotiate with them privately," Bowers told the commissioners.

He said three parties, including the Bloomington Volunteer Fire Department, had expressed some interest in the property during the bidding process.

The BVFD did not submit a bid, Bowers said, because of uncertainty with asbestos abatement, demolition costs, and other things of that nature.

"I believe their intended use was to tear down the school and use that [site] as a community type park/property, until they decided to build a fire station in the future," Bowers said about the fire department.

He added that BVFD officials indicated they may still be interested in the property if a grant or some other type of financial assistance becomes available for the project.

Bowers noted the county went through a similar process in 2002 when it disposed of the old Board of Education building in Oakland. That property was open to bidders, but the county commissioners received only one very low bid, which they rejected.

The county then requested bids from parties to demolish the building, with the winning bid coming in at about $52,000. After the BOE facility was torn down, the county put the real property back out to bid. But no bids were received, and the commissioners negotiated the sale of the land.

"So, there are some options the board [of commissioners] has on how we need to proceed with the disposal of the school," Bowers told

First United CEO Grant New Chair Of Nat'l Council

The American Bankers Association has named William B. Grant, chairman of the board and CEO of First United Bank & Trust in Oakland, chairman of the America's Community Bankers Council for 2012.

Grant will lead a council of over 100 bank CEOs from across the country whose mission is to strengthen the role of community banks as providers of financial services. The council sets priorities on issues affecting community banks and helps ABA address their specific needs.

As chair, Grant will preside over the council's meetings, as well as serve as one of the official spokespersons for community banking in the country.

"The work of this council allows ABA to be at the forefront of issues, develop solutions, and gather information to help businesses and communities thrive," said Grant. OTT PRESENTING QUILTERS – Our Town Theatre will present the musical Quilters next week, under the direction of Jane Avery, with musical direction by Susan Peterson. Written by Molly Newman and Barbara Demashek, the presentation is an exploration of pioneer life through the eyes of a mother, played by Lynn Broderick, and her daughters as they forge ahead in the early day of the West. Productions, which will begin at 8 p.m., are scheduled for Nov. 15 through 19, and one 2 p.m. matinee on Nov. 20. Seats for Tuesday through Thursday, as well as Sunday, are $8 per person. All other seats are $10. To reserve tickets, which is highly encouraged, Avery said, persons should call the theatre at 301-334-5640. "Long ago, when a woman was getting ready to make her very last quilt, she would piece together a composite of patterns or blocks, which would become her legacy to her daughters and their descendants," Avery said. "Sarah McKendree Bonham, the mother of six daughters, is piecing her last quilt, made up of her favorite blocks – the ones which represent pieces of her life. The play evokes her memories, which compose a rich mosaic that captures the sweep and beauty, the terror and the joy, the harsh challenge and abiding rewards of frontier life." The cast is pictured in front of the legacy quilt made by Heritage Quilters of Garrett County. In front, from left, are Angie Sincell, Kim Cagley, and Midam Sincell Burton. In the back, same order, are Elizabeth Rees Gilbert, Sandy Rodeheaver, Broderick, and Krysta Stacy Huxford. The play is being produced via a special arrangement with the Dramatists Play Service. It is being funded in part by the Garrett County and Maryland State arts councils, as well as the Garrett County American Association of University Women.

GC Commissioners Amounce Lean Committee Appointments

The Garrett County commissioners announced yesterday the names of those appointed to their Lean Committee. To prepare for pending revenue shortfalls in the next three- to five-year budget cycles, the commissioners recently proposed this efficiency task force idea to find ways to save county government/taxpayers money.

"'Lean' seeks continuous improvement within an organization and is facilitated by a systematic approach to identify problems and achieving efficient solutions that in turn create better outcomes for employees and the constituents that they serve," county administrator Monty Pagenhardt explained in August when the commissioners announced that a committee would be formed.

The members of the Lean Committee from Garrett County government are Mike Bittinger, Sheriff's Office; Brian King, Public Utilities; Theresa Miller, Roads Department; Nathaniel Watkins, Department of Informational Technology; and Scott Weeks, Financial Services

The group's community members are Bob Hoffmann, retired, United States Air Force; Steve Lantz, retired, banking executive; Gary Ruddell, Total Biz Fulfillment; Rebecca Sines, First United Bank and Trust; Joe Thomas. Phenix Technologies; and Bill Welch, Simon Pearce.

Committee members have been invited to attend the Western Maryland Lean Conference at Garrett College on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at Garrett College. The keynote speaker for the daylong event is Jeff Fuchs, director of the Maryland World Class Consortia.

He will define "lean" and share ways in which it can be implemented in any organization. Topics will include "Lean in Action," "Keys to Success," and "Key Aspects of Continuous Improvement."

A presentation on "Lean in Western Maryland" and a question-and-answer session will also be held during the conference.

The event is being held in cooperation with Garrett College, the Garrett-Allegany Lean Forum, and the Maryland World Class Consortia. The cost per person is $55. More information is available by calling 301-387-3069.

Survey Of High Speed Internet Use Set Locally

Garrett County government agencies are currently conducting a survey about high-speed Internet use and the needs of the business and residential communities.

In its most recent strategic plan, the Garrett County Office of Economic Development created a goal of 90% availability of high speed Internet tn Garrett County by 2014. High-speed Internet, or broadband, includes DSL, wireless, cable, and fiber optic, and does not include dial-up or satellite connections.

Businesses are being asked to complete an online survey sent to Garrett County Chamber of Commerce members. A random sample of Garrett County residents will receive a paper survey in the mail, including a postage paid return mail envelope Residents and businesses are encouraged to complete the survey as soon as possible.

Banjo, Fiddle, And Mandolin State Champs Crowned

The 44th annual Official Maryland State Banjo, Fiddle, and Mandolin Championships were held in Oakland during the Autumn Glory Festival. This year's contests attracted competitors, ranging in age from 8 to 88, from across five states.

The 2011 Maryland State Banjo Champion was Greg Stump, Monterey, Va.; the 2011 Maryland State Fiddle Champion was Jason Chewning, Beverly, W.Va.; and the 2011 Maryland State Mandolin Champion was Dan Kessinger, St. Mary's, W.Va.

"The banjo, fiddle, and mandolin contests are core events at the Autumn Glory Festival and would not be possible without the support of many organizations in the community, including Southern and Northern High Schools, the Garrett County Roads Department, the town of Oakland, and the Garrett County Sheriff's Office," stated Suzanne Nicolas, event director.

"This is not to mention the many dedicated individuals who spent countless hours working to put this event together."

Nicolas also discussed changes that were made to the events judging.

Last year the judges were asked to get on stage in order to demonstrate their proficiency in music. That practice was continued this year. Three professionals, Keith McManus, Bob Shank, and Vince Farsetta, who judged the mandolin and banjo contests, also entertained the audience with several tunes. They were joined on the judging panel for the fiddle contest by Heather Twigg, 2010 Maryland State Fiddle Champion.

In the banjo senior division, third place went to Joe Faidley Sr., Blairsville, Pa., while second place went to Ken White, Harmon, W.Va. The senior champion was Bob Phillips of Arona, Pa. Runner-up in the state champion contest was Robert "Hoot" McCann, Albright, W.Va.

The mandolin contest featured a first-timers division, won by Silas Powell, Salem W.Va., junior champion was D.J. Kessinger, St. Mary's W.Va. Senior champions were Joe Faidley Sr., third place, Blairsville, Pa.; Ken White, second place, Harmon, W.Va.; and Don Kessler Sr., first place, Pasadena.

Taking first and second in the state championship competition were Greg Stump, Monterey, Va.; and Ken Ream, Oakland.

In the fiddle contest, Nicole Ciminelli of Lothian, took first place in the first-timers division. In the junior division, third place went to Hanna Livingston, Frostburg; second place to Walker McGrath, Spring Gap; while Julia Voris of Punxsutawney Pa., took the top spot.

In the senior division, Ellinor Benedict, Grantsville, earned third place; Ken White, Harmon, W.Va., took second place; and Donald Kessler Sr, Pasadena, won first place.

Taking third place in the state championship division was Bernard Patrick, Derry, Pa. Second place went to Dan Kessinger, St. Mary's, Pa.

This year's contest, sponsored by the Adventure Sports Center International, benefited Team River Runner, a Wounded Warrior program. Team River Runner is a non-profit organization that gives active-duty service members and veterans an opportunity to find health, healing, and new challenges through whitewater boating and other paddling sports.

The Loar Auxillary chose to give the final check on its anniversary in order to mark 60 years with $60,000. The group raises money through the operations of the hospital gift shop, Cup O' Joe vending, and numerous lobby sales throughout the year. Those interested in more information concerning the Loar Auxillary may contact the Hospital Volunteer Office at 301-533-4041. Leslie Elizabeth Woll, 20, Fairfax, Va., and Christopher Joseph Bennett, 24, Chantilly, Va., were both given PBJ verdicts on possession of marijuana charges that stem from a traffic stop in March by MSP. During the course of the stop/search, a quantity of marijuana, two smoking glass pipes, and a marijuana grinder were all located in the vehicle. Woll and Bennett were each sentenced to 30 days suspended, fined $500 with $300 suspended, and placed on one year of unsupervised probation. They were not prosecuted on possession of paraphernalia charges.

Jamie Allen Stanton, 37, Grantsville, was given a stet verdict on a harassment charge that stemmed from a domestic dispute with an adult female at a Grantsville residence. Maryland State Police responded to the July incident. He was not prosecuted on a second-degree assault charge. The conditions of his stet are that he obey all laws and have no violent contact with the victim.

Kevin Daniel McCann, 49, Oakland, was not prosecuted on a second-degree assault charge stemming from a domestic incident involving an adult female. Garrett County sheriff's deputies arrested McCann in July.

Daniel Steven Fera III, 42, Grantsville, was not prosecuted on second-degree assault and reckless endangerment charges that stem from a June domestic dispute investigated by MSP.

Megan Nichole Nugent, 25, Frostburg, was found not guilty on a second-degree assault charge that stemmed from an August domestic dispute investigated by Maryland State Police.

LANDON'S LIBRARY RECEIVES DONATION – First United Bank and Trust recently presented Landon's Library with a donation for the second annual Landon's Library Pumpkin Chase, which was held at Broadford Park on Oct. 29. "One of our top priorities has always been our commitment to supporting the community and the charities that serve it," commented William B. Grant, president and CEO of First United. "It is a pleasure to provide a gift to Landon's Library because [it is] so important to our children in Garrett County." Landon's Library is a local charity that focuses on childhood literacy and the importance of parents reading to their children. In the last five years, Landon's Library has distributed over 60,000 children's books to children age 2 to 6 in Garrett County alone. They are able to accomplish this through partnership with Dolly Parton's Imagination Library, which is currently providing 1,000 books per month to Garrett County children, the annual Autumn Glory book giveaways at which 4,000 books are distributed, the Oakland Rotary Christmas Project, through which 2,000 are distributed, and through monthly Landon's Library Playdates held the first Saturday of each month at Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Bear Carvings Bolster State Park Project

The Discover the Bears, Carve a Memory: Only In Garrett County fundraising project held its culminating auction event earlier this week, raising an estimated $65,000 toward the proposed forest canopy walkway at Deep Creek Lake State Park.

The initiative, undertaken by the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers, begin some 4½ months ago when local artists donated their time and talents to create 20 five-foot tall bears, which were displayed throughout the community before being auctioned.

At the recent auction, all 20 bears were purchased, raising over $31,000. Another $2,000 was earned in raffle-ticket sales for a bear sculpture painted by Ken Bauer.

"While all the numbers are not yet finalized, it looks like the total project, including $20,000 from bear sponsorship, grossed over $65,000 to support Western Garrett County State Parks," stated John Pucciano, project chairman.

The event at the Wisp featured live performances by bluegrass artists Robert Yonke and John Mackin. Along with the bear painted by Bauer, items including a 42-inch television were raffled off and won by individuals who visited all 20 bears displayed at various local businesses.

"What a culmination to the unbelievably hard work of an equally unbelievably small committee," said Pucciano, paraphrasing another committee member unable to attend the event.

"Each of you gave so much to this project – the 20 sponsors who each invested $1,000 sight unseen for the privilege to host a bear, the artists who donated many hours to decorate the bears, and all the people who visited the sponsor locations. We are so very thankful for the full- and part-time residents of our county and their support of the Western Garrett County State Park Volunteers.

"I was truly blessed to have a small group of people (seven) serving on the committee who were committed to making this project a success," Pucciano stated, closing his address to those attending the auction.

"These are the people who deserve all the kudos: Carol and Rob Stansbury, Judi Schiff, Susan Pucciano, Caroline Blizzard, Becky Wilson, and Rickie Rubenstein."

When completed, the forest canopy project will become one of about 10 such structures in the country, and only one of three or four located on public land. According to a spokesperson, when one considers the worldwide growth in eco-tourism, the completion of the canopy walkway will bring additional recognition, prestige, and tourism to Garrett County.

Driver Flown To Area Hospital By Trooper 5

A Mt. Savage man was transported by Medevac helicopter to the Western Maryland Regional Medical Center, Cumberland, following a head-on collision at the intersection of Kings Run and Broadford roads.

Nicolas To Attend Canoe Federation Workshop In Spain

Suzanne Nicolas, event director at Adventure Sports Center International, has been invited to be a guest of the International Canoe Federation at its Event Directors Workshop in Barcelona, Spain, November 12-14. The trip will be supported by ASCI, as well as the Maryland Office of Sports Marketing.

The workshop is being held for event directors of the ICF's world championship and world cup events in all canoe disciplines. ASCI is scheduled to play host at the Deep Creek 2014: ICF Canoe Slalom World Championships.

Other disciplines to be represented in the workshop and at the 2014 championships are sprint (an Olympic sport along with canoe slalom), marathon, polo, wildwater, freestyle, dragon boat, ocean racing, and paracanoe.

Topics to be covered at the workshop will be sponsorships, media and broadcasting, technical services, and social media. Additionally, Nicolas will have the opportunity to meet one-on-one with ICF technical officials and staff specializing in canoe slalom.

Accompanying Nicolas will be Karla Westcott, event director for the 2012 ICF Junior and Under 23 Canoe Slalom World Championships, which will be held July 10-15 in Wausau, Wis.

The workshop will also host colleagues from Brazil, Canada, Czech Republic, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Poland, Russia, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, and Ukraine.

ASCI was awarded the rights to host the 2014 ICF Canoe Slalom World Championships after being selected over other finalists from Poland and Austria. This will mark only the second time the World Championships have been held in the United States, the first being in 1989 on the Savage River, also located in Garrett County.

Nicolas has been involved with canoe events at ASCI since the 2008 Slalom Nationals and has been the event coordinator since 2010.

Two Treated After Vehicle Overturns

Two people were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital early Saturday morning for treatment of non-life-threatening injuries following a single-vehicle accident on Marsh Hill Road on Saturday. Maryland State Police were the responding officers.

Investigation revealed that a 17-year-old female driver from the Oakland area had failed to stop at a stop sign from Overlook Pass to Marsh Hill Road, skidded through the intersection, and the vehicle overturned. The driver and passenger Brandon Russell Spink, 20, Oakland, were both transported by Northern Rescue Squad to GCMH for treatment of their injuries. They were later released.

The juvenile was cited for failure to stop for a stop sign, and the male was issued a civil citation for underage possession of alcohol. Neither were wearing their seatbelts. Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company also responded to the 12:50 a.m. scene.

Great Man, Big Mistake...

"All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing." – Edmund Burke, 18th century author/orator.

State College, Pa., affectionately known by Pennsylvania State University fans as Happy Valley, is not so happy today following the sex scandal involving former defensive coordinator Jerry Sandusky. The alleged cover-up of Sandusky's behavior has resulted in the ousting of four major officials of the university, including the university president and legendary head football coach Joe Paterno, who just a few weeks ago set the record for the number of NCAA Division I victories.

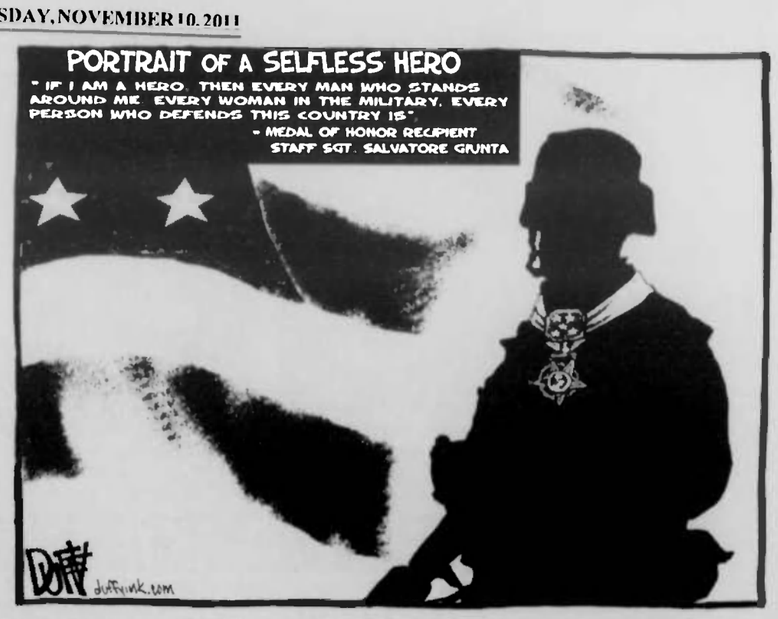
Obviously, the entire affair is devastating to one of the most revered institutions of higher learning in the nation and to the highly successful, seemingly squeaky-clean football program of Paterno, who has been the head coach for 46 years. Paterno, who will turn 85 years old next month, offered to resign at the end of the current season, but the PSU board rejected that offer and announced his termination last night.

The announcement of Paterno's firing almost immediately sparked a riot on the Penn State campus, resulting in some significant property damage, with arrests pending. The students were outraged primarily with Paterno's sacking, alleging that he was not to blame for the behavior of Sandusky, that he had "responded appropriately," and that he should not be among those to take the fall for it.

Certainly the first of those three claims is correct – Paterno should not be blamed for Sandusky's behavior. However, as for the second two, while the coach did respond to the incident when he found out about it, he did not take his response far enough, and thus, for that failure he should indeed be among those who must take the fall.

There is no question that Joe Paterno is a "good man," in reference to the quote above. In fact, he fits the description of a "great man," who has without question played a significant, positive role in the lives of thousands of young athletes over the years. There is no doubt that he truly cares about young people, and obviously he is very good at what he does for a living. While not as much is known publicly about the other three officials who lost their jobs, they too are probably "good men." Good men who made some huge mistakes, and for which there are always consequences.

It comes as no big surprise that Paterno himself stated that, given this hindsight, "I should have done more." And it is no surprise, given his character, that he has requested on several occasions in the past 48 hours or so, even after his firing, that people pray for the victims of this sordid affair. The man is definitely a class act – a great man who made a mistake – and it is truly sad that this will now forever be a part of his legacy.



Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

November is National Hospice Month. Hospice of Garrett County would like to take this opportunity to better acquaint you with our hospice program.

Research has shown that if given a choice most terminally ill patients would choose to spend their final days surrounded by loved ones in an atmosphere filled with love, comfort, and care. Unfortunately, many people in Garrett County are not aware that such an option is available to them. That option is hospice.

Most people do not fully understand the nature of hospice care. Hospice is a comprehensive, medical-directed, team-oriented program of care that seeks to treat and comfort patients and their families at home, in a nursing home, or an assisted living facility. It is a philosophy of care that accepts death as a natural part of life, and seeks to neither hasten nor prolong the dying process.

If you think you or a family member would benefit from hospice, you are probably right! Ask your doctor or nurse to help. Even when it is not possible to add many days to life, the opportunity exists to add life to one's days.

Hospice of Garrett County is dedicated to ensuring that your loved ones die with dignity and without pain. When we enter this world, we are surrounded by love, comfort, and care. Don't we deserve the same when we leave? We provide the care necessary for physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being.

Call Hospice of Garrett County at 301-334-5151 or 800-521-5252, because all stages of life are important – some just require extra attention.

Sincerely,
Brenda J. Butscher
Executive Director

To the Editor:

I am writing about recent dialogues with the Maryland DNR regarding the evasive Eurasian watermilfoil (EWM) and other concerns I have regarding limited state funds allocated for Deep Creek Lake.

At the October DCLPRB meeting, the DNR state representative stated that the DNR would do another EWM survey and make recommendations in April for short-term options that property owners can consider to control EWM. Short-term options imply that the state is passing the cost on to private owners to protect Maryland property.

I have voiced concerns that Maryland uses substantial tax revenue to fund beach replenishment to protect Ocean City, but nothing is allocated toward protecting DCL. DNR's reply, "...In regard to comparing funding for lake activities and funding for beach replenishment in Ocean City, the beach replenishment work is 53% funded by the federal Army Corps of Engineers and 47% local share. The local share is split 50% state and 25% each by Worcester County and Ocean City government. Ocean City and Worcester County contribute $500,000 each annually. Since 2001, Ocean City has contributed $4.5 million, as has the county."

Since Ocean City and Worcester County contributes $500,000 each annually at 50%, then Maryland pays the other 50% ($500,000). Therefore, Maryland taxes pay a substantial amount of the 47% to replenish OC sand.

Why then must lake property owners have to pay for short-term options, yet Ocean City property owners get a free ride? Lakefront/access property owners paid for the lake (buffer strip buydown), pay for the local DNR staff, and in particular, the LMO in dock fees, plus pay taxes on that property.

The DNR stated that it will contribute $65,000 of $180,000 to fund a sediment control study. Senator Edwards was clear in his comments at the PRB meeting that the DNR pay the entire cost of the survey. He mentioned that Ocean City has gotten millions for beach replenishment, and it is time for funds to be allocated for DCL.

My association alone has paid over $65,000 for a shoreline erosion system and for culverts under our lake access road to prevent washouts from county road run-off, all to protect Maryland public property. Putting this in perspective, we paid as much for erosion control as the entire state – the DNR and the LMO.

Now is the time for the state of Maryland to allocate funds for the preservation and viability of DCL.

Ralph Schmidt

To the Editor:

Next Tuesday, Secretary Griffin reports to the commissioners on the "State of the Lake." This marks a "sea change" in county-state relations, initiated by our commissioners. We owe them thanks and respect for taking this step.

The county should become an active lake partner. The state owns only the lake bottom and buffer strip. The rest of the watershed is in county hands. Local watershed improvement programs are long overdue. Programming and funding are the issue.

Since the state purchase, lake management costs have been carried by property owners, with little state investment. Case in point is the sediment study. DNR announced there are inadequate funds to proceed. Reflecting a broadly held view that lack of funding is a matter of policy, not lack of resources, the Policy Review Board voted a recommendation for the state to pay for all this study.

The first step in building the partnership is for the county to obtain an overview of lake-related economic issues. Are current fiscal policies fair? Do they generate a necessary level of funding?

Some of the questions needing answers:

How much have District 18 property owners paid into the Flush Tax? How much has been received in septic system upgrades? How much did the state pay for the lake, after the receipt of lake buy-down? How much does the state receive annually from all lake properties and activities, and how much does it spend on watershed improvement programs? How much has DNR received in buffer-strip permit fees since it purchased the lake? Are any of these monies spent outside DCL? How much boat excise tax been raised in Garrett County for the Waterway Improvement Fund and how much has been spent on Deep Creek Lake? How much have county property owners paid into the Chesapeake and Coastal Bay 2010 Trust Fund, and how much of these funds has been spent on DCL watershed protection?

Answers to these questions will reveal a fundamental unfairness in the current system. Our commissioners need to address these issues and work for a fairer fiscal picture as an essential component of developing their partnership with the state.

And, lest we forget, there are large costs looming. Invasive Eurasian watermilfoil is now found throughout the lake. Control programs demand a lake-wide, systemic approach. Costs for control and an ongoing program will add to the financial burden of lake management. Who is going to pay?

To the Editor:

You are correct in your October 20, 2011, editorial in saying the recent gerrymandering of the Maryland Congressional District 6 by the governor and his Democratic buddies is "all about politics." Governor Martin O'Malley wants to remove any evidence of a two-party system from this state. And the way they went about it is abusive and unconstitutional. Hopefully, their redistricting will be overturned by the courts.

Jerry Campane's letter to the editor of October 27 made a good point about having both parties represented in the district, but it's not going to happen. The conservative viewpoints that predominate in western Maryland will become muted by the more populated areas of the district which support the more liberal viewpoints of the Democratic Party.

The same thing happened to Anne Arundel County, where I reside. A conservative district, Anne Arundel County was split into three congressional districts under the gerrymandering practices of Governor Parris Glendening in 2000. Anne Arundel now has three Democratic representatives.

If you are a Republican in this county, you no longer have a voice. The only way to make change is to become a Democrat and vote conservatively.

To the Editor:

I noticed the stark contrast between the two letters in last week's paper. On one hand, we have a concerned citizen urging us to take in a film which encourages us to be better male role models.

On the other hand, we have the rabid agenda of those who make false and unproven assumptions about climate change, etc. Mr. Krewson would have us believe that those who do not subscribe to the theory of man-made global warming deny all climate change. Not true. If the 1.5-degree figure he cites is correct, then maybe more areas of the Earth will be able to grow more food for an ever-increasing population. Weather extremes have always been with us, and scripture even tells us of an increase in severe weather incidents.

Mr. Krewson, do you dispute the fact that there have been fluctuations in tion workers on the narrow bridge, SHA is considering a full-road closure and detour using Rt. U.S. 219, U.S. 50, Md. 560, and Md. 135.

Work would be scheduled for the summer to minimize impacts to school bus traffic, the SHA noted in a letter about the public meeting that was mailed to numerous southern Garrett County residents.

Construction is scheduled to begin in June 2013 after school has ended, and be completed before schools reopen in August 13, weather permitting.

"Originally constructed in 1922, the U.S. Rt. 219 bridge over Cherry Creek has outlived its useful service life," SHA noted in the letter. "Replacing the structurally deficient bridge will save on future maintenance spending and support safety and mobility as part of SHA's bridge system preservation program, which aims to provide reliable facilities in a timely manner."

the Earth's climate over the course of history? How do you account for those changes which occurred prior to the advent of the industrial age?

The very idea that we talk about a universe which spans millions and millions of light years, and then propose to claim that the pinprick in that universe that makes up humankind is able to influence it is as ludicrous as dropping one grain of salt into the largest freshwater lake in the world and proclaiming it to now be saltwater.

I know this doesn't fit the agenda of those who espouse humanistic beliefs and deny the power and the presence of an omnipotent, supreme God, who created it all and who controls it all, but I am just so fed up with all these creationism deniers and so-called experts who are nothing but pompous bags of hot air of the flatulent variety. Those scientists and climatologists, along with the common lay persons who dare to question and challenge their haughty assumptions, are routinely ridiculed and mocked.

Mr. Krewson likes to say that one is either a part of the solution or a part of the problem. Very true. The trouble is, he is focusing on the wrong thing as the problem. The real problem is that mankind is out of tune with the Creator who put us here, and we have become so arrogant that we claim to be the ones in control. A sad state of affairs indeed.

To the Editor:

Back then – In 1992, the EPA reported that the widespread exposure to environmental tobacco smoke was a carcinogen, responsible for approximately 3,000 lung cancer deaths annually in non-smokers. This was developed from mainstream science.

Cigarette manufacture Philip Morris' strategy for dealing with this finding was "to discredit the EPA report. ..." They then backed it up with their own science!

May 13, 1996 – "Scientists Reject Association Between Environmental Tobacco and Lung Cancer. The current scientific evidence does not support the conclusion that environmental tobacco smoke is a lung carcinogen in humans...." Professor Jeffrey Idle.

Here and now – Sheahen, our local scientist, explained the scheme he uses to distort accepted mainstream science in his April 22, 2011, online publication: "Science is used subjectively, not objectively. After a set of beliefs has been established, various fields of science (and scholarly studies within those fields) are carefully sifted to select facts that support those beliefs. Facts and scientific fields that contravene or fail to support core beliefs are rejected or ignored."

In this article he authored, he accuses others of doing exactly what he does! He uses his column as a platform to distort the facts of global warming just as tobacco companies denied their product caused lung cancer.

In a survey of 908 published climate scientists, 97% disagree with Sheahen's positions. To qualify to be in this study, the climate scientists were required to have published a minimum of 20 papers on climate change for peer review! How many peer reviewed papers on climate change has Sheahen published?

Sheahen's dissenting views are not bad in and of themselves, but a responsible scientist would at the very least put them context. Everyday readers rely on the information presented to be truthful, accurate, and at the very minimum, not misleading.

Of all the things Sheahen said in his last column, he didn't tell you a Dr. Muller re-examined the climate data with skepticism and concluded that what mainstream scientists have been saying for decades is fundamentally correct. Additionally, the Muller study documented the planet temperature was higher than the IPCC findings.

Here's my take-home message for you: Imagine you have a colonoscopy and a polyp is discovered. Ninety-seven proctologists recommend removing it, and three want to leave it in. Whose advice do you take?

You are part of the solution or part of the problem.

Highly intelligent, resourceful, and independent, David led a full and rewarding life. He had many interests and pursuits. He delighted in cooking and preparing delectable meals, many of which were ethnic cuisine

He enjoyed traveling, playing golf, motorcycling, jet skiing, playing cards, and driving his Corvette. He had many projects going on at all times – remodeling his home, beautifying his property, and raising chickens. His love of growing flowers, shrubs, trees, and vegetables had no limit.

He attended St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in his youth, attending Sunday school classes and serving as an acolyte.

He was a good friend and family member, had an unequaled sense of humor, and will be greatly missed.

He is survived by one sister, Fannie H. Johnson and husband Von "Buzz," Oakland; one brother, Dr. Harry W. "Buddy" Hinebaugh III and wife Deborah, West Chester, Pa., and Oakland; and one niece, Anne Elise (Hinebaugh) Eunson, husband Dan, and their daughter Grace, Thornton, Pa.

He is also survived by his beloved cat and companion of 13 years, Grisette, whom he dearly loved.

Friends will be received on Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service will be conducted on Saturday, Nov 12, at 10 a.m., with the Rev Manning Smith officiating.

David's wish was that there be a gathering of his friends and family in order to tell stories and recollect their times and experiences with him. We extend an invitation to David's friends and family to attend a luncheon at the Cornish Manor, 830 Memorial Dr., Oakland, following his interment in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

Memorial donations made be made to Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 378, Oakland, MD 21550; or to Fund for Johns Hopkins Medicine, 5200 Eastern Avenue, MFL, Center Tower, Suite 357, Baltimore, MD 21224, in memory of Dwight David Hinebaugh. the commissioners.

Commissioner Jim Raley asked if the county could get some figures on the cost of removing the asbestos from the school.

"I would like us to at least look forward with what asbestos is in there, and, perhaps, talk to our state agents or someone like that as to what would be required to remove that," Raley said. "I know it would have to be a bidding process."

He added, however, that he did not want the county to become an owner of blighted properties, noting that the old Loch Lynn school, which was closed many years ago, has become a problem.

"In the case of the town, they did us a favor by taking the facility, and look where they are now," Raley said. "They're scrambling as a community, trying to get rid of the building because it's unsafe. It's a hazard in the community."

He said the Bloomington School site is a nice parcel of property, minus the building because of problems with asbestos, the possible need for a new roof, and those kinds of things.

Bowers noted that the BOE facility and all the older buildings in the school system contained some form of asbestos.

Raley said if the BOE building cost the county $52,000 to tear down in 2002, it could conceivably cost twice that much to demolish the Bloomington school today.

Commissioner Gregan Crawford said he was comfortable with the idea of seeking information about the asbestos abatement cost.

"But I would still like us to seek and accept reasonable offers on that building in the meantime, with winter approaching," Crawford said. "That's what we could do per Article 25 [of the county code] to move forward – accept or reject any reasonable offer we see fit."

The commissioner decided to consider all reasonable offers for the Bloomington Elementary School property, in addition to looking into the cost of removing the asbestos from the building.

HART PRESENTS PLAQUE TO VFW POST 10077 – In an early celebration of Veterans Day, HART for Animals presented a plaque of appreciation to VFW Post #10077, Deer Park, in recognition of its support over the past two years. When making the presentation to current Commander Bob Hensley and former Commander Paul Everly, HART president Mike Pellet remarked, "Thanks to you, HART has been able to raise $15,000 for our building fund. We appreciate your allowing us to hold our poker tournaments at your post and your support of HART's effort to improve our community and help homeless animals in our region." Left to right are Eric Robison, HART Poker Tournament Committee chair, plus Everly, Pellet, and Hensley. Established in 1899 by veterans returning from action in the Spanish-American War, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States (VFW) was formed to help soldiers, sailors, and Marines readjust to civilian life and to protect their benefits. Initially, the organization was called American Veterans of Foreign Service. The name Veterans of Foreign Wars was created on Sept. 17, 1914, and in 1936 it became a government-chartered non-profit organization by an act of the U.S. Congress. The VFW is supported by charitable donations, and donates money and volunteer hours to communities throughout the nation. One of their most popular programs, Operation Uplink, provides free phone calls to overseas service members. "VFW posts, such as Garrett County's Post 10077, go beyond the core mission of veterans by protecting the rights of veterans nationwide and being actively involved in their communities," Pellet said. VFW Post 10077 is located at 4107 Maryland Highway. For additional information on HART, the Spay/Neuter Clinic, or any of its programs, or to donate to the capital fund campaign, persons may visit hartforanimals.org.

He noted that the temporary bridge and necessary abutments were installed within the county's projected time frame, thanks to the efforts of Roads Department crews.

"I would like to mention how proud I am of the outstanding work being done by all the road crews," he said. "I also want to commend the exceptional leadership skills of the three general roads foremen – Larry Lewis, Accident, Paul Harvey, Oakland, and Mark Wells, Grantsville – who have done a great job keeping all the jobs they are assigned moving forward on a daily basis."

LIBRARY

West Virginia Children's Book Week is being observed Nov. 13–19. Read to Me Day will be held on Thursday, Nov. 17. Volunteer readers will be at the library at noon, 2:30, 3, and 4 p.m. All children are invited and encouraged to attend any or all time frames.

Students have a required number of books to read, record titles, and get rewarded. Kindergarten students were the top readers for October, with 26 students receiving certificates. Second graders were close behind with 22 students. First graders had 14 to complete, and fourth graders had six.

Other classes had certain activities they were working on in reading, and will now be able to increase those numbers for November. Principal David Murray walked with fourth graders to the library to receive their certificates, and the other students were presented theirs in their classrooms by a library representative.

A Tribute To DeReck DeWitt

No words written could ever say how sad and empty I still feel today.
The angels came for you much sooner than I planned.
I'll brave the bitter grief that comes and do my best to understand
DeReck, why did you have to go away?
Why wasn't it right for you to stay?
In my heart DeReck you will always be.
I love you dearly and I know you're watching over me.
What I'm still suffering seems so unfair
But one thing is for certain,
My love for you will always be there
DeReck, my son, you always will be the most important part of my heart's memory
A thousand words won't bring you back—
I know because I've tried
Neither will a thousand tears
I know because I've cried
Now you re up in heaven with the Angels up above.
They will take my place for now and I know they'll give you all their love
My son, my dear.
For all my love and memories
I will hold forever near Still loving and missing you dearly

Love, MOM, family & friends

Please remember to take guns seriously in honor of DeReck, who lost his life to a gun accident.

PRESTON FSA ANNOUNCES THE START OF COUNTY COMMITTEE ELECTION

Eric McCartney, executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Preston County, has announced the election period for the FSA county committee began Friday, Nov 4, and will be open through Dec. 5, 2011. A representative from Local Administrative Area (LAA) 1 (Pleasant and Grant districts) will be elected to serve.

"County committees help administer federal farm programs at the local level. It is vital that FSA committees represent a cross-section of producers in each community," said McCartney. "I encourage all eligible producers, especially minorities and women, to make a difference by voting in this year's election."

FSA county committees help ensure FSA agricultural programs serve the needs of local producers. Committees provide input on commodity price support loans and payments, conservation programs, disaster payments for some commodities, and other farm disaster assistance. FSA committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out federal laws. Most committees consist of three to five members and may have one or more appointed advisors to further represent the interests of minority and women farmers.

Agricultural producers who participate or cooperate in any FSA program and are of legal voting age may vote. A person supervising and conducting the farming operations on an entire farm but not of legal voting age may also vote.

Ballots will be mailed to eligible producers on Nov. 4. Eligible producers should contact the Preston County FSA office if they do not receive a ballot. All ballots must be returned to the voter's FSA office or be postmarked by Dec. 5, 2011.

During this year's nomination period, William Whetsell and Suzanne Benson, both of the Albright area, were nominated.

The candidate receiving the most votes serves a three-year term as the elected county committee member. The person receiving the second most votes serves a three-year term as the first alternate. Because there are two nominees, there will be no second alternate for the LAA.

Approximately one-third of the nearly 8,000 committee seats nationwide are up for election annually. Newly elected committee members and alternates will take office Jan. 1, 2012.

Producers can learn more about FSA county committees by visiting the Preston County FSA office, located in the Corner Mall of the Kingwood Plaza, by calling 304-329-1923, or going online to http://www.fsa.usda.gov/pas/.

BLITHE SPIRIT BEING PRESENTED AT WVU – "Life can be complicated if your first wife doesn't like your second wife. Life can be very complicated if your first wife is dead and doesn't like your second wife," a spokesperson from the WVU School of Theatre about next week's production of Blithe Spirit. "In this witty script by Noël Coward, one man finds himself in this predicament after a dinner with an eccentric medium. Now he must deal with the haunting presence of his first wife and the shrill badgering from his second wife. Through the experience the man comes to learn that 'til death do us part' is a total lie." WVU MFA acting students performing in the show, pictured from left, are Sarah Lemanski, Greg Jernigan, and Megan Massie. The play opens Thursday, Nov. 17, in the Gladys G. Davis Theatre of the Creative Arts Center, Morgantown, and will continue on Nov. 18, and then Nov. 29 through Dec. 3 at 7:30 p.m., and a 2 p.m. matinee on Sunday, Dec. 4. For tickets, persons should call 304-293-SHOW or go to www.ticketmaster.com. It is under the direction of Prof. Jenna Cole.

STUDENT PRODUCTION SLATED AT NHS – Northern High School will present its fall play, Over the River and Through the Woods, by Joe DiPietro, on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18 and 19, at 7 p.m. in the NHS cafeteria. Tickets will be $5 at the door. This production, featuring 12 student actors, is a comedy about the strong ties of a modern Italian family. Throughout the play, the main character, Nick, must understand how his grandparents have shaped the man he has become, and how he can carry on their legacies without being controlled by their old-fashioned ideas. "Complete with family fights and humorous tales of the 'good old days,' this play will remind you that despite differences and disputes, family will always be there," said NHS theater teacher Jennifer Virts. From left in front are Blair Upole, Katie Beltzel, and Cameron Friend. In the back are Samantha Edwards, Lydia Powell, Jack Chilcoat, Madi Sines, Alex Dyche, and Sara Paul. Not pictured are Jenna Duckworth, Zak Lee, Dallas Hetrick, Asa Archer, and Talan Garner.

WVU Symphony Orchestra Slates Classics Concert

The West Virginia University Symphony Orchestra will present its third concert of the 2011-2012 season on Thursday, Nov. 17, featuring George Gershwin's Piano Concerto in F, with pianist James Miltenberger, WVU professor of piano, as soloist, and including Hector Berlioz's Symphonie Fantastique, under the direction of Mitchell Arnold, WVU's director of Orchestral Activities. Miltenberger's performance marks his 50th year of teaching at WVU.

The performance begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Lyell B. Clay Concert Theatre of the Creative Arts Center.

Marching Bands Make Trip To ACCs In Hershey

The Southern and Northern Garrett high school marching bands both traveled to Hershey, Pa., the last weekend in October to compete in the Atlantic Coast Championships (ACC), held at the Hershey Park Stadium. The bands, both in Group I (based on the number of playing members), were in a field of 30 competitors from across the East Coast.

The two local marching bands were close in scoring throughout the competitive season. On Oct. 23, a week before the ACC event, Southern was ranked 29th in a field of 35, and Northern was 30th. On Oct. 9, Northern was at 23 and Southern at 24. Going into the ACCs, Northern had the edge over Southern, 28 to 30.

At the Hershey event, Southern went on first, competing at about 2:30 in the afternoon on Sunday, Oct. 30. The group earned its highest score of the season, an 82.95. Northern went on a short time later and scored an 80.5. At the close of the event, Southern was 27th and Northern was 29th.

"I am very proud of the accomplishments of the Northern band this year," said director Duane Salisbury. "After a few rough years, it looks like the ship has been returned to the proper course. Now that Atlantic Coast Championships are over, we will begin looking toward next year. It is our desire to move even farther forward with our band program.

"The students and staff of the Northern band want to congratulate the Southern Band," Salisbury continued. "It was truly great to see both our bands in the championships and recognized as finalists. Both bands have great students who work exceptionally hard and sacrifice a great deal to participate. Garrett County should be proud of both bands."

Joshua Elmlinger is at the helm of Southern.

"We had a very complicated show this year that challenged the kids musically, with the drill and guard work," Elmlinger said. "There was a lot they had to communicate and I think they did an excellent job. It's always emotional to see these kids strive so hard to learn what we give them. Being a band director is a lot of responsibility, but when the kids respond by working so hard and spending so much time on the material, as staff we have much more responsibility back on our shoulders.

"I am so proud of everything they've accomplished this year, and proud of the way they represent Southern High School, both with their performances and their conduct. I am so fortunate to have such wonderful, kind, noble, and hardworking kids in our band. They are truly the cream of the crop and I love them all. We have a band at Southern High School that our entire community should be very, very proud of."

While the competition season has come to a close, both bands will participate in community events throughout the year. Students interested in joining the bands should contact the director at their high school for information.

Adorable Adoptables

This year the Maryland State Highway Administration (SHA) is using a new tool and new strategies to battle winter storms.

"The new tool is an exciting piece of equipment first tested by the Missouri Department of Transportation," an SHA spokesperson said.

Known as the "tow plow," it is towed behind and to the side of SHA maintenance trucks to plow the center lane in a snow plow "train." The engine-less equipment frees the maintenance truck it replaces to cover other areas, and reduces fuel costs and emissions. The tow plow also has the capability to apply salt or salt brine to the road.

The tow plow has gained national attention through the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials' Technology Implementation Group (TIG). TIG promotes technological advancements in transportation and encourages implementation of new technology in the transportation marketplace.

Other innovations for winter include the addition of snow volunteers who, as part of their normal commute, will report roadway conditions to SHA. "Snow Squad" volunteers will help SHA provide real-time conditions to the traveling public.

"SHA prepares for the winter season all year long," said Darrell Mobley, Maryland Department of Transportation deputy secretary and acting SHA administrator. "Even during the hottest days of the summer, teams were securing the chemicals and preparing equipment needed to battle winter's wrath. Every year we work hard to deliver bare pavement as soon as possible in order to keep Maryland open for business. This year we've added eight more cameras for roadway monitoring, tow plows and a snow patrol."

Preparations include

Northern Denied First Region Title In 3-2 Shootout With Brunswick

The #1 ranked Northern High School girls' soccer team fell in a 3-2 shootout with Brunswick after 100 minutes of scoreless regulation play in the Maryland 1A West Region Championship, Tuesday night in Accident. Had things gone the other way, the Huskies would have been named West Region Champions and advanced to the state finals for the first time in school history.

Northern earned a spot in the region title game after Sydney McFarland had a goal and an assist to lead her team to a semifinal victory over Smithsburg last Thursday. That game, hosted by the Huskies, ended with a score of 2-1.

Smithsburg's Rachel Poffenberger struck first for the visiting team with an unassisted goal at 29:58. The score of 1-0 held into the half.

To open the second period, McFarland booted an unassisted goal for Northern at 32:34 and tied it 1-1. McFarland then assisted a Madi Gallagher goal with 14:14 left, setting the final tally to 2-1, and advancing the Huskies to the region title match.

Northern had 15 shots on goal and two corner kicks. Smithsburg attempted eight shots and two corner kicks.

Alex Diehl had 12 saves in goal for Northern, while Corinne Burke had three stops for Smithsburg.

In the hard-fought, evenly matched game on Tuesday, both Northern and Brunswick attempted 11 shots and had eight saves. The Huskies attempted four corner kicks, while the Railroaders tried two through regulation and the two overtimes that were played before the sudden death shootout was called.

Brunswick earned the victory over Northern after the two teams alternated penalty kicks.

The Railroaders' leading scorer Dara Demich began the shootout and booted one to the left of Husky defender Alex Diehl. Diehl, who has proved to be one of the region's best goalies throughout the year, stopped two kicks in the series, but was unable to hold off shots by Demich and then Railroaders Katie Walls and Marissa Stepler.

Walls kicked far into the right end of the net, while Stepler was last to score for Brunswick.

Brunswick's goalie Tara Shriver denied the first Husky shot, which came courtesy of Sydney Bennett.

Gabrielle Daniels put in Northern's first penalty kick, sending the ball over the head of Shriver and into the back of the net.

The third Husky attempt was by Kiersten Butler, whose shot bounced off the cross bar and went wide.

McFarland scored successful penalty shot number two for Northern, driving her kick to the right of the defender and into the net. Teammate Brittany Carney had the final kick for Northern. The tying kick sailed toward the net, but was snatched out of the air by Shriver, effectively ending the Huskies' impressive season and playoff run.

Northern finishes its 2011 campaign 13-3-1 overall.

HUSKIES EDGED IN REGION TITLE MATCH – After a season filled with prolific scoring drives and stingy defensive play, the Northern High School girls' soccer team saw its playoff hopes dashed after a 3-2 overtime shootout loss to Brunswick on Tuesday night. The competitors battled through 100 minutes of scoreless play in the Class 1A West Region Championship game before the sudden death round was called. Pictured above left is Husky Sydney McFarland (#11, right) jockeying for control of the ball with a Brunswick defender. McFarland's goal and assist in the previous match against Smithsburg earned the Huskies their shot at the region title. Lais Awarded All-Conference Honors

Elijah Lais, a former soccer standout at Northern High School and now one of the all-time leading scorers in the history of the Goucher College men's soccer program, has been named a member of the 2011 All-Landmark Conference Men's Soccer Team.

Lais, a senior, and freshman teammate Brandon Weiner of Derwood, a defender, are among the 24 student athletes who were named to the team via a ballot by the conference's eight head coaches. The selections were made by position and 12 players were placed on the All-Landmark first team. The remaining 12, including Lais and Weiner, were named to the second team.

Lais supplied the Gophers with four goals and four assists for a team-leading total of 12 points in 2011 to become only the seventh player in program history to score at least 20 goals during his career. He was credited with the game-winning goals in 1-0 victories over Penn St. Berks on Sept. 3 and Juniata on Oct. 1.

Lais, a 2008 graduate of Northern, is the son of Lynn and Janice Lais, Grantsville.

BAKER, MASON PACE HUSKIES – Northern High School seniors Alex Baker and Josh Mason concluded their high school football careers with a bang last Friday at home, as they led the Huskies to a 36-6 victory over cross-county rival Southern. On offense, Baker rushed for 268 yards and four touchdowns, while Mason finished with 179 yards and two TDs. Closing in on Baker in the photo above is Southern's Mikail Perrine. Other Rams identifable in the photo are Stan Brown (#79), Cole Sanders (#74), and Scott Cooper (#35). Mason is pictured below gaining some of his yardage just prior to being stopped by Ram Zack Knotts. Others in the photo are Northern's Cody Rodeheaver (#26), who led his defensive unit with seven tackles and a pair of interceptions; and Southern defenders Brown (#79), Perrine (#53), Danny Sisio (#20), and Sanders (#74). Baker and Mason were also among the Huskies' defensive leaders, as Baker recorded six tackles and two interceptions, and Mason finished with an inception, a fumble recovery, and a blocked extra-point attempt. Pictured above right is a group of Husky fans demonstrating their school spirit and proving that they are good spellers. Huskies Conclude Season With 10th Straight Victory Over Rams Another outstanding offensive performance by senior Alex Baker led the Northern High School varsity football team to its 10th consecutive victory over county rival Southern last Friday evening at the Cove, as the Huskies broke open a relatively close game with three touchdowns in the final period to record a 36-6 win.

Baker rushed for 268 yards and four touchdowns, his first six-pointer coming on the very first play from scrimmage, as he broke through the Ram defensive unit and raced 73 yards to paydirt. The run for the conversion failed, but the Huskies would never trail in the game from that point.

Josh Mason doubled the Huskies' point total on Northern's next drive, which he capped with a 4-yard TD run. Josh Sines' pass for the conversion was no good.

There would be no more scoring until just under four minutes left before halftime, when Baker carried the ball 9 yards for a touchdown. The conversion kick failed, and the Huskies led 18-0.

The Rams answered just 33 seconds later, as Kurt Gangler fired a 47-yard touchdown pass to Zack Knotts. The PAT kick by Wyatt McBee was blocked.

The Rams nearly cut the Husky lead again in the final moments of the second quarter, but the threat was halted when Baker intercepted a Gangler aerial in the end zone.

After a scoreless third quarter, which featured a couple more turnovers by each team, Mason scored 50 seconds into the final period on a 2-yard carry. The conversion run was no good, and the Huskies led 24-6.

Northern's Baker recorded his third and fourth touchdowns after that, one on a 26-yard carry and the other on a 20-yard run. The respective run and kick for the conversions both failed.

Mason also excelled on offense, as he finished with 179 yards and two touchdowns on 34 carries. In all, the Huskies amassed 411 rushing yards and an offensive total of 524.

The Rams were held to a total of 194 yards, with only 77 on the ground.

Leading the Husky defense were Cody Rodeheaver with seven tackles and a pair of interceptions, Baker with six tackles and two picks, Zack Myers with four tackles, includmg a sack, Chris Murdock with three tackles and a fumble recovery, and Mason with an interception, a fumble recovery, and a blocked extra point.

Recording one interception each for the Rams were Gangler, Knotts, and Derek Noble.

The win left the Huskies with an overall record of 6-4, while the Rams dropped to 4-6. Despite the winning record, the Huskies had been eliminated from the regional playoffs even before Friday's game, as Brunswick was too far out in front in the point total.

"The game was actually closer than the final score and the statistics would lead you to believe," said Northern head coach Phil Carr. "If Alex Baker had not intercepted that pass in the end zone right before the half, it could have been an 18-14 game going into the third quarter. That really gave the momentum back to us."

Carr noted that it was the third straight game that the Huskies scored on their very first offensive play.

"We tell our kids to try to get a fast start to set the tone for the game, and I guess you can't get any faster than that."

Carr gave credit to the Rams' effort.

"They did a nice job of shutting down several of the things that we used successfully before, and we had to make adjustments to counter that," he said. "The game was really pretty sloppy, with all of the turnovers, but we did a little better job executing in the second half."

The Huskies won six of their final seven games, and nearly upset Mountain Ridge in that run, even though they lost their starting quarterback Pat Sines in the second game of the season.

Sines did make it back for the Huskies' final two games

"We not only missed Pat, but we went into the Frankfort game with five of our starters out," Carr said, "so we were really proud of how our guys stepped up and played well under tough circumstances. They made great adjustments and gave it their all."

One of the reasons that the Huskies adjusted well was no doubt the senior leadership on the team.

"It was Senior Night, and when all of our seniors were being recognized, I looked back at our bench and there were only about nine guys standing there," Carr said.

"Five of our guys have started for us the past three years – Cody Rodeheaver, Pat Sines, Alex Baker, Josh Mason, and Zach Meyers – so that's a lot of experience that is really going to be missed," he said.

Carr said that, while he was pleased that his seniors, and the team in general, garnered a victory in their final game, he is disappointed that the Huskies will not have an opportunity in the playoffs.

"It's nice to close with a win and to have a winning season, but I really wish we were still practicing and getting ready for the playoffs," he concluded.

The Lakers recorded a deeisive 92-69 win over Penn Highlands in Friday's second game of the tourney, but then fell in overtime, 98-87, to unbeaten Potomae State College on Saturday

Antonio Butler led the Lakers offensively in their victory over Penn, as he finished with 18 points. Din Moore and Theo Dubuche also reached double figures with 13 points eaeh

Freshman Guila Panzo came off the beneh to grab 13 boards for the Lakers, while freshman point guard Matt Gibson dished out eight assists.

In each half of the contest against Potomac State, the Lakers fell way behind but then eame storming baek to tie up the score, ultimately sending the game into the extra period.

The Lakers trailed by as many as 19 points in the first half before cutting the gap to 10 points by halftime, 47-37. Then after being down by as many as 20 in the second half, once again the home team rallied and took a two-point lead with about three minutes to play in regulation, which ended with the score knotted at 83-83.

The Lakers nearly pulled off the victory before the OT, having possession of the ball with 15 seconds left on the eloek and with the seore tied. But they turned the ball over with just a second left and thus did not get off what may have been a winning shot.

The Lakers managed only four points in the OT period, while the Catamounts, led by Carlton Johnson, added 15 to secure their third straight win in as many starts this season.

The biggest offensive nemesis for the Lakers was PSC's Johnson, who ripped the nets for 30 points, including nine in the overtime period. Ishmail Sesay was elose behind with 27 points, Mieah Parker netted 11, and Jaron Farrell hit 10.

Pacmg the Lakers in scoring was Armond Perez, who scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Antonio Butler recorded 18 points, Gibson netted 15 points all in the second half, Din Moore finished with 14 points, and Jordan Grady had 10.

The Lakers will return to action in yet another home tournament (MeDonald's Classie) this weekend. The event will feature both men's and women's games, with the Laker women slated to open their campaign.

The Potomac State College women will take on Erie CC in Saturday's first game, which will tip off at 2 p.m.

The Laker men will then face Erie CC in a 4 p.m. start, which will be followed by a contest between the GC women and Patrick Henry at 6 p.m. The final game of the evening, to begin at 8 p.m., will pit the Laker men against Patrick Henry Saturday's schedule will begin at noon with the PSC women vs. Patrick Henry. The PSC men will then play Patrick Henry in a 2 p.m. start. The Garrett women will face off against Erie CC in the 4 p.m. game, and the GC men will take on Erie CC at 6 p.m.

"There should be some good eompetition in this tournament," said Laker men's coach Dennis Gibson. "Erie is ranked #3 in the nation in Division 2 NJCAA, and Patrick Henry and Potomac State also have very good teams, so the games should be fast-paced with a lot of action."

Garreti s men's and women's teams will also be in action next Wednesday when they host Butler CC, with the women's game slated to begin at 5 p.m. and the men's contest tipping off at 7 p.m.

named the LKC Coach of the Year three times, as well as the Roane County Citizen of the Year in 1977. Woods' squads in '74, '76, and '77 were LKC champions, and the 1977 squad also won the AA-A Region 1 championship.

Woods also served as an official in the sport of wrestling for 25 years. As an official, he was known for his professional demeanor and consisteney on the mats. He refereed 16 West Virginia state tournaments and six Maryland state championships. He was named the West Virginia' State Official of the Year in 1993.

"Tom Woods' career has taken two paths in the sport – the eoaching path and the official's path – either of which alone would have resulted in credentials meriting Hall of Fame recognition," stated Mike Clair, executive director of the West Virginia chapter, who made the presentations.

In his acceptance speech, Woods noted that there is a passion which exists in the sport, and this passion exists in both coaehing and offieiating.

"I recall countless hours we would spend reviewing the day's matehes, the mechanics of officiating, and the evaluation of the day's performance," he said. "No official wants to be guilty of a missed call or faulty judgment which might influenee the outeome of the match."

In Garrett County high school athletics, Woods was best known for his sueeess as head football coach for the Southern Rams. His teams captured a dozen Highland Football Conference or Potomae Valley Conference titles, won five regional championships, and qualified eight times as state semi-finalists. Three of his teams (1979, '80, and '95) were state ehampion runners-up.

In 19 years at the helm, Woods' teams amassed an overall reeord of 143-60, for a winning percentage of 70%. Woods was named a member of the Maryland High School Football Coaches Hall of Fame in 2006.

Woods also served Southern as a teacher and athletie director, and was school principal for eight years until his retirement in 2008.

Woods and his wife Debbie, also a retired Garrett County educator, reside in Mtn. Lake Park. They are the parents of two sons, Joshua and Andrew, and the grandparents of four

Eddington Leads Southern Jayvees Over Northern

A 209-yard, four-touchdown rushing effort by Jeff Eddington paced the Southern High junior varsity football team to a 32-12 victory over visiting Northern last Thursday.

Eddington put the Rams on top for good when he scored on a 12-yard carry in the first quarter and also ran successfully for the conversion.

The Huskies then rallied for six points early in the second stanza when Austin Lease picked up a blocked punt and returned it 31 yards to the end zone. The run for the extra points was stopped short.

Eddington, who scored 30 of the Rams' 32 points, put his team up 16-6 when he scored on a 70-yard carry late in the second period, and again ran for the conversion.

The third period was more of the same, with Eddington scoring via a 29-yard run and taking the ball in for the two extra points, giving Southern a 24-6 lead.

The final period featured a 27-yard touchdown run by Eddington, followed by a two-point conversion carry by Collin Lewis, which concluded the Rams' scoring.

The Huskies tacked on a late touchdown on a 1-yard dive by Skyler Barkman. The conversion run failed.

Eddington carried the ball 21 times. Pacing the Ram defese were Seth Kisner and Travis newton, who recorded 10 and eight tackles, respectively.

Steelers Topped By Steelers In Li'l Super Bowl

The Division 1 Northern Steelers of the Cumberland Area Youth Football League earned a spot in the league's Little Super Bowl for the third time in the past six seasons, but for the third time missed bringing home the championship trophy, as they were stopped in the title game this year by the Keyser Steelers, 32-8, on the Northern High School gridiron.

Keyser's Bobby Horner opened the scoring with a 16-yard touchdown run in the first quarter, and Jake Poland's conversion kick made it 8-0.

The visitors doubled their lead when Amonte Turner scored via a 13-yard carry, and Poland was again successful on the conversion kick.

After a scoreless third period, Northern pared the lead to 16-8 late in the fourth when Logan Yommer fired a 10-yard TD pass to Brady Bittinger, and Jake Vernon booted the two-point conversion.

But the final few minutes of the contest belonged to the Keyser offense, as Turner scored on a 60-yard run, Aaron Miller threw a 39-yard scoring strike to Cole Weaver, and Poland made good on both conversion kicks.

Kyle Beard recorded 13 tackles and Aaron Rodeheaver had 11 to pace the Northern defensive unit. Austin Evans recovered a fumble.

DNR Plans Junior Deer Hunt Day(s)

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has invited young hunters across Maryland to participate in the 17th annual Maryland Junior Deer Hunt Day on Saturday, Nov. 12. New this year, DNR is extending the opportunity into Sunday, Nov. 13, for those able to hunt on private land in counties that permit Sunday deer hunting. Garrett County allows Sunday hunts.

"The Junior Deer Hunt is a day dedicated to encouraging interest in the tradition of hunting, while demonstrating safe and ethical outdoor skills," said Paul Peditto, director of DNR's Wildlife and Heritage Service.

"The hunt also provides an opportunity to engage the next generation of outdoor enthusiasts in an appreciation of our natural resources."

White-tailed deer and sika deer firearms hunting will be open exclusively to hunters 16 years of age and younger when accompanied by an unarmed, licensed (or exempt from the license requirement) adult, at least 21 years of age.

All hunters participating in the Junior Deer Hunt must pass a Maryland Hunter Education Course, which includes demonstrating proficiency during a practical test and a live firing exercise. The course also includes instruction in hunter responsibility and ethics, safe firearms handling, wildlife management principles and a host of other outdoor fundamentals.

Successful junior deer hunters are encouraged to visit one of Maryland's junior hunter certificate agents and receive a special certificate for any deer they harvest. This certificate is available to junior hunters during any of Maryland's deer hunting seasons. Participating certificate agents as well as complete bag limits, season dates, counties open to Sunday hunting, deer registration procedures and other deer hunting information may be found in the 2011-2012 Maryland Guide to Hunting & Trapping. The guide is issued with each hunting license sold and is also available at dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide.

The DNR urges hunters to carefully inspect all treestands before using them. The use of a full-body safety harness is recommended by the DNR while climbing in and out of a treestand and while in the stand. DNR strongly recommends using a sliding knot, commonly known as a prussic knot, attached to a line that is secured above the stand that allows the hunter to be safely tethered to the tree as soon as he/she leaves the ground. For more information and a video on treestand safety one may visit dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide/ts.asp.

Also new this year, a Chronic Wasting Disease Management Area (land code 233) has been established in a portion of Allegany County, with regulations designed to prevent the unintentional spread of CWD to other locations. Hunters wanting more information may visit dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/Hunt_Trap/deer/disease/cwdinformation.asp, or consult the 2011-2012 Maryland Guide to Hunting and Trapping.

tion and ordered to also pay fines and costs totaling $885.

He was stopped by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy as he was driving his truck south on Garrett Highway. The officer observed Sisler driving in the northbound lane as he crossed the 219 bridge. After making observations of Sisler, including his performance on field sobriety tests, the officer arrested Sisler.

The "per se" violation was based on the results of his breath test, which was a .21 BAC (blood alcohol content), the state's attorney noted.

In other Circuit Court proceedings last week, Harman Scott Metzger, 48, South Park, Pa., pleaded guilty to negligent operation of a pontoon boat. Sherbin imposed fines and court costs totaling $385.

Maryland Natural Resources Police charged Metzger in June after observing him operating the boat on Deep Creek Lake.

Weather Trivia

Is there a difference between a frost and a hard freeze?

Answer: A hard freeze is when the temperature is 26 degrees or less for four hours. It does not need to be this cold for frost to form.

Weather History

Nov. 11, 1955 - An early arctic outbreak set many November temperature records across Oregon and Washington. The severe cold damaged shrubs and fruit trees. Readings plunged to near zero in western Washington and hit 19 degrees below zero in the eastern part of the state.

Nov. 12, 1974 - A great Alaska storm in the Bering Sea caused the worst coastal flooding of memory at Nome, Alaska with a tide of 13.2 feet. The flooding caused 12 million dollars in damage, but no lives were lost.

Detailed Local Forecast

Today we will see mostly cloudy skies with a 60% chance of snow, high temperature of 35°, humidity of 34%. West wind 15 to 18 mph. The record high temperature for today is 72° set in 2006. Expect partly cloudy skies tonight with an overnight low of 29°. The record low for tonight is 7° set in 1973. Saturday, skies will be sunny with a high temperature of 51°, humidity of 47%. Skies will be mostly clear Saturday night with an overnight low of 36°. Expect mostly sunny skies Sunday with a high temperature of 59°.

Beards Mark 50th Anniversary

Beverly and David Beard of Oakland recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family dinner at Dutch's at Silver Tree. The dinner was followed by a surprise party hosted by the couple's children, Kelley Barron and Michael Beard, in the lower level of the restaurant.

The Beards were married on Nov 4, 1961, at Sts. Peter and Paul Catholic Church in Cumberland. The two were students at Frostburg State Teachers College at the time. David is a retired civics teacher and a former Garrett County commissioner. Beverly is a retired assistant director at the Garrett County Department of Social Services.

Attending the family dinner was Janet Wallett of Finksburg, the couple's maid of honor. She was accompanied by her husband. After the dinner the group moved downstairs, where approximately 70 guests were assembled for the surprise celebration.

Marriage Permits Recently Issued

Two couples recently applied for their marriage licenses, according to Sondra R. Buckel, clerk of the Garrett County Circuit Court.

RETIRES FROM TREASURY DEPARTMENT – Garrett County native Joseph Ash recently retired from the U.S. Treasury Department after 30+ years of service to his country. He is a 1973 graduate of Southern Junior-Senior High School and the son of the late Robert and Mary Ash, who lived in the Swallow Falls area. A retirement luncheon was held in Ash's honor by his co-workers at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D.C. Honored guests included Domenick Palmer, Martinsburg, W.Va., and Ash's sisters, Carrie Sines, Ridgeley, W.Va.; Leota Gardner, Baltimore; and Roberta Baker, Oakland. Ash first served 10 years with the U.S. Army. His first assignment was with the Army Executive Flight Detachment, Ft. Belvoir, Va., as an administration clerk for a company of 90 military personnel. He was then assigned to the White House Communications Agency at Camp David, where he was the senior enlisted officer on the advance team that was responsible for setting up worldwide communications in preparation for presidential visits. After his departure from the Army, Ash obtained a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Shepherd University. Following graduation, he began work at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, as an accountant, where he then served for 20+ years. Ash currently resides in Martinsburg, W.Va., where he is an active member of St. Leo Catholic Church, the International Cake Exploration Societe, the Knights of Columbus, Elks, and VFW. Pictured, left to right, following a tour of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing facility are Palmer, Ash, Sines, Gardner, and Baker.

SHA Unleashes

340,000 tons of salt and 770,000 gallons of salt brine to pre-treat SHA's highway system.

Before the Storm

SHA will pre-treat interstates in advance of a storm. Pre-treating roadways using salt brine (liquidized salt) – in some cases a salt brine/sugar beet molasses mixture – helps keeps ice and snow from sticking or bonding to the pavement at the onset of a storm.

"This allows crews to be 'ahead of the game' and reduces overall salt usage because of salt scatter, which is when salt rolls off the roadway," the spokesperson said.

Pre-treating will not take place if a storm is forecast to begin as rain because the brine solution will wash off and be ineffective. SHA currently has 11 salt brine facilities and stores brine at 66 sites across the state.

SHA is continuing to pre-deploy heavy-duty tow trucks to assist tractor trailers should they become disabled during a storm. SHA can deploy up to 17 heavy-duty trucks.

CELEBRATING 40 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

Adventure Sports Grad Marcelo Grisi Is Guest Speaker At Garrett

by Sharon Elsey

Marcelo Grisi, a graduate of the Adventure Sports Program at Garrett College, recently spoke to GC students about his business in his hometown of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

His company, Nao Deixando Rastros, provides therapeutic recreation to the blind and those with Down syndrome, including guided tours around the island on backpacking trips, climbing walls, zip-lining into the ocean from white sandy beaches, plus waterfall rappelling. He also works with educational institutions to provide self-esteem building exercises for youth through these ventures. Grisi credited his education at Garrett College for his career and noted, "It has been the corner stone of my business."

In his presentation, Grisi explained the importance of risk management, "Leave No Trace" principles, therapeutic recreation, and sustainability.

Because of his risk management policies, he explained, his business has not experienced any negative incidents. He noted the importance of providing safety measures by using a counting system to check and double-check all the steps to ensure that every aspect of his set-up is done properly.

"Customers will often ask questions while I'm setting up the safeguards, and I politely note that I will answer their questions once everything is set up," he said. "The procedures ensure a fun trip for the clients, where risks have been well managed."

Grisi's "Leave No Trace" policies have earned him the respect of local agencies, plus his record of safety has resulted in a good reputation that allows him access to the parks where none of the other vendors have been permitted to provide services.

Working with people with disabilities, such as the blind and those with Down syndrome, has been the most rewarding part of his business, he said, because of the joy of the participants.

"I hold this part of my work close to my heart," he said.

Grisi talked about working with people who have never tried anything "out of their comfort zones." As an example, he said that there was a child who didn't think he could do the rappelling down the waterfall.

"Once I talked him and his mother into it, they tried it and were successful," he said. "I told the young man that when he is afraid that he won't be able to do something in school to push forward and try it. That boy is now much more successful in school and his mother understands how adventure sports activities help in other areas of her child's life."

The sustainability of his program is key to his community and to the participants, he pointed out. Some of the residents did not understand the importance of having such a business in their area. However, once he began hiring and training local workers, and paying them much better wages, they began to listen.

He noted that prior to establishing his business, local companies were paying low wages – about $200 per month – and providing substandard training. Grisi's company pays about $1,000 per month and trains employees in high-risk management and his "Leave No Trace" ethics.

Grisi noted that not only does he offer a good wage, but his business also provides a positive economic trickle-down effect, by hiring boats to transport clients to and from the islands, paying people to pick up clients at the international airport, and increasing restaurant business. He said he puts together "packages" that will include use of his business as well as others in the area.

As Marcelo closed his presentation, he offered one-month internships for Adventure Sports students to come and work with him in Brazil. According to Mike Logsdon, director of the Adventure Sports Program at Garrett College, such an opportunity could be developed in the future.

"Marcelo is the model of what we want our students to pursue if their goals are to have a career in adventure sports," said Logsden, noting his drive and determination. "Marcelo has really brought together his love of adventure sports and creating a viable business that is important to his local economy."

Anyone interested in visiting Marcelo Grisi's English web site will find it at http://www.ndr.com.br/programs-promotions.html.

Public Invited To National Roll Call Of Fallen Soldiers

The public is invited to attend the national roll call of military veterans that will be held in the Garrett College auditorium this Friday, Nov 11, from 8:40 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Volunteer readers from the campus and the community will read more 6,300 names of service men and women who lost their lives in combat over the last 10 years. A closing ceremony will take place at 4:30 p.m.

For more information, persons may call Kathy Fauber, veterans affairs counselor, at 301-387-3057.

Liz Show Joins GC Athletic Dept.

The Garrett College Athletic Department recently welcomed Liz Show in the position of head athletic trainer and coordinator of athletic social media. Show had previously served in the trainer capacity at GC.

"I was here from 2005 to 2008 as athletic trainer, and I taught physical education classes," she said. "When my first child was born, I took some time off to spend with my baby."

Last year Show served as athletic trainer for Garrett on a part-time basis and was ready to move into the full-time slot this semester. As an athletic trainer, her goal is to help student athletes prevent injuries by remaining fit and managing risk. According to a GC faculty spokesperson, she is well qualified to fill the role she has assumed.

As an undergraduate at Waynesburg (Pa.) University, Show earned her degree with a major in sports medicine and a minor in exercise medicine. She went on to study at the University of Pittsburgh, where she earned a master's degree in sports medicine.

"I am really pleased to be back at Garrett College full time because I enjoy working as an athletic trainer," she said. "I can also continue teaching some of the health classes."

Garrett athletic director Shawn Noel said he is "very happy" to have Show on his staff.

"It's great to have Liz with us. I know she will do a great job for our athletes," he said.

For information on the athletic programs at Garrett College, persons are invited to go online to www.garrettcollege.edu/athletics.

Holocaust Voices To Be Presented In Lecture Series

"Voices from the Holocaust," the final fall offering of the Joan Crawford Lecture Series at Garrett College, is scheduled for next Wednesday, Nov 16, at noon in Room 511. The lecture, which is free and open to the public, will be presented by Beth Luers, professor of humanities, and GC students Cherra Mathis, Jack Paugh, Erin-Ruth Natividad, and Jaleesa McLee.

Each student will assume the role of a Holocaust victim and explore his/her personal stories which reveal different aspects of events. Students will represent Martin Gray, Sophie Magdalena Scholl, Lisa Jura, and Krystyna Chiger.

"The individuals whom they selected to portray give a glimpse of history from various perspectives," said Luers.

Gray, a survivor of the horrors of the prison camps, tells a story of a world in upheaval. Originally named Mietek Grayewski, he was born in 1922 in Warsaw, Poland. From 1939 to 1945, during the Nazi invasion of Poland, Gray was arrested several times as a ghetto combatant and condemned by the Nazis. He escaped from Treblinka, as well as several other concentration camps, but lost his entire family – 110 members – to the Holocaust.

Scholl was a student at the University of Munich when she became involved in the White Rose, a non-violent, passive resistance organization which exposed the abominations of the Third Reich. Though not Jewish, she had been horrified by hearing of the mass killings of Jews and other reports of the behavior of the Germans on the Eastern Front. Passing out leaflets telling about these atrocities, Scholl was arrested, convicted of high treason, condemned, and executed on the guillotine by the Nazis. She was 22.

Krystyna Chiger of Lvov, Poland, was 7 years old in 1943 when 150,000 Jews had been exiled, killed, or forced into ghettos and faced extermination by the Nazis. Chiger's family joined a group of 20 Polish Jews who sought refuge in the city's sewer system. For 14 months they endured the dank, dark, fetid underground, and their numbers dwindled. Sewer workers brought them food and helped these people survive until Russian forces liberated the city. At age 11, Krystyna was interviewed and told the story of her family's struggle to survive.

Lisa Jura, a Jewish musical prodigy, escaped from Nazi-controlled Austria to England on the Kindertransport, the rescue mission that took place nine months prior to the outbreak of World War II. Through this humanitarian effort, nearly 10,000 predominantly Jewish children were rescued from Nazi Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and the free city of Danzig. The children were placed in British foster homes, hostels, and farms. Jura's journey eventually led her to the Willesden Lane Orphanage, where her music inspired the other orphanage children, and they encouraged her to pursue her dream of becoming a musician.

Garrett College Receives Grant From Tucker CF

The Tucker Community Foundation has awarded a $500 grant to Garrett College in support of the Project Learning Tree® program, a professional development curriculum for in-service and pre-service educators. The environmental education program links the environmental literacy standard into the educator's respective subject area. In 2011 Maryland became the first state to pass regulations that require all high school students to be "environmentally literate" in order to graduate from high school.

Recommendations for grant awards totaling more than $47,500 were approved at the Oct. 19 board meeting of the Tucker Community Foundation. Grants support programs and projects related to the arts, parks and recreation, animal welfare, health, libraries and literacy programs, churches, educational programs, emergency services, youth, education, historic preservation, senior citizens, and general charitable purposes.

Funding for designated and competitive grants is provided by endowed funds established by donors to benefit local causes. Additional income is provided by pass-through donations, Kep and Alice Smith Trust income, and other unrestricted funds. Persons are invited to go online to www.tuckerfoundation.net to view a complete list of endowed funds.

The foundation offers three grant programs: mini-grants, Run-For-It grants, and fall grants. Scholarship awards are offered in the spring.

Tucker Community Foundation serves Barbour, Grant, Mineral, Preston, Pocahontas, Randolph, and Tucker counties in West Virginia, and Garrett County. For more information, persons may telephone 304-478-2930.

SADD EVENT DEEMED SUCCESSFUL – Representatives from 4-H and each of the seven Garrett County Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) groups participated in "The Weekend," a free youth leadership camp held at the Western Maryland 4-H Center in late September. SADD promotes youth development and empowers students to get involved in leading their peers toward good decision making. For more than a quarter century, SADD has been recognized as a national leader in distracted driving, alcohol and drug education, and prevention. A total of 30 Garrett County SADD members and eight adults attended this year's camp, where the focus was giving youth the tools to step up and create real solutions to real issues in their schools and communities. Most of the skill building workshops this year were youth led, which supports SADD's philosophy that young people empowered to help each other are the most effective force in prevention. Participants each earned eight service learning hours while enjoying an event packed with fun activities, including a campfire, a dance with Sounds Fun Entertainment, canoeing, fishing, archery, a challenge course, and volleyball. Every participant also received a free sweatshirt hoodie. The Weekend was sponsored by the Garrett County Health Department and the Western Maryland 4-H Extension Office. Any Garrett County middle or high school youth interested in becoming a SADD member may contact Brenda Sisler at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111. Ask The Everyday Scientist

ENERGY-SAVING TIPS

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Are there ways that I can save energy at home without doing a major repair project?

A. There are dozens of simple little things that anyone can do, at very little cost and taking very little time. Here are three examples, to get your thinking started:

Put weather-stripping around your door frame

If you had a 4-inch hole in your wall, you'd patch it, right?

But consider a door frame which fits "fairly close," having only a 1/16" gap around the perimeter. Since the height of most doors is 78" and the width is about 33", the perimeter of the door adds up to 222". With a 1/16" gap, the area of the opening is about 14 square inches. That's equivalent to a round hole with a 2" radius, or 4" diameter.

In a typical home, heat loss around leaky doors is the most common – and easily preventable – waste of energy. Whether owning or renting, weather stripping is the cheapest thing you can do to save money.

Change your furnace air filters regularly

"Out of sight, out of mind" is the best way to describe furnace filters. They sit in the return air duct at the entry to your furnace or air conditioner, and take out dust from the incoming air stream that has been flowing through your home. Over time they gather a lot of dust, become clogged, and then the total air flow diminishes. With lower efficiency, it takes more fuel or electricity to keep the house comfortable.

A furnace filter is a flat thing made of blue gauze and about a half inch thick. It's a good idea to replace the old ones about every 6 weeks, but many people forget. They slide out very easily; nothing to unscrew, no wiring involved. Hardware stores sell a package of a dozen for about $5. Different furnaces require different sizes, so carry an old one into the hardware store to match it.

More advanced filters that capture finer dust are available for a higher price, and persons with medical/ breathing issues may judge that worthwhile. But everyone can save a little by having their heating/cooling system run more efficiently.

Run your ceiling fan to circulate air

Many people who have a ceiling fan think it's to be turned on only when the room is very hot and humid, in the summertime.

Actually, a ceiling fan can help all year-round by circulating air currents gently throughout much of a household. Without circulating air, the warm air in a room drifts up towards the ceiling and sits there, where it cannot warm the people standing on the floor. This is especially true in a room with a high ceiling.

When a fan goes on, the warm upper layer gets dispersed and air mixes throughout the room, making the temperature more uniform and the occupants more comfortable. The humidity becomes more uniform, too, as air currents travel up or down the walls. That air motion is barely detectable, but it's real.

It costs very little money for the electricity necessary to keep a fan spinning 24/7. The savings comes in reduction of your heating or air conditioning bill, as you stop paying to create a useless warm layer up near the ceiling. You can still leave your thermostat set the same. But the furnace or A/C will switch on less often.

Dr. Sheahen lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com.

Tool To Fight

MY511 on the web site. The SHA reminds motorists to use 511 safely; Maryland law restricts hand-held mobile phone use and texting while driving.

"Outreach to the trucking industry is essential in reducing weather-related congestion," noted the spokesperson. "A single jackknifed tractor trailer can cause significant delays and prevent SHA from treating roadways during the height of a storm. SHA is constantly expanding communications with large trucking firms, trade publications, and radio stations and satellite radio providers whose audience are the trucking community. With real-time knowledge of road conditions, route planners and truckers can use alternate routes and avoid becoming disabled.

Travelers can plan ahead before hitting the pavement by logging onto the cyber highway at www.roads.maryland.gov and clicking on "CHART" (Coordinated Highway Action Response Team). The CHART web site offers travel information, snow emergency plans, real-time traffic camera views, weather information, average travel speed maps, and incident-related road closure reports.

CHART is located at the Statewide Operations Center (SOC) in Hanover, where SHA personnel have access to hundreds of cameras throughout the state.

"The easiest way to report any issues along SHA-maintained highways is through the Customer Care Management System," said the spokesperson. "By logging onto roads.maryland.gov, citizens can go to the 'Contact Us' tab and click on 'Submit a Service Request.' The online submission form is easy to fill out and will be directed to the proper department within SHA to address the issue."

Emergency/Incident Management

SHA will prioritize incident response by using the CHART System. Emergency response teams will respond to incidents that have the potential to create major congestion and cause long backups.

SHA also has access to additional regional camera networks in Maryland.

"At the SOC, SHA monitors pavement temperatures, a key to effective and efficient redeployment during winter storms," the spokesperson noted.

Forensic Nurses Being Honored For Their Work

HEATHER COOPER

The International Association of Forensic Nurses (IAFN) is celebrating Forensic Nurses Week, Nov. 7–11, in recognition of those who provide exceptional care to victims of abuse and violence. In Garrett County, forensic nurse Heather Cooper is being honored for providing that care.

Forensic nursing is the fastest growing nursing subspecialty, according to the IAFN. Forensic nurses are professionals who provide care to patients as sexual assault nurse examiners, death investigators, legal nurse consultants, and in many other roles where both victims and perpetrators of violence require the specialized care of a nurse.

"You are safe" are often the first words heard by survivors of violent acts when forensic nurses are present to provide care in hospitals, clinics, jails, and community settings around the world. Forensic nurses are those with advanced education and training, giving them the skills to deal with the immediate health care consequences of violence.

The World Health Organization (WHO) reports more than 1.6 million people worldwide lose their lives to violence each year, and many more are injured and suffer from a range of physical, sexual, reproductive, and mental health problems.

'WHO reminds us that violence places a huge burden on national economies, costing countries billions each year in health care, law enforcement and lost productivity," said Eileen Allen, president of IAFN. "The 3,000 members of IAFN work alongside fellow nurses and other professionals in more than 25 countries worldwide to address all aspects of violence, including prevention, intervention, and reduction of further harm."

During Forensic Nurses Week, IAFN recognizes the nurses who focus every day to make a difference in the lives of men, women, and children who have experienced the physical and emotional trauma of violence.

IAFN members all over the United States and internationally have written letters to elected officials, put up posters in their facilities, and worn lilac – the official color of forensic nursing.

To support this effort, the IAFN has created a documentary about the profession, highlighting nurses from around the country nominated by their peers for their exceptional care and compassion. It is available for viewing at http://www.youtube.com/ForensicNurses).

The IAFN's mission is to provide leadership in forensic nursing practice by developing, promoting, and disseminating information internationally about forensic nursing science. IAFN also offers certification for sexual assault nurse examiners in both adult/adolescent and pediatric patient care. More information about the association is available at iafn.org.

The next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 1, at 7 p.m. at the town hall.

HOLIDAY BAUBLE TO BENEFIT DOVE CENTER – Simon Pearce has introduced the 2011 Charity Bauble (pictured) for this holiday season. Retailing for $45, the hand-blown glass ornament features the company's classic Corinth-twist. The Simon Pearce Mountain Lake Park retail store (265 Glass Drive) will donate a portion of the proceeds from each ornament sold to the Dove Center, a not-for-profit dedicated to the elimination of domestic and sexual violence through intervention and prevention. The organization was personally selected by the Pearce family for its work in Garrett County. The 2011 Charity Bauble is available for purchase at the Mtn. Lake Park store and online at simonpearce.com. Proceeds from online and phone sales will be split evenly among the six selected charities local to Simon Pearce retail stores.

HART For Animals And Dutch's Join Forces For New Year's Eve Fundraiser

It has been one of HART's most exciting years because of the start of construction of its adoption center on Bumble Bee Road, according to a spokeswoman for the nonprofit volunteer organization.

"To cap 2011 off in style, HART and Dutch's at Silver Tree are hosting a New Year's Eve Celebration that will give both visitors and residents an exciting year-end gala to attend," she said.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 31, and end at 1 a.m. on Jan. 1, 2012. Dutch's is located at 567 Glendale Road, Deep Creek Lake.

Tickets for the event are on sale at Dutch's, the HART Spay/Neuter Clinic, and on the HART web site. The price per ticket is $125, which includes a full dinner with a surf and turf entree of steak and crab cake, complimentary wine service, a champagne toast at midnight, hats and noisemakers, an after-midnight light fare buffet, and $10 in chips for the casino. The ticket price includes gratuities and sales tax.

Tables can be reserved for two, four, six, or eight people, but must be reserved in advance as space is limited to 200 guests.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the Bobby Nicholas Band, which plays a range of music that may appeal to all age groups and musical preferences – from long-running Broadway plays to contemporary, country, oldies-but-goodies, rhythm and blues, and jazz.

"The New Year's Eve celebration is the place to be when at Deep Creek Lake at year's end, particularly for those wishing to end the year with happy feet and a dance in their hearts," said the spokeswoman.

Suggested attire for the event is evening wear.

"Thanks to the generosity of Dutch's owner, Eileen Gideon, HART will hold its Fur Ball Casino and Silent Auction in the beautifully remodeled lower level, with all proceeds going to the HART Building Fund," the spokeswoman added. "In addition, Ms. Gideon has made a generous donation to HART of $5,000, which will be identified as an expression of her generosity when the center opens in the summer of 2012."

County Joins In Observance Of National Home Health Care Month

The Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agency and the Garrett County commissioners joined the nation in proclaiming November as Home Health Carc Month. Officials met last week for the proclamation. See related photograph.

Home Care Explained
Garrett County Health Department

November is National Home Care Month. Although many people have heard of home health care, they do not necessarily know the meaning. Generally, home care is appropriate whencver a person prefers to stay at home but needs ongoing care that cannot easily or effectively bc provided solely by family and friends.

"At the Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agency, we want our patients to receive the very best home care possiblc," said Heather Cooper, director. "Our staff of experienced professionals strives to provide the most comprehensive, advanced, and friendly home health care in the area."

More and more older people are electing to live independent, non-institutionalized lives, and are receiving home care services as their physical capabilities diminish. Younger adults who are disabled or recuperating from acute illness are choosing home care whenevcr possible.

Chronically ill infants and children are receiving sophisticated medical treatment in their loving and secure home environments. Adults and children diagnosed with terminal illness also are being cared for at home, receiving compassionate care and maintaining dignity at the end of life.

As hospital stays decrease, increasing numbers of patients need highly skilled services when they return home. Other patients are able to avoid institutionalization altogether, receiving safe and effective care in the comfort of their own homes.

"When you contact our agency, we respond immediately to your home health needs," Cooper said. "Our team effort provides patients and families with the best quality care available. Your good health is our goal. Our team understands the importance of recuperating at home, and works with our patients to help them attain this goal. If you or a loved onc is in need of skilled care in the home, talk with your physician about making a referral, or if you have questions about the services we could provide to you, please call us."

Mcdicare-certified home health agencies must meet federal and state standards when caring for patients. A doctor's orders are required for care. This order is received in the form of a referral from hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, and physicians' offices. Medicare-certified agencies deliver "skilled" nursing care and therapeutic services such as occupational therapy, physical therapy, and speech therapy.

Medicare-certified agencies deliver "brief and intermittent care" as well, meaning they work from a doctor's order that only runs for 60 days. Doctors can renew these orders when an individual needs additional in-home, skilled care for longer than 60 days.

Medicare recently required that each Certified Home Health Agcncy add a new requirement when accepting patients into care, the Face-to-Face certification. The Face-to-Face requirement states that an individual must see a physician who certifies a patient as eligible for Medicare home health services either within 90 days prior or 30 days after the start of home health care.

Home care providers deliver a wide variety of health care and supportive services. These can range from professional nursing and home health aide scrvices to physical, occupational, rcspiratory, and speech therapies.

Registered nurses (RNs) and licensed practical nurses (LPNs) provide skilled services, including such services as injections and intravcnous therapy, wound care, education on disease treatment and prevention, and patient assessmcnts. RNs may also provide case management serviccs.

Home health aides assist patients with activities of daily living (ADLs) such as getting in and out of bed, walking, bathing, toilet needs, and dressing. Some aides have received additional training and are qualified to provide more complex services under the supervision of a nursing professional.

Physical therapists (PTs) work to restore the mobility and strength of patients who are limited or disabled by physical injuries through the use of exercise, massage and other techniques. PTs also often alleviate pain and restore injured muscles with specialized equipment, and teach patients and caregivers special techniques for walking and transfcr.

Occupational therapists (OTs) help individuals who have physical, developmental, social, or emotional problems that prevent them from performing thc general ADLs. They also instruct patients on using specialized rehabilitation techniques and equipment to improve function in basic household tasks such as eating, bathing, and dressing.

Speech-language pathologists work to develop and restore the speech of individuals with communication disorders, usually as a result of traumas such as surgery or stroke. They also retrain patients in brcathing, swallowing, and muscle control.

Medical social workers cvaluate the social and emotional factors affecting ill and disabled individuals and provide counseling. They may help patients and their family members identify available community resources. Social workers also serve as case managers when patients' conditions are so complex that profcssionals need to asscss medical and supportive needs and coordinatc a variety of services.

Garrett County also has an additional service available to help individuals manage their long-term health care needs called TeleHealth. TeleHealth is thc process of using computer equipment in the home to monitor the condition of a patient and relay information over a telephone line or wireless connection, back to a central nursing station at the Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agcncy. The system is much like an ATM machine where a touch screen is activated and the patient is able to perform functions such as checking blood pressurc, blood sugar, oxygen lcvels and weight, which then are transmitted to a computer in the office of TeleHealth. The nurse revicws the information and coordinates the findings with thc paticnt's physician and the patient.

"Through TeleHealth, better patient outcomes are achicved by improving access to care, and educating patients for long-term self-management," Cooper said. "The servicc can help stimulate important bchavioral changcs and promotcs patients and their families in participating in, and making decisions regarding, their care."

TeleHealth can decrease health care costs while continuing to improve patients' outcomcs and enhance their quality of life. This service is provided by a grant through the University of Maryland

For more information, persons may call the Garrett County Health Department Home Health Agency at 301-334-7750 or 301-895-3111. (Some information in this article was adapted from thc Maryland National Capital Homecare Association web site: www.mncha.org.

Deadline Noted For GC Women's Comm. Scholarship

The Garrett County Commission for Women is again offering a scholarship to area women pursuing a college education. The deadline for 2011-2012 scholarship application is Dec. 15.

Women who are non-traditional students and have been residents of Garrett County for at least 5 years are encouraged to apply

Applications involve completing an information sheet, including a copy of the letter of acceptance from the college the applicant is attending, a statement substantiating that the applicant has been a Garrett County resident for the last 5 years, two letters of recommendation (one of which must be from a college instructor), and copies of transcripts from any college or post-secondary institution that the applicant has attended.

The application also requires a 250-500 word essay addressing approximately five questions about the applicant's educational goals and achievements.

Award amounts are varied, a spokesperson said. Applications can be picked up at any branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. For more information, persons may contact Katherine Lee at 301-387-5303, ext. 142, or Katherine@deepcreekrealty.com.

All application packets are due to Lee by Thursday, Dec. 15.

This scholarship is awarded by the Garrett County Commission for Women, which is a committee comprising volunteers appointed by the county commissioners and mandated to be a voice for and of women in their communities, specifically in government. The group's mission is to promote a positive image of women, advise county government, advance solutions, and serve as a county wide resource to promote social, political, and economic equality for women, the spokesperson said.

Some of the commission's achievements are the establishment and annual induction of women into the Garrett County Women's Hall of Fame, contributing to the publication of the Quick Guide to Garrett County Resources, and the establishment of the Garrett County MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) chapter.

For more information about the organization or how to join, persons should contact Suzanne Nicolas, Garrett County Commission for Women, c/o Board of Commissioners of Garrett County, 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

When Investing, "Face to Face" Beats Fingers on a Keyboard

These days, you can purchase just about anything you want on the Internet. However, you can still benefit from a human, face-to-face experience for some purchases — such as your investments. And that's why you may want to work with a financial professional.

Unlike a computer interface, a financial professional will take the time to truly know your situation today — and then help you make adjustments for tomorrow.

Let's first look at two key areas a financial professional will consider today:

•Your risk tolerance — By asking the right questions, a financial professional can help you determine if you're a moderate, conservative or aggressive investor and then recommend those investments that are suitable for your risk tolerance.

• Your time horizon — If you're saving for a down payment on a new home you expect to purchase within two to three years, you may want an investment that offers significant preservation of principal. But if you're saving for retirement, and you're three decades away from it, you'll likely need investments that offer the potential for growth. Your financial advisor can help you choose the mix of short- and long-term investments that can help you make progress toward all your goals.

Now let's look at the types of milestones a financial professional can help you with as your life progresses:

• New child — When you bring a new child into your life, you also add new responsibilities. Do you have sufficient life insurance? Do you plan to help your child pay for college? If so, what college funding vehicles should you consider? A financial professional can help you answer these questions.

• New spouse — Whether you're getting married for the first time or remarrying, you'll have to reconcile your financial picture with that of your new spouse. A financial professional can review both your situations and possibly recommend ways for you to reduce debt, eliminate redundancies in your investment portfolios and consolidate insurance coverage.

• Career change — When you change jobs, you may have to make many investment related decisions: Should you move the assets from your old employer's 401(k) to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA)? Or should you roll over your old 401(k) to your new employer's plan if a rollover is allowed? Knowing your options when you leave your job can help you make the right choice for your retirement savings. A qualified financial professional can help you review and understand your rollover choices.

• Retirement — Once you retire, you'll have several issues to consider: How much can you withdraw from your investments each year? From which accounts? Should you rebalance your portfolio to provide more potential sources of income? What about the transfer of your wealth? A financial professional who is familiar with your situation can help you make the right moves to enjoy the retirement lifestyle you've envisioned.

So when you really want to invest, leave the "virtual" world behind and connect with a financial professional — someone who has gained insight into your individual needs and who has the experience and expertise to help you build, maintain and adjust a portfolio that can help you move toward your goals.

On November 11, 1919, President Wilson proclaimed the first Armistice Day with the following words: "To us in America, the reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations." This Veterans Day, let us be inspired by those who sacrifice for us as we remember those we have lost.

Preparation for Dying

Life is beautiful and most of us, if given the chance to live a hundred years would eagerly take it. But, eventually our bodies and our minds will wear out and start the long slow journey back into the elements from which they came. Is this necessarily a bad thing? Not at all. Our friends and family will miss us, and perhaps we them, but it is all part of the ceaseless change that is the essence of the cosmos. Wise men have given somewhat different advice about death, but they all seem to agree that life should be a preparation for death. Socrates said we really don't know whether there will be an afterlife, but either way it's no cause for concern. If there isn't an afterlife and death is the extinction of the self it will be like a long night of dreamless sleep, not such a bad prospect, and if there is an afterlife, we can look forward to meeting our loved ones who went before us. The Christian approach to death is to offer hope on the one hand and fear on the other, i.e., hope of eternal bliss and fear of eternal torment. Despite somewhat different ideas about what will come after our dying, it is generally accepted that we should try to live a good life, and hope that we might die well and prosper in the next life.

For you have died, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ who is our life appears, then you also will appear with Him in glory.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I just got a phone call from my Caitlin, and she told me about her sister Meredith's presentation at the Regional College 4-H Convention in Morgantown this weekend. It was about how 4-H often is one of the most important social networks for many kids. That was definitely true for me and my daughter. And that made me remember one important social network of my life, which started in 4-H.

My first meeting with Pam and Sherry Frantz was at 4-H camp. A few years later, Garrett County formed an Older Youth 4-H Club for kids over 15 years old.

I remember one summer evening with several members of it from the Bittinger area. A family from Baltimore had moved into the Metzler house just up the road. It was Robert, Ginny, and their son Bob, or "Butch." They had the most amazing car – a hot pink Cadillac convertible. Rodney and I rode up to Oakland in that car. After our meeting, we were joined by Sherry and Pam and their friend Jane Gibson, and we cruised around the streets of Oakland. I guess that was among the coolest events in my young life.

A little more than 10 years later, I worked with Pam and Sherry when we were all three writers for The Republican newspaper. By then, Pam was married to Joe Ashby, and Sherry to a future close friend and co-worker, Bob Crone.

I had the great pleasure of working at several jobs where the workplace was full of many fun, talented people who were so pleasant that it made even the hardest day of work a deeply pleasant event. The newsroom at The Republican when Pam, Sherry, and I worked there included Carol Canan, photographer Craig Phillips, and our editor Don Sincell. We developed close, long-lasting friendships.

That was the most pleasant place I have ever worked, but I have in the past had several almost equally wonderful experiences, like the Appalachian Center, and, of course, Garrett Community College.

I paid a visit there last Friday when I accompanied my new friend Sandy Glotfelty (widow of my somewhat distant cousin Denny). Sandy has a second house that she turned into housing for some college students, all members of the men's basketball team. We watched their first scrimmage game.

It was a very emotional visit, because it reminded me of so many beloved people I knew there. There were many dear students who came in and out of my life with only two years each, and all my colleagues. I didn't feel that I belong there anymore.

But that gym holds so many wonderful memories for me. Like when the Lakers upset ACC, and all of the people in the bleachers poured onto the court in a joyful celebration. And the members of that fabulous team were not just students to me, they were in some ways little brothers. And when they brought other players from Baltimore's network to Garrett County, all the relationships of the previous people had a powerful seed that went into the soil and grew thriving plants.

I'm not sure which GCC player was the first to come from Catonsville, but during the time I taught at Garrett, that community spawned two All-Americans, and many other players, whose families I got to know. It is one of the many networks binding my life together that now is a bit shattered.

I recently came upon my copy of Pam's book, a collection of her columns that had been published in The Republican. I read it before, but as I reread her writings about life in Garrett County, I was overcome with emotion. It has a foreward by her sister Sherry.

It is hard to describe the depth of regret that I have that they are not around here any more. Pam went to heaven in a terrible traffic accident, and I shared that experience with Sherry Then Sherry moved down to Georgia to be near her daughter and her new baby

I just thought about how much better my life would be if they had not gone away I miss their humor. It was so easy to just have fun with them.

But from my membership in 4-H, I still have links with people all across the state, and broader. I was so happy that Caitlin and Mere got involved with WVU Collegiate 4-H, because it gave them a whole network of friends, almost as close as siblings, and many of them lived in the same neighborhood.

There are many kinds of starting points of social networks, from the basic social structure – family Since I have four siblings, all their close friends also had links with me. And in a place like Garrett County, 4-H brings a wider network of people that we have significant links with, like school and sports.

It was very comforting to have Robert "Butch" Hesson to be my lawyer when I had to go through my divorce. After my first appointment with Butch, I went out to the car and found a $100 bill on the front seat. His mother Ginny was a close friend of my mother, and that network launched a connection with so many people.

Jackson had a happy reunion with his former mommy, Meredith's friend Lauren, and he was about as happy as possible to see her. He showed his happiness by simply racing around like a crazy thing. It's not that he is not very happy to be here, though he misses riding around in the car. She used to take him everywhere. And he eagerly jumped in her car when Lauren and Mere started a quick trip to McHenry.

He is certainly a lively little fellow; very different than my old beloved Boo was. But he is a much better watch dog than she was. Often, he knows someone is coming even before they pull into the driveway.

Well, here we are in a battle between the state of Kentucky and West Virginia. The Mountaineers started out quite well with an early touchdown and an extra point, but the University of Louisville responded fairly soon. It ended 38-35 in favor of Louisville. It was very disappointing, even heartbreaking. It's not quite the result that two Mountaineer Bittinger birthday boys, Bill Southerly and Kevin Bass, wanted

I imagine that Bill was probably among the large disappointed crowd in Morgantown. One thing is for sure – There will not be any flaming couches in Morgantown this evening.

My Caitlin and several friends went down to Washington, D.C., to visit the Holocaust Museum and probably also the new Martin Luther King monument. An assignment in one of their classes is to visit various and diverse sites.

I expect Caitlin home tomorrow for my birthday. I hope the Pittsburgh Steelers will have a better birthday present for me when they meet their bitter rivals, the Baltimore Ravens. Unfortunately, it starts at 8 p.m.

I can't believe my luck. After the sad WVU game, I tried to find something else to watch. I didn't want to watch another college game, but I was surprised and pleased to find the Breeder's Cup. That is basically the World Championship in horse racing.

It was good to see a top Grand Prix jumper, rider who used to be my boss in a different competition. Now he has stepped into thoroughbred racing. Not many people are aware of Michael Matz's new career. He was the trainer of Barbaro, the horse that got severely injured m the latter part of the Triple Crown. His new star is 2-year-old Union Rags.

A kind of unexpected threat is plastic bags – the kind you bring home almost every day from supermarkets like Wal-mart. Most consumers do reuse them. But sooner or later, they eventually become garbage in a stream, and when they break up into pieces, they get eaten by fish. So we often eat little pieces of them regularly in the fish. And of course, they never degrade.

Remember when you had a human teller at the bank which was replaced by an ATM? And where are all those helpful gas attendants who used to check your oil and clean your windshield? They are a big part of young men now in unemployment lines.

And now when you call a customer service line, you get a list of selections from a mechanical list of options. Those used to be answered by human operators. And today, of course, that customer service is most likely in India, which is just wonderful for the employment m India, but not so good for those who are newly graduated from college in the United States. Now they are facing both large college debts and no jobs anywhere.

Rather than running a large bus for public transportation, it would make more sense using one young adult with a decent car to be a community taxi service. And it would make much more sense to have a community nurse practitioner in each community to deal with routine health problems. When a patient needs a simple blood test, why must they make an appointment with their doctor, then get an order, then have to go to the hospital and wait hours just for a simple blood draw?

I can't believe this is my 58th birthday It seems only yesterday that I was an 8-year-old little girl hoping and praying that I would get my own horse for my birthday. But that had to wait three more years until Christmas 1964. I think I was 11 years old when that piece of Christmas magic happened

Then it does not seem that long ago when it was Nov. 6, 1988, my birthday, and also my due date for my second baby. But it did not happen until about two weeks later, Nov. 19, on Caitlin's father's birthday.

But Caitlin was worth the wait. And it is so wonderful to have her and Meredith home today with me. But I got the ugly shock of learning that they would have to leave at 5 p.m. today So much for my plan of a cozy evening with them watching the big Steelers vs. Ravens game at 8 p.m.

Caitlin is busy in the kitchen working on my favorite dish – my grandmother's homemade noodles. The day ended sadly when they loaded their belongings and returned to Morgantown.

Caitlin had a wonderful visit to D.C. yesterday, including a visit to the Holocaust Museum, where she was able to buy a book by a woman who survived the Holocaust. She was even able to talk to her and get her book signed. And she picked up several memorial cards telling the story of one of the victims of the Holocaust. What a horrible time in the history of the world.

She said she was blown away by her visit to the Martin Luther King Memorial. She said it was so beautiful and moving. Claire was able to join Caitlin's group, and Claire expects that she can come home next weekend

It was a bad way to end my birthday The Steelers failed again to beat those dirty birds, the Ravens.

I am among the Americans who said in a recent poll that they think America is going in the wrong direction Not that I took part in that particular poll. But it is very troublesome that our biggest businesses allow unlimited donations to a political party without disclosure. That money must only be used to make very expensive and slick political advertisements. Some are very unclear in meaning, like the now familiar "Demon Sheep" ad. Who exactly is the demon sheep supposed to be?

I got the impression that the intended target was President Obama. I studied the various kinds of techniques used by advertisers to influence viewers without realizing they are being influenced.

One lobbying group that I don't object to is the American Legion, of which my father was a member. It is not a primary lobbying group, but instead is a service organization that provides various services to American veterans.

For example, they have a color guard for veterans' funerals. It is quite moving to have them fire their rifles in a salute, which is still an important part of putting an American warrior to rest. Typically, a bugler plays "Taps," and those few bright clear notes have much meaning to most Americans.

Once again, the time change is causing some problems for me. At 5:30 p.m., I am already ready to go to bed, because it is already pretty dark. If I do that now, I will be awake in the middle of the night

The churches of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish observed All Saints' Day on Sunday

Three persons from the parish died during the past year and were remembered during the service. They are Joe Broadwater, member of Zion; Norma Mitchell, wife of former pastor James Mitchell; and Rev. David Schmid, husband of Evelyn Allan Schmid.

AELRED D. GEIS HONORED AT MT. NEBO – The late Aelred D. Geis and his work promoting sound wildlife management practices were celebrated recently at a ceremony dedicating a memorial in his name at Mount Nebo Wildlife Management Area in Garrett County. The Aelred Geis Memorial Woodcock Habitat Demonstration Area was dedicated on Oct. 14. The event included a tour that showcased the habitat management techniques that support woodcock and other young forest wildlife. Geis was a longtime resident of Maryland and a migratory bird scientist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. He died at the age of 78 in 2007. The project at Mount Nebo is a cooperative between the Aelred Geis Estate, the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, the Ruffed Grouse Society (RGS), and the Wildlife Management Institute. Each agency supplied funding and other resources to promote regeneration of alder trees in an 8-acre section of wetland in the heart of Mount Nebo. This section is now dedicated to the memory of Geis and is a significant component in the total woodcock habitat mosaic of feeding, nesting, and brood-rearing at Mt. Nebo. Family, friends, and colleagues of Geis spoke of his commitment and drive to protect and create early successional forest habitat. "Al remained a scientist and passionate conservationist until the end of his life," said Bill Harvey, DNR game bird section leader. "He challenged the status quo and never stopped advocating for better information and improved management of our wildlife resources." Pictured at the event, shown from left, are Caleb Gould, Barbara Janoski, and Howard Janoski, all friends of Geis; Harvey; Rich Skeweris, RGS; Rick Latshaw; Dean Geis, son; Jim Mullan, DNR; Tom Matthews, Wildlife Management Institute; Mike Fazenbaker, Jesse Morgan, and Noah Rawe, all DNR; Amo Olivero, Garrett College; and Karina Stonesifer, Georgia Guyton, and Nick Stonesifer, all of the DNR. For information about Mt. Nebo, persons may visit dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/publiclands/western/mtnebo.asp.

Night Birds

Nocturnal birds serve their purpose. They add to the ambiance of that which is night. What would an orchestra of crickets be without the steady call of a whip-poor-will? I will climb out of sleep to listen to an owl. Day or night, birds are great!

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was British writer and humorist Jerome K. Jerome who made the following sage observation: "It is impossible to enjoy idling thoroughly unless one has plenty of work to do. There is no fun in doing nothing when you have nothing to do. Wasting time is merely an occupation then, and a most exhausting one. Idleness, like kisses, to be sweet must be stolen."

• According to an international survey of taxicab drivers, passengers who use cabs in London are twice as likely as those in eight other major metropolises to leave a laptop behind when exiting the taxi.

• Sharks can live for a century or more.

• Velcro came to market in 1957, after a Swiss inventor named George De Mestral spent nearly 10 years developing the idea. His inspiration came to him in 1948 on a hike, when he had difficulty removing tenacious little burrs from his clothes. He reasoned that if he could create synthetic burrs, they could be used as fasteners.

• The Parker Brothers game Monopoly is the best-selling game in history. It's available for purchase in 28 countries, and it can be played in 19 different languages.

• If you speak some French, you might know that the phrase "tout a l'heure" means "see you later." You might not realize, though, that that phrase is the origin of the English term "toodle-oo."

• Chances are, there's a Park Street in your town. It's the most common street name in the United States.

• Europe is the only continent without a desert. Even icy Antarctica has deserts -- including the world's largest cold desert.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Nov. 17, 1421, a storm in the North Sea batters the European coastline. Over the next several days, approximately 10,000 people in what is now the Netherlands die in the resulting floods. Fatal floods struck in 1287, 1338, 1374, 1394 and 1396. After each, residents fixed the dikes and moved right back in.

• On Nov. 14, 1851, "Moby-Dick," a novel by Herman Melville about the voyage of the whaling ship Pequod, is published. "Moby-Dick" is now considered a classic of American literature and contains one of the most famous opening lines in fiction: "Call me Ishmael." • On Nov. 15, 1867, the first stock ticker is unveiled in New York City. The advent of the ticker revolutionized the stock market by making up-to-the-minute prices available to investors around the country. Prior to this, information from the New York Stock Exchange traveled by mail or messenger.

• On Nov. 20, 1923, the U.S. Patent Office grants Patent No. 1,475,074 to 46-year-old inventor and newspaperman Garrett Morgan for his three-position T-shape pole traffic signal. By having a position other than just "Stop" and "Go," it regulated crossing vehicles more safely than earlier signals had.

• On Nov. 16, 1959, "The Sound of Music" premieres on Broadway. While the real-life Maria did marry Count Georg von Trapp and become stepmother to his children, she never did the other things shown in the musical, such as run singing through the Salzburg, Austria, mountains.

• On Nov. 19, 1969, Brazilian soccer great Pele scores his 1,000th professional goal. Under Pele's leadership, Brazil won the World Cup in 1958, 1962 and 1970. During his career, Pele scored 1,282 goals in 1,363 games.

• On Nov. 18, 1978, People's Temple leader Jim Jones leads hundreds of his followers in a mass murder-suicide at their commune in Guyana. Cult members who refused to take the cyanide-laced fruit-flavored drink were forced to do so at gunpoint or shot. The death toll was 913, including a U.S. congressman who was investigating the commune.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: I purchased five glass bottles with images of former presidents, possibly during the 1970s, in a country store in Sudbury, Mass. I have two with Dwight Eisenhower and one each with Jackson, Lincoln and Grant. Are they of any value? -- Christine, Worcester, Mass.

A: Your bottles were produced by the Wheaton Glass Company of Wheaton, N.J. I spoke with several bottle collectors, and they seem to agree that your bottles are each worth in the $7.50 to $10 range. Incidentally, the more valuable presidential bottles offered by the company appear to be Reagan ($30) and Carter ($20).

Q: I have a vase that was given to me more than 50 years ago by the previous owner. I am enclosing pictures of it, and I am, of course, curious about its value. -- Erma, Marion, Ill.

A: I wish you had taken pictures of the bottom, since if it has a potter's mark that is where it would be. Your vase appears to be a piece of Nippon, but without additional information I can't be certain. There are good appraisers and dealers in your area, and perhaps you should begin your search with them. You also might see if you can find your vase referenced in "The Collector's Encyclopedia of Nippon Porcelain: Identification and Values," by Joan F. Van Patten (Collector Books).

Q: I have a picture card that was autographed by Charles Lindbergh in about 1928. I would like to find out its value. -- Gerald, Willmar, Minn.

A: Autographs of Lindbergh are extremely desirable. To determine the value of the one you have, you should contact an expert. Brian Kathenes is a certified appraiser who specializes in autographs. Contact him c/o National Appraisal Consultants, LLC, P.O. Box 482, Hope, NJ 07844; brian@nacvalue.com, and www.nacvalue.com. •••

King of his family: lowdown on a CNN star

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: Is CNN moderator John King married? If so, to whom, and does he have any children? And the same regarding Kyra Phillips of CNN. – Dickie Miller, Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

A: Though the couple studiously try not to make a big deal of it on the air, the anchor of the cable news network's "John King, USA" is married to fellow CNN correspondent Dana Bash. They have a son, Jonah Frank King, born in June. King is also the father of two teenagers from a previous marriage.

Phillips also has a famous partner with CNN ties and CBS links as well, though he's with Fox News Channel now. He's former "American Morning" co-anchor John Roberts, and the two of them welcomed twins in March. Phillips was married previously (as was Roberts) but has no children from that union.

Q: Will Andrea Bowen appear on any episodes of "Desperate Housewives" this season? – Sandi and Matt Finney, Upper Arlington, Ohio

A: Nothing was definite as of this writing, but since this is the final season of the ABC series, we'd bet she'll make an appearance at some point before the spring sign-off. Creator and executive producer Marc Cherry has said he wants to use this last year partially to pay homage to various characters who have come through the show, and Bowen's Julie Mayer certainly was there for a long time.

Q: I adored the AMC series "The Killing" and couldn't wait for the next episode to appear. Any word on when it might be returning with new episodes? Also, the same question regarding USA Network's "In Plain Sight." – Ed Coles, Anaheim, Calif.

A: When this was written, AMC hadn't specified a return date for "The Killing," but we'd expect mid- to late spring ... based on when its first season began and on the production schedule for the new stories.

"In Plain Sight" has one more season to go, since USA renewed the series for two seasons at once in 2010. The first of those played out in the spring and summer of this year, and its fifth and final round likely will start in the spring as well.

Named Secretary Of Nat'l Society At D&E College

Kaitlin McDade, a biology major at Davis & Elkins College, Elkins, W.Va., was recently named secretary of the National Society of Leadership and Success executive board. She is the daughter of Lisa McDade, Mtn. Lake Park.

The society was formed at the beginning of the academic year and already had 125 members who have completed Leadership Training Day. Kidney Foundation Names Clark As Service Director

The National Kidney Foundation of Maryland recently hired Melissa Clark, a native of Oakland, as its director of field services for western Maryland and the eastern panhandle of West Virginia.

Clark's responsibilities will involve developing, directing, and overseeing NKF-MD's fundraising and marketing activities in four Maryland counties and seven West Virginia counties. In a press release the NKF-MD stated that she will plan and implement at least two annual fundraising events and two patient services events, as well as other events as needed in the region. Additionally, she will cultivate relationships in the business and general community in order to further the mission of NKF-MD.

"My goal is to bring more awareness to NKF-MD and the various kidney disorders that affect so many people," Clark said.

"I am glad to be in this position because it is working with a variety of people from all walks of life to advance such an important cause."

A Frostburg State University graduate, Clark began her career as an account executive and community coordinator with WROG Radio in Cumberland. After volunteering with the March of Dimes for three years, she spent nine years working full time for the non-profit. She has served as walk director and division and community director for that organization throughout Maryland and the entire Eastern Seaboard, before becoming regional director of fundraising, overseeing 13 states.

Clark earned staff volunteer development awards for the East Region from the March of Dimes, as well as the Citi Stars Community Award for her non-profit work in Washington County, and the Cool Woman Award from Charter Communications for her non-profit work in Allegany County.

In addition to serving on the board of directors for Frankfort High School Athletic Boosters and University of Maryland Extension, she is an active member of Leadership Allegany's steering committee and alumni association, as well as the Western Maryland Health System Auxiliary.

Clark now resides in Short Gap, W.Va., with her sons, Cullen and Jachob.

Serving central and western Maryland, the Delmarva Peninsula and portions of West Virginia, the National Kidney Foundation of Maryland is the area's only voluntary health agency dedicated to the prevention, treatment and cure of kidney and urinary tract diseases.

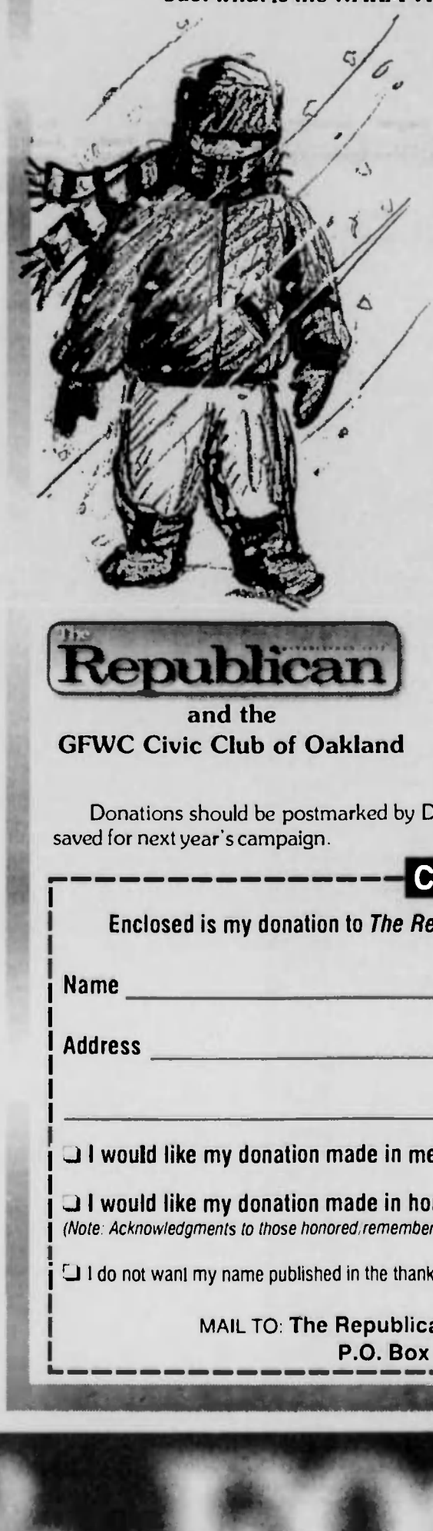
WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 14th year, The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?



The Republican and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child. (We may also shop at Magic Kids in Oakland.)

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2011. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America at Zion Lutheran Church, Jennings, held their monthly meeting on Friday at the church.

The meeting opened with the annual thank-offering service, the theme of which this year was "Generous Giving," taken from the gospel of St. Mark. The service included an explanation of the thank offering, prayers of intercession, and the presentation of thank offerings.

The study for the month, titled "Power and Authority," was led by Leota Baker and was based on the reputation of Jesus as both a teacher and a healer.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. A total of 10 baby quilts have been made and sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Box Elder, Mont., for that church's layette ministry to the Rocky Boy Native Americans. Offerings for November and December were sent to the synodical unit.

The Christmas project this year will also center on the Rocky Boy Native Americans. Gifts received so far include caps, gloves, socks, underwear, sweaters, a skirt, a dress, and a pair of shoes, which have been shipped to be packaged by Our Savior's Church for individual children. Cut patches for a quilt were also included in the package. An offering was also sent to The Republican newspaper for its annual Warm the Children program.

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND
RESOLUTION NO.: R2011-09
(ANNEXATION NO. 1 - NORTHERN ANNEXATION AREA TWO)

WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, and being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area Two, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated November 8, 2004, prepared by Thrasher Engineering, surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by a letter dated October 17, 2011, to the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland from Bypass Ventures, LLC, being the sole owner of the land to be annexed, requesting said annexation.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Northern Annexation Area Two, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying north of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to Md. Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a 5/8" rebar found on the north western right-of-way limits of U.S. Route 219, being the northeastern corner to a parcel owned by First National Bank of Oakland; thence with a line of said parcel North 65° 30' West 1378.67 feet to a 5/8" rebar found in the line of a parcel owned by Thomas D. Kight; thence with said line North 22° 46' 43" East 305.65 feet to a fence post, corner to a parcel owned by Larry C. Glotfelty; thence with said parcel and a line of Rick E. Jenkins South 65° 36' 12" East 1418.21 feet to a ½ " rebar found on the northwestern right of way limits of U.S. Route 219; thence with said limits South 30° 07' 39" West 309.57 feet to the beginning containing 9.85 acres, more or less, as shown on a Plat of Survey for Bypass Ventures, LLC, dated November 8, 2004 attached and made part of Deed dated December 14, 2004, and recorded in Liber 1086, folio 0384, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the Charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. New KidShape Program To Promote Health

The Wellness Center at the Community Aquatic and Recreation Complex will launch a new program called KidShape on Saturday, Nov. 12. KidShape is designed for both a parent and child to participate and work together toward the development of health-conscious lifestyle habits.

According to a spokesperson, Saturday's introductory workshop is designed to help parents and their children discover the importance of eating right and incorporating exercise into their daily routine.

"Working together as a family makes a tremendous difference and gets the child on the right track to becoming a healthy adult," stated Jeannie Miller, RN.

"The workshop is not just for children needing to lose weight. We work with children who need to gain weight or those who just need to work on their snacking habits."

Lowry Selected Volunteer Of The Month At GCMH

Joann Lowry was honored as Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Volunteer of the Month for September.

Lowry began volunteering at the hospital in April 2005. She volunteers each week at the VIVA information desk and in the surgical waiting area.

"Joann is a wonderful volunteer. She is always willing to take on any task and likes to keep busy," said Jessica Lucas, Volunteer Services.

GCMH employees, volunteers, patients, and visitors who observe a volunteer displaying extraordinary caring behavior are encouraged to fill out a Volunteer of the Month nomination form. Each volunteer who receives a Volunteer of the Month nomination during a particular month has his/her name placed in a drawing in which a randomly selected individual is awarded the preferred Volunteer of the Month parking space, a discount to the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop, a Volunteer of the Month certificate, and public recognition.

Anyone interested in volunteering at Garrett County Memorial Hospital may contact Jessica Lucas at 301-533-4041.

It's shocking. Almost all electronic devices continue to draw electricity even after they are turned off, costing U.S. households approximately $100 per year. But by using a smart power strip, you can completely disconnect the power to electronics that are not in use. The smart part is that you can pick one device to control all the others. So you're not wasting energy on things you're not using.

For easy steps to control the size of your electric bill, visit energysaveMD.com or call 1-877-928-8928.

Veteran's Day

We all owe thanks to the military and our veterans!

They Did Their Share

On Veteran's Day we honor soldiers who protect our nation.
For their service as our warriors, they deserve our admiration.
Some of them were drafted; some were volunteers.
For some it was just yesterday; for some it's been many years.
In the jungle or the desert, on land or on the sea,
they did whatever was assigned to produce a victory.
Some came back; some didn't. They defended us everywhere.
Some saw combat; some rode a desk; all of them did their share.
No matter what the duty, for low pay and little glory, these soldiers gave up normal lives, for duties mundane and gory.
Let every veteran be honored; don't let politics get in the way.
Without them, freedom would have died; what they did, we can't repay.
We owe so much to them, who kept us safe from terror,
So when we see a uniform, let's say "thank you" to every wearer.

Chemical Spill At Luke Sends Four To Area Hospitals

NewPage has announced that the Luke mill experienced an "event" yesterday at approximately 11 a.m. that resulted in the evacuation of certain mill employees, with four individuals transported to local hospitals for evaluation.

According to Allegany County 911 acting director Roger Bennett, the four individuals were exposed to chlorine dioxide that leaked from a storage tank at the mill.

"The emergency management departments of Allegany, Garrett, and Mineral (W.Va.) counties were notified of the incident. As a precaution, a section of Rt. 135 was closed for a brief period of time," NewPage said in a press release. "However, a 'shelter-in-place' alert for the community was deemed not to be necessary."

Responding to the incident was the Allegany County emergency director, along with emergency medical services from Luke, Tri-Towns, and Georges Creek. Maryland State Highway Administration also assisted with traffic control during the brief road closure.

"The mill returned to normal operations at approximately 12:20 p.m.," the press release noted. "A full investigation of the incident is under way."

PAYING RESPECT – Military veterans of the United States were honored Friday, Veterans Day, across the country, and Garrett County took part in the observance. Various ceremonies were held throughout the area, including a parade and commemoration event in the county seat. A parade with veterans and the Southern Garrett Marching Band got under way in the morning, leading to the Garrett County Courthouse. While the original plan was to have the proceedings outdoors at Veterans Park, blowing snow resulted in a change of venue, and the crowds gathered inside the rotunda for the remainder of the ceremony. Maj. Gen. Melissa Rank, retired assistant Air Force surgeon general, offered the speech for the day, and members of both the American Legion Post 71 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 10077 provided the welcome, invocation, special singing, the placing of the wreathes, and a 21-gun salute. Pictured is U.S. Marine Corps veteran Paul Shogren, quietly offering his salute to fallen comrades. Photo by John McEwen.

Overall, Deep Creek Lake Is Healthy, Stresses DNR Secretary John Griffin

Deep Creek Lake is healthy, Maryland Department of Natural Resources Secretary John Griffin stressed during the Garrett County commissioners' public meeting on Tuesday afternoon at St. Peter's Catholic Church parish hall in Oakland. More than 100 people attended the 2½-hour event, which focused on DCL issues.

Griffin and other state officials updated local residents and property owners about the status of the lake, reviewed their plans and goals for the watershed, and listened to public comments.

"Based on our three years of monitoring data, the overall state of the lake is healthy, which is good news – good water quality, diverse plant and animal life, and moderate loads of nutrients," Griffin said. "That's not to say there aren't some areas of concern."

As stressed by DCL property owners at the meeting, those concerns include sediment build-up in certain coves, the increase of an invasive plant called Eurasian watermilfoil, and low-water levels. Individually and collectively, owners indicated, these three major factors prevent them from using and enjoying their land to its fullest extent, which includes swimming, boating, and business development.

"We realize there's been a lot of concern over the last year [about Eurasian watermilfoil]," said Director Bruce Michael, DNR resource assessment. "People are complaining that it's exploding over the lake."

He said field staff conducted an initial reconnaissance survey of the plant earlier on Tuesday to prepare for a more detailed study that will be conducted in the upcoming spring and summer Michael said a targeted strategy would then be developed to assess the spatial distribution of the plant over the entire lake. That survey and existing data will then be used to develop a plan in 2012 to address the issue.

"We're going to work with the property owners to look at some potential intermediate steps that we can do to protect infrastructure for the upcoming year," Michael said.

He noted, however, that Eurasian watermilfoil is very difficult to tackle.

"There is no easy answer; we're not going to be able to eradicate it," he said. "Milfoil is throughout most lakes within the state of Maryland; it's in the Chesapeake Bay; and, unfortunately it's here. But as long as it doesn't become a dominate species and overrun everything else, we should not have a problem."

Secretary Griffin stressed that DNR would not introduce another nonnative species in an attempt to eradicate the milfoil, as other areas have tried. He indicated doing this could cause bigger problems in the future.

"It's important to avoid the history of precipitous introduction of things because of the law of unintended consequences," Griffin said.

The Wisconsin DNR is currently conducting a study in 12 of its lakes to determine the effectiveness of herbivorious weevils in curbing milfoil.

Michael reported that DNR is trying to find funding to implement Phase II of the DCL sediment management plan. The purpose of this plan is to quantify/characterize the sediment that is building up certain coves, determine the best way to remove that sediment, and find ways to stop sediment from coming into those coves.

"If funds can be identified, that can be implemented sometime in 2012," the director said about Phase II.

Maryland Department of the Environment division chief John Grace, Water Management Administration, reviewed the effects of weather and other factors on lake water levels, including water releases from the Deep Creek Lake dam.

In an effort to help maintain lake water levels, the Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board asked MDE to reconsider Brookfield Renewable Power's water appropriation/use permit. The LIFE CAN CHANGE IN AN INSTANT, a fact made abundantly clear to two Garrett Countians Saturday morning along Rt. 68. James ("Jimmy") Sherbin, 38, Friendsville, took this photo with his phone shortly after crawling out of the wreckage with the help of Maryland State Police trooper Ralph Davis, who happened to be a short way behind the truck when this occurred. The 2007 Dodge Ram was being driven by Sherbin's son Kyle, 15, who recently obtained his learner's permit and was venturing onto the freeway for the first time. Sherbin wished to publicize the photo and information to remind drivers, especially young ones, how fast an accident can happen, and how vitally important it is to wear seat belts. Neither the driver nor his father were seriously injured in the 8:34 a.m. crash, which happened after Kyle dropped off the side of the road for an instant and then over-corrected, causing the truck to slide sideways and then turn end over end, coming to rest on top the guardrails, as shown. Both were trapped for a short time, but Kyle was able to release James's seat belt, and then Trooper Davis arrived on the scene and kicked out the window so they could crawl out. James wished to publicly thank Davis for his quick action, as well as the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, Northern Rescue Squad, and Buddy's Towing. "They all worked hard to make sure my son and I would be all right," Sherbin said. Both refused to be taken to the hospital, but James said he went to Garrett Memorial later and was diagnosed with a sprained neck and upper back. In discussing the event later this week, Sherbin said he is feeling mostly relieved and thankful for how it all turned out, and reiterated that an accident can happen in an instant, to anyone. "Tfc. Davis did an outstanding job," Sherbin said. "We need more like him."

Rotary Kicks Off Christmas Drive For Local Needy

The Grantsville Rotary Club recently announced the kick-off of its annual effort to collect items to be distributed to the needy for Christmas.

Last year, this effort distributed food certificates as well as gifts and toys to hundreds of families county-wide. Gifts and toys are provided for children age 16 and under. Each family also receives a food certificate to be used at Foodland. Deliveries were made to 54 families in the Grantsville and Friendsville areas in 2010.

The primary method of obtaining gifts and food for these families is through donations. A series of displays or trees are placed in businesses and other places throughout the community with tags indicating what is needed, such as "small toy fire truck, age 8." Individuals wishing to help may simply remove a tag, purchase the item, attach the tag to the gift, and then place it under the tree from which

Holiday Closing

The Republican will be published on Wednesday, Nov. 23. Offices will be closed on Thursday, Nov. 24, in observance of the Thanksgiving holiday. Advertising deadlines are Monday by 5 p.m. News deadline is Tuesday by noon. Offices will reopen on Friday, Nov. 25, at 8 a.m.

AAA Projects 4 Percent Increase In Thanksgiving Holiday Travel

by AAA Mid-Atlantic

AAA forecasts 42.5 million Americans will travel 50 miles or more from home during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, a 4 percent increase from last year's holiday This is the first significant increase in any holiday travel this year The Thanksgiving holiday travel period is defined as Wednesday, Nov. 23, to Sunday, Nov. 27.

"Driving the increase in this year's Thanksgiving travel forecast appears to be pent-up demand by Americans who may have sacrificed holiday travel the last three years," said Regina C. Averella, manager of Public and Government Affairs at AAA Mid-Atlantic. "As consumers weigh their anxiety over the economic uncertainty and the desire to create lasting family memories this holiday, more Americans seem to have chosen family and friends over frugality.

"The uptick in the number of Thanksgiving travelers this year represents the first significant increase in any major holiday travel this year," continued Averella. "Memorial Day travel was statistically flat, while Independence Day and Labor Day travel experienced decreases of 2.5 percent and 2.4 percent, respectively."

While primary economic drivers continue to show improvement from one year ago, growth levels are not high enough to support a quick return to pre-recession levels of holiday travel. Rather a slow climb back is expected from 2008 which was a decade-low year for Thanksgiving travel with only 37.8 million Americans taking a trip. With volumes still below historical averages, pent-up demand will be a contributing factor in increased holiday travel, despite current economic conditions.

Total economic activity, measured as real gross domestic product, is expected to grow by just 1.3 percent

Crellin Elem. Receives "Champion Creatively Alive Children" Grant

Crellin Elementary School was recently awarded a grant from Crayola and the National Association of Elementary School Principals (NAESP). The school was one of 20 recipients awarded a "Champion Creatively Alive Children" school grant. Chosen from among hundreds of schools that applied based on the innovative ideas proposed for infusing art into learning, each school receives a $2,500 monetary grant and $500 worth of Crayola products.

Champion Creatively Alive Children grants provide principals and educators with funding and supplies needed to explore new ways to foster critical 21st century skills in children known as the "4Cs:" creativity, collaboration, communication, and critical thinking. These essential skills are imperative for children to develop for greater success in school and in their future careers.

"Creativity is a skill students need every day and for every career," said Mike Perry, Crayola president and CEO. "Art-infused learning increases academic achievement and prepares children for the future with the essential skills they'll need for any career."

The grant opportunity asked principals to explore a "what if..." learning opportunity. For example, what if arts-infused learning thrived every day in schools? What if schools relied more on project-based authentic assessment rather than standardized tests? What if parents and schools found ways to document and articulate the value of creative experiences? The entries were judged on innovation, collaboration, and sustainability.

Crellin principal Dana McCauley plans to implement a program that asks: "What if families experienced an Energy Expo where the students taught their parents science-based conservation lessons through arts-rich activities?" and "What if this art teacher became the chief creative officer of the school, helping classroom teachers unleash their creativity and creative confidence?"

Through Operation Conservation, students will explore environmental studies while using art to communicate their innovative ideas. Classroom teachers will use the arts to awaken their curiosity and build project-based lessons. Students will create journals and "I wonder" charts and build self-assessment rubrics. The project will culminate with an energy exposition that engages families.

"School principals are charged with preparing our nation's children to thrive in the 21st century – a task that depends on cultivating creativity," said NAESP executive director Gail Connelly. "Working with Crayola on the Champion Creatively Alive Children grant program has allowed us to provide principals and teachers the tools they need to ignite the potential in all of their students."

Recipients will share outcomes from their programs via Crayola's and NAESP's web sites to inspire other principals and educators with ways they can integrate art into various subject areas like science, math, and social studies.

GC BUSES SAY ADIOS TO SNOWY WEATHER – Where do Garrett County school buses go when they retire? Apparently, to a much warmer climate. Howard County resident Denise Sharp discovered this during a recent trip to Central America. "Summer is the time of vacation, and I spent my week working at El Hogar Agricultural School in Talanga, Honduras," Sharp said. "As a farmer, I enjoyed sharing my experiences with the agricultural students there. The culture, food, and climate are a 180 degree swing from Maryland. Coffee is a backyard crop, and your pepper plant may grow year-round. But there was something of home when I visited Yuscaran, Honduras, for an afternoon. Garrett County school buses were running the ridges of the tropical mountains under the shade of banana trees and not on back roads of ice and snow. Used school buses customized with the flair of the local town act as mass transportation." Sharp and her husband Chuck and son Alan own and operate Sharp's at Waterford Farm in Brookeville.

Harriger Couple Make Move From Grantsville To Germany

by Brenda Ruggiero

In the summer of 2010, Grantsville residents Gary and Carolyn Harriger changed their address in a big way. After several months of planning and preparation, they traveled to Germany, where they have been living and working ever since.

The move came about in stages. For about seven years, the Harrigers had been involved at some level with Wycliffe Associates (W.A.), a non-denominational, non-profit organization that has mobilized volunteers for various projects all over the world since 1967.

"Every year thousands of volunteers use their God-given talents and skills to support translators in the field," Carolyn explained. "Many are retirees who are called to use their career skills to serve in the field. There are more than 2,000 language groups that remain without the scripture.

"Gary and I love the Bible and can't imagine what it would be like without it. We believe that providing people with the Word of God in their native tongue (their heart language) is one of the most important callings in life. W.A. uses people like us. We are not translators, but have some non-translator skills that can be used on the field so the translators can stay on track with Bible translation."

A FAMILIAR VIEW can by seen by former Grantsville residents Gary and Carolyn Harriger when they look across the German village of Holzhausen (above). The rolling hills and scenery look much like some scenes in Garrett County. The couple is pictured at right at the entrance to Wycliff Germany. Below is the house where the couple currently lives. Their flat is on the top floor. See feature story.

Carolyn explained that, every day, Bible translators and language workers the world over find themselves pulled away from their primary responsibility – translating the Word of God – to deal with tasks that, while important, can be accomplished by others, such as construction, teaching, business development, marketing, and airstrip maintenance.

Every year, thousands of volunteers with Wycliffe Associates use their talents and skills to support translators in the field. Many are retirees who feel they are called to use their career skills to serve.

In the past, both Carolyn and Gary worked to bring W.A. banquets to the community, and Carolyn did children's ministry work in Kenya, Ethiopia, Cameroon, and Papua New Guinea. During that time, the couple felt that Gary's role was to stay home and be supportive. Finally, Gary noted that he realized it was time to step back from his 33-year attorney profession as he heard God offer the "adventure of a lifetime."

The Harrigers committed to working in the Eurasia area for two years, living in Holzhausen, Germany. Although Gary began his responsibilities in the position of assistant area director, in December he became Eurasia area director, managing and implementing W.A. volunteer services in various countries, working closely with Bible translation organizations. Carolyn is education services coordinator, assessing and delivering education services to these entities.

Once the commitment was made, last summer meant a flurry of activity for the Harrigers as they prepared to leave their home, close their business, and begin their ministry.

Carolyn noted that some items seemed trifling, like purchasing a bunch of inexpensive duffle bags and getting a dozen passport photos to meet various visa requirements. Other items, like acquiring health insurance, consolidating accounts into one bank, and finding a caretaker for their home, required a lot more thoughtful consideration.

"As we spend time with family members and friends whom we will be leaving behind, there is no doubt that we do not look forward to being so far away from the people we cherish," Carolyn wrote in a newsletter. "But we do firmly believe we are being led to this adventure and that God will continue to lead us through the hard parts."

It didn't take long for cultural differences to become evident once the Harrigers reached Germany in late July 2010.

"You do not write checks, but make bank transfers or pay cash," Carolyn explained. "Salads are served after the entrée rather than before. Tiny 'smart cars' are commonly seen on the roads. You shake hands with everyone you meet to say hello and goodbye. One truly stays on the right side of the Autobahn to avoid the vehicles on the left that are going at a very high rate of speed. Everything you do takes lots of paperwork."

Shopping experiences were another cultural difference. Carolyn noted that many villages have small markets which, although the product selection is slim, can pretty much meet basic grocery needs.

"In larger towns, such as Haiger, there is a 'supermarket' in which the selection is ample, but I won't go into the scarcity of chicken and the preponderance of pork," Carolyn said. "Coupons are nonexistent, as are reward cards or points. Payment is made in cash. Shopping carts are found locked one to another. If you wish to use a cart, you insert one Euro into the appropriate slot which 'unchains' your cart from the one in front of it. When you have finished using the cart, you return it to the corral, insert the chain into the lock of the cart in front of you, and (Voila!) your Euro is returned to you."

In addition, Carolyn noted that shoppers must bring their own bags or baskets and bag groceries for themselves.

"It is not unusual to see someone place their cereal, bananas, and sausages, etc. directly into the trunk of their car because they forgot their basket," she said.

In the spring of this year, the couple spent time preparing to take a German driver's test.

"After decades of driving thousands of miles in our lifetimes, the German government needed the assurance that we not only knew the rules of the German road and the operation of a combustion engine, but could actually drive," Carolyn explained. "In addition to proofs of visa and registration, we were subject to a first aid course, a strenuous written exam (in British/English) and a stressful road test (in German/English). But after six months, many Euros, and lots of sweat, we are both now proud owners of a German driver's license. For life, no less."

Each Sunday evening, the couple attend worship services at Calvary Chapel Church in nearby Herborn.

"The message is preached in English, and after bumping heads with language problems all week, it is a relief to be able to hear good Biblical teaching in our own language," Carolyn wrote in a newsletter. "Although the message is also being translated into German, which can be a bit distracting, we are growing used to it and are grateful for the opportunity to hear the word of God in English. However,

LOCAL BUSINESS RECEIVES GREEN PRACTICES AWARD – Savage River Lodge was recently named number one in the state for its sustainable business practices and received the Maryland Office of Tourism's 2011 Green/Sustainable Tourism Award during the 31st annual Maryland Tourism and Travel Summit in Hyattsville. "A model of tourism and sustainable green business, the Savage River Lodge knows that green is the right thing to do," said Greg Shockley, chair, Maryland Tourism Development Board. Left to right at the award presentation are Shockley; Christian Johansson, secretary of business and economic development; Mike Dreisbach and Jan Russell, Savage River Lodge co-owners; Margot Amelia, state travel director; and Hannah Byron, assistant secretary, Maryland Division of Tourism. The award was based on four criteria: implementation of such green practices as energy efficiency, waste/pollution minimization, and environmental purchasing; economic impact and cost savings associated with green practices; education to employees, customers, and the public; and innovative green procedures. Located along Mt. Aetna Road, the business offers 18 luxury cabins and a gourmet restaurant. "Since opening in 1998, the lodge has made a concerted effort effort to maintain an eco-friendly business," a spokesperson noted. "In addition to the usual green hotel practices, such as reusable linens and recycling, the lodge installed 325 solar panels in 2011 that now provide 65 percent of the main lodge's electricity and create an annual 84 solar renewable energy credits." In 2006 Dreisbach and Russell began repurposing the used fryer oil from the restaurant and started a small scale biodiesel production. The lodge's two Kawasaki 4x4 Mules, Volkswagen Jetta, and Kubota tractor run on this homemade fuel. In addition, six of the cabins have been outfitted with tankless water heater systems to minimize electricity use and water waste.

The PRB asked that whitewater releases go back to their pre-2007 schedule and that upper and lower rule bands that govern the lake be extended from June 1 levels to Sept. 1.

Grace noted at Tuesday's meeting that MDE does not plan to modify Brookfield's permit prior to its expiration in 2019.

The water release issue has pitted Friendsville residents and whitewater enthusiasts against Deep Creek Lake residents and those who enjoy the lake.

Friendsville mayor Spencer Schlosnagle noted at Tuesday's meeting the positive effects of the releases on tourism and economic development on his town.

Full-time DCL resident Judy Fang noted lake property owners contribute 61 percent of the county's tax base, plus other fees and expenses, and they should have the right to use their boats. She indicated there are bigger problems than the whitewater issue that need to be examined to protect the lake.

"If there are problems with the lake, that is going to have a major impact on the county," she said.

Local businessman Howard Janoske noted he has invested much in Garrett County and employs local residents, but he cannot build a business at the lake without water.

"We need to keep that water in the lake," he said.

While meeting participants may have disagreed on the health of the lake, the need for fewer whitewater releases, and the magnitude of the milfoil problem, several concurred that a collaborative effort was needed to solve these problems.

"This is an opportunity of the new partnership," Director Barbara Beelar, Friends of Deep Creek Lake, said. "We've all lived together for a long time. What I think we're doing tonight is making a commitment, led by our commissioners, to enter into a new type of partnership, a new phase in the history of the lake."

She indicated the partners need to determine what their responsibilities are in order for the collaboration to be successful. For example, the county needs to implement a watershed improvement plan and program.

"It's going to be a big job; we're here to help you," she told the commissioners.

Beelar added that DNR also needs to "stretch," which includes protecting and restoring the DCL shoreline.

Griffin indicated the state, county, towns, and all the stakeholders need to continue to work together as partners, especially in these tough economic times. He noted their greatest collective challenge will be taking a broader "watershed approach" to the problems.

"The lake is a reflection of the Deep Creek Lake watershed," Griffin said. "As you know, the lake itself is only a small portion of this watershed; most of the watershed is made up of private land holdings."

So, what happens in the larger lake watershed on the land ultimately affects the quality and resourcefulness of the lake, he said.

"I pledge to you that my boss, Gov. O'Malley, and everyone at the Department of Natural Resources want to sincerely work with all of you to maintain this (the lake)," Griffin said. "The is a very important asset, to your county and to the state of Maryland, to visitors."

Some of the information about Deep Creek Lake that Griffin presented during the meeting is available online at eco-check.org.

Small Business Saturday...

Just about all one hears in the media when it refers to the "upcoming" (?) holiday shopping blitz are facts and figures about what has become known in recent years as Black Friday – the day after Thanksgiving – which has become one of the biggest shopping days of the year That's the day when the merchants, particularly the "big-box" chain stores, offer many gift items at "greatly reduced" prices. The beginning of Black Friday, though, is now typically on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, with many stores announcing that this year's BF blitz will actually begin while many of us will be trying to enjoy our Thanksgiving meal.

Well, another designated day about which there has been little media coverage is Small Business Saturday, which will be November 26 – the day after Black Friday and two days before Cyber Monday. It is on this day that shoppers are particularly encouraged to remember – and shop at – the small, hometown retail stores, many of which have unfortunately already been squeezed out of business by the aforementioned big-box stores.

The two main reasons that the mom-and-pop operations are disappearing are that they usually cannot compete price-wise, and the big-box stores generally can save a shopper time, as most of the items on one's list can be purchased under one roof More and more use of the Internet to make purchases is also taking a major toll on local stores.

However, there are many good reasons to support the smaller downtown businesses. Many of them are specialty shops which offer various one-of-a-kind items, or those that typically cannot be found even in the largest of the big boxes. They also generally offer much more personal service, with owners of such establishments knowing many of their customers – their likes and dislikes, clothing sizes, etc. The personal touch, which is slowly and sadly fading away in today's society, is worth at least some of the difference in price.

The most important reason to shop locally and to do one's part to help the smaller businesses keep their doors open is that their survival is crucial to the very survival of the community itself Without downtown merchants, there really can be no downtown, at least not a living one.

The business owners are also the folks who are called upon on a regular basis to make donations in support of the many worthy programs, projects, events, organizations, sports teams, etc., that are also valuable "parts" of a community. Even though some of the big boxers are also generous in this way, they do not give at a level that would be comparable to the total donated by a number of the small businesses. Keeping as much of our money as possible in one's local community is crucial to the fiscal health of that community.

So, for the sake of our local merchants and thus our community as a whole, Garrett County residents are not only strongly urged to observe Small Business Saturday by shopping locally that day, but also to do so as much as possible throughout the year. Our very survival as a community depends upon it.

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

I had the opportunity to stop in often to listen to the Veterans Day Remembrance Roll Call at Garrett College. It was a privilege to experience the quiet dignity of the ceremony, during which volunteers read aloud the names of service men and women who lost their lives during the last 10 years of war.

Speaking the name of each man and woman brought the painful reality of the loss of each person. The simplicity and solemnity of this very human experience was brought to Garrett County by a very dedicated woman, Kathy Fauber, the veterans affairs counselor in the Garrett College Financial Aid Office.

Mounting this event was a labor of love for Kathy, but one of herculean proportions. She was assisted by student veterans and other staff, but it was her commitment that made it happen with such elegance and eloquence.

It is gratifying to see such respect and support for our veterans. Thank you, Kathy Fauber.

To the Editor:

I attended the Southern High School Veterans Day program and am pleased to report that the Ram Battalion cadets performed very well under the guidance of Lt.C. Sheaffer and SFC Wilson. The cadets were all very courteous to us vets. They were completely in charge of the program, they spoke well, and everything seemed well rehearsed. They are a credit to Southern High School and the Ram Battalion.

There were about 30 of us veterans in attendance. Delegate Beitzel and Senator Edwards attended. All five branches of the military were represented. Everyone enjoyed a hot lunch prepared by the school cooks and served by the cadets after the program.

It seems there was a three-day sequence of events honoring veterans – on the 9th at SHS, the Marines Corps anniversary on the 10th, and the program at Veterans Square in Oakland on the 11th. I hope such events continue for years to come

Lastly, one would hope that the county board of education would continue to support the Junior ROTC programs at both local high schools. They have a positive effect on the students.

To the Editor:

Last night I witnessed an event at a local meeting that shocked me. The secretary of the Maryland DNR made a presentation on the state of Deep Creek Lake, and a discussion of the lake's problems ensued. The president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce got up and in essence declared that those problems should be covered up because they might keep tourists away from Garrett County.

Who or what empowered the chamber of commerce to make this kind of statement?

Most of you are probably not aware of the problems facing the lake, but each of you reading this letter will be impacted by what happens to it. Property owners in the lake district pay 61% of the county's tax base that pays for the programs and services the county provides.

The majority of the people who came to speak at the meeting were there to ask the DNR to take specific actions to keep the lake healthy and viable for everyone's enjoyment, and to make sure that the lake provided sustained economic benefit to Garrett County The lake's problems are controllable, but the greed and self-interests surrounding the lake aren't.

In an agenda sent to a by-invitation-only workshop titled "The Future Well-Being of Deep Creek Lake," to be held by the lake property owners' association on Dec 2, they state "...certain information should be withheld temporarily in order not to create panic or prejudices or making decisions without having all the facts."

The facts are already out there. No one has the right to try to cover them up, especially when the safety and well-being of those who use the lake is at stake.

Something is very wrong when organizations like the chamber and POA believe they can brazenly promote a cover-up that will ensure a short-term economic gain for a few at the cost of long-term economic stability for the county and all its residents.

To the Editor:

Thanksgiving is nearly upon us. Too often we in our busy world take for granted all of the gifts God sends us. He knows our difficult times and challenges that we face as Christians. We must still pray and put our needs and joys in front of God. We ask for his protective arms around us, as there are many threats to us from unbelievers and sinners.

Many of us cannot afford the traditional Thanksgiving dinner this year due to the economy and tight budgets. Prices are soaring and the income is stagnant. Life is not always fair There is much evil out in the world during these times of governments and municipalities going broke using any way possible to get funds to continue on. There is too much "bad" politics going on. Current times in our country, county, and towns are very undependable and hard to accept. Our leaders seem to have the attitude that the citizens on the bottom of the economical ladder must pay in many ways more than the rich. Being on the bottom of the ladder is OK; there are many of us.

Again thanks to God for all of our blessings now and to come.

Happy Thanksgiving,
Sidney and Sandi Nazelrod

To the Editor:

I wish to make reference to Ross Douthat's column, "The Devil & Joe Paterno," NY Times, 11-13-11, and the following excerpts written by the Catholic essayist John Zmirak, whose words apply to Joe Paterno as well.

"Sins committed in the name of a higher good," Zmirak wrote, "can smell and look like lilies. But they flank a coffin. Lying dead and still inside that box is natural Justice... what each of us owes the other in an unconditional debt."

Douthat ends his column with, "No higher cause can trump that obligation – not a church and certainly not a football program. And not even a lifetime of heroism can make up for leaving a single child alone, abandoned to evil, weeping in the dark."

To the Editor:

For those not familiar with global warming, it is basically putting pollutants into the atmosphere at a greater rate than the Earth can take care of them. This results in, among other things, the inability of certain sun rays to escape the Earth's atmosphere, thereby warming the atmosphere.

There are two major factors involved in global warming. The first is nature itself, where there are cyclical variations in the Earth's orbit and its wobbling on its axis that causes the Earth to go through cycles of cooling and warming. In the past, the Earth's forests and oceans could easily handle carbon dioxide (CO_2) and other pollutants that were produced.

The second factor is man-made pollution. The debate today is because of the 250 years of industrialization and population growth.

Factories, electricity needs, more farm lands, more transportation, more house-building lands for the now 7 billion people(!) have increased the air pollutants and seriously decreased the forestlands that once absorbed much of these air pollutants. They have produced so much more CO_2 and other pollutants that the remaining forests and the oceans can't absorb all this pollution that it once was able to (see factor one).

Non-believers of global warming say there is not enough data to back up global warming, and even if there is an increase in CO_2, global warming won't be increased to a critical degree.

To those who believe in a global warming crisis because of the two factors described above, I have a question. Are you willing to pay more for electricity, food, fuel, transportation, etc., to reduce the effects of global warming?

To those who don't believe that global warming is a serious problem, are you willing to take the chance that you are right?

Ben Franklin once said, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

This world will soon belong to our children and grandchildren. Shouldn't we do everything – even sacrifice today – to make sure we leave this Earth better than it is now so that future generations will look back and say, "Thanks"?

To the Editor:

The top left item on the front page of the November 10 issue tells of a driver killed in a one-car crash between Grantsville and Finzel. The report says "...for unknown reasons, the vehicle crossed the center line and eastbound lane. The vehicle struck an embankment and overturned several times..." The time of day was 5:30 p.m.

The "unknown reasons" are very likely "swerving to avoid a deer." The time of the accident in early November is near sundown, when deer are most likely to be out and about.

The only safe "action" to take when a deer suddenly appears is to hit the deer Never try to swerve! When you swerve, you lose control of your car, and can wind up dead, as in this instance. A thousand dollars of front-end auto damage is a much

For our young people learning to drive, the training should be revised to include a simulation of a deer collision. They need to learn how to stay ealm, not swerve, and hit the animal.

Meanwhile, all the successful participants in Junior Hunt Day, both young and old, can be happy that they may have saved the life of some other hapless driver.

this is primarily a German language church and so the congregation announcements are given in German. With everyone around us responding with appropriate laughter or seriousness, the purposes of which we do not understand, we must admit to tuning out during announcement time.

"The praise songs, however, vary between the two languages. When the worship leader begins a song in German, we tentatively sing the German words as best we can. However, when the song is in English, there is such an excited feeling inside and we find ourselves 'belting out' the songs. Our hearts fill with worship and praise as we pronounce each word and sing into the rafters!

"What a difference it makes to be able to worship, to praise God, to hear or read the Bible in the language of your heart, your mother tongue. What we are experiencing here in church has given us a greater understanding of what we are working for, why we are here. We are sad for those 2,000-plus language groups who cannot do what most of us are able to do each Sunday, who do not have the Bible available to them in their own language. Our resolve to continue to working toward the goal of Vision 2025 (to begin translation projects in all these languages by 2025) is strengthened. Bottom line, that's why we're here."

The Harrigers have traveled back to the states twice since they moved to Germany, taking time to visit with their children, grandchildren, and friends. Their journey will continue throughout the next year as they complete their term in Germany

Although they are not certain of what the next phase will be, they are committed to doing what they believe that God is asking them to do, wherever that may lead them.

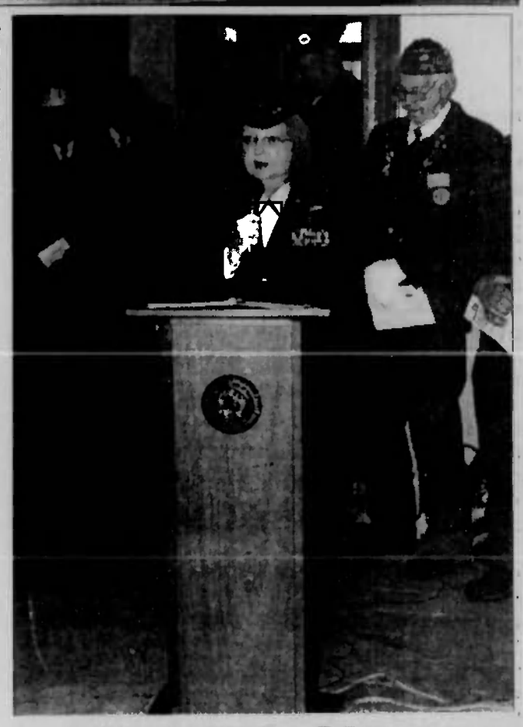
A SNOWY VETERANS DAY – The members of the Southern Garrett Band and the ROTC were all chilled on Veterans Day, but were very willing to proceed with a parade to honor those who have served. The ceremony continued indoors at the Garrett County Courthouse, where it was much warmer. Maj. Gen. Melissa Rank is pictured at the ceremony, giving the keynote address. Photos by John McEwen.



Sentenced To Four Years On Theft Charge Involving Four-Wheeler

A Lonaconing man was sentenced to four years for an unlawful taking of motor vehicle charge stemming from a theft incident investigated in September by Maryland State Police. Mark William Myers, 28, was sentenced in recent District Court by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert.

Two years of his sentence was suspended, and he will be placed on three years of supervised probation following his release, to be monitored by the Maryland Division of Parole and Probation. He was also ordered to pay restitution of $1,986 to the victim in the case. Myers reportedly removed a four-wheeler from the victim's residence along Lancaster Hill Road and at one point reportedly admitted to taking the vehicle. He was not prosecuted on fourth-degree burglary, second-degree burglary, theft under $10,000, and the removal of a motor vehicle without permission.

In other court news, Nathan Eugene Nugent, 21, Grantsville, was found guilty on a possession of paraphernalia charge that stemmed from a traffic stop by MSP in July. He was reportedly found to be in possession of a straw containing white residue and a marijuana smok-

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

At last, Ben Roethlisberger's team is on top of their division after a nice victory over the Cincinnati Bengals.

One in eight American families is dependent on food stamps. These families have only $30 per week to buy food. A handful of Democratic Congress people decided to try to get by on $30 per week to put food on their tables. That is not very much, and most people dependent on food stamps are children. How can we expect our children to do well if they are as hungry as those in the Third World nations?

Since the only thing Congress did today was reaffirm "In God We Trust" as our national motto, I guess that means that those very poor families must simply pray really hard for food. Shame on them. Hunger in Ameriea – That will be the top news in other nations.

How can America call itself a Christian nation with the kind of priorities some of our elected officials have? We can easily afford billions to gain unnecessary supplies from Big Oil, and we allow many Americans to go to bed hungry.

I used to try to serve a good dinner for my family at a cost of about $2 per person. Of course, I had a big wonderful garden, so I didn't have to buy any vegetables. That is not possible for many of the urban poor. But we ate very well because of my garden and the vegetables I canned.

It seems that American people prefer to be in a kind of slumber, unaware of anything that is going on in our nation or world. Most are not even aware of what's going on in their community. Some don't even realize that there are really poor people in part of their community. That is simply shameful.

So it is not only people in places like Harlem that benefit from programs like food stamps. There are many such families in Garrett County. And they are not users of crack cocaine. With so many people ignorant about what's going on, how can they feel like qualified voters?

Someone from Swanton wrote a letter to the editor that said that my writing sounds like a lecture from MSNBC. It is a shame that so few Americans have actually listened to a lecture delivered by a knowledgeable lecturer. I actually enjoyed that during my years at the University of Maryland. I liked to listen to someone who knew so much more than I about subjects that seemed very interesting.

Of course, some of my classmates might have been closed off. They believed they could pass the next exam by just slamming our textbook. Well, maybe they could get a low C or D, but that was not even close to good enough for me.

If God gave me a high quality brain, I'd better use it as best as possible. That meant that I could accumulate as much information as possible until the test, then actually think about all that information and make it meaningful for me. I did not rely on someone else to tell me what I should conclude.

Too many much prefer to just turn on Glenn Beck or Rush Limbaugh to learn what they should think about any issue.

I was perfectly aware in 1965 when I was 12 years old that China had nuclear weapons. It seems to me that it pretty much swept the whole decade of 1960.

What would you do if your house floor had big holes in it? Ignore the problem, even if it meant that you would take a very bad fall into the basement and have untold costs in medical bills? Or go off budget and get it repaired?

Reagan once said, "Deficits do not matter at all." He also said that if you don't repair our bridges and roads in a timely manner, that would only lead to rebuilding them at a much higher cost in the future. But that can't penetrate the thick skulls of some in Congress. They act like Reagan possessed all wisdom and couldn't be wrong on anything, but he raised taxes 11 times.

We are now in a world with no status quo. We now are trying to comprehend a brand new reality: a global economy of financial systems. On one hand, our nation faces trouble totally alone. While it is difficult to come to some compromise with the two American political parties, it is 10 times harder to broker an international agreement about what is the best way toward a new future.

All nations are linked, and trouble in one part of the world means problems in other parts of the world. At the same time, all these nations are also competitors with each other. And each nation has its own unique

ESTHER L. BENDER

Esther Louise Bender, 69, Meyersdale, Pa., formerly from Springs, Pa., died peacefully and with a quiet grace on Thursday, Nov. 10, 2011, after winning a courageous 35-year struggle with health issues.

Born March 14, 1942, Esther was a daughter of the late Alton and Rhoda Miller. She was also preceded in death by a stillborn son, Keith Conrad Yoder.

She is survived by her husband, Omar Jason Bender, Meyersdale; two daughters, Renatta (Yoder) Glotfelty and husband Randy and Ramona (Yoder) Gillum and husband Greg, all of Grantsville; three stepdaughters, Wendy Formet and friend Ken Barnes, Ohio, Robin Rishel and husband Rodney, Little Orleans, and Brandi Palmer, Springs.

Grandchildren Brock and Whitney Glotfelty, Bethani (Gillum) Hayhurst and husband Christopher, Kyle Gillum, Ryan and Brenden Palmer, Ronnie Smith and wife Mary, Candace Poling and husband Devin, and Kenny Barnes, as well as numerous great-grandchildren also survive her.

Esther grew up in Springs, with her younger siblings Dorothy Otto and husband Brian, Chino Valley, Ariz., Larry Miller and wife Gerry, Grantsville, and Connie Walp and husband Lee, Lancaster, Pa., along with numerous nieces and nephews.

She was a member of Springs Mennonite Church. Esther held a very soft spot in her heart for her dedicated caregiver of the past few years, Aileen Reiber and husband Brion, as well as their children Kiley, Maddie, Ben, and Luke. Our family cannot express enough our appreciation for the tender loving care which they gave.

Esther was a teacher for the Garrett County Board of Education for 23 years. She taught at Friendsville and Grantsville elementary schools prior to her retirement.

She earned her master's degree in elementary education from Frostburg State University while helping to raise two daughters and managing the family farm. She was also a certified reading specialist.

Loving to express her thoughts on paper, Mom took courses in children's literature and writing fiction and books for children. Much to the pride of our family, she authored and published 11 books, in addition to more than 100 articles for adults and children.

Mom lived her life with a quiet dedication to her family, her students, and her readers, and as she wrote in her book A Cry From The Clay,

"Here is another message ...from the Lord:
'Go down to the shop where clay pots and jars are made, and I will talk to you there.'
I did as he told me,
And found the potter
Working at his wheel.
But the jar that he was forming didn't turn out as he wished,
So he kneaded it into a lump
And started again.
Then the Lord said...
'Can't I do to you as this potter has done
To his clay?
As the clay is
In the potter's hand,
So are you in my hand.'
(Jeremiah 18:1-6, 43)"

At her request, her body was cremated.

A celebration of life memorial service will be conducted this Saturday, Nov. 19, at 11 a.m. at Oak Dale Mennonite Church in Salisbury, Pa.

MEMORIES

Windy, cloudy and cool, not cold is the start of this day
The season to grow is now gone.
A good harvest to be enjoyed with hard work and long hours. As promised our needs have been ful-filled.

QUIET TIME IS UPON US

Time to rest, relax, reflect and remember the first snow has come and gone. The trees are bare and the sap has returned to the earth.

A TIME TO BE STILL & LISTEN, REALLY LISTEN

Our days are now shorter and our nights will bring about a quiet coolness closer and really closer family and friends should grow

MEMORIES

They seem to weaken with the passing of every year.
now sit beside the still waters,
Feel the peace, the calm and really listen and those good memories will return.

BELIEVE, HAVE FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE

Love you and miss you always,

CELEBRATING 40 YEARS OF SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY.

Remembrance Day National Roll Call Honors Veterans

by Peggy Santamaria

In the dimly lit Garrett College auditorium, for eight hours on Friday, Veterans Day, individuals took turns at the flag-flanked podium reading more than 6,300 names of service men and women who have lost their lives in Iraq and Afghanistan over the last 10 years. To the left stood the simple soldier's memorial of helmet, weapon, and boots. This was the Remembrance Day National Roll Call that took place on 180 college and university campuses across the country.

The quiet solemnity and simplicity of the roll call was created to focus attention on the pronunciation of each individual name, according to Kathy Fauber, the college financial aid veterans affairs counselor who spearheaded the coordination of the event. Images for service men and women across the generations were projected on a screen in center stage as names were read.

Throughout the day, 58 volunteers from the campus and the community took part in the reading of names. They included members of the Garrett College Student Veterans Association and family members of veterans.

A national moment of silence was observed at 2 p.m., followed by the playing of "Amazing Grace" by bagpiper Cecil Glotfelty, a veteran and member of the Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums. The reading of names resumed and continued until 4:30 p.m.

A closing ceremony for the observance included retiring the colors by the Northern High School Junior ROTC, plus a 21-gun salute to the fallen and the playing of "Taps" by members the Deer Park Veterans of Foreign Wars Post #10077.

Garrett College Student Govt. Officers Elected

Garrett College Student Government Association (SGA) officers for 2011-2012 were recently elected. Serving as president for his second year is Keenen Royalty. Other SGA officers are Alicia King, vice president, and Aimee Spiker, secretary. Other members are Connor Norman, sophomore representative, and Samantha Mnyandu, freshman representative. Michael Chavis, assistant coordinator of residence life and student activities, is the advisor for the association.

Royalty, a lifetime resident of Baltimore, graduated from Reginald F. Lewis Senior High School in 2010. He has seven siblings and attended both private and public schools.

"I believe that experiencing both forums of education has made me a well-rounded young man," he said. "At Reginald Lewis I had the wonderful opportunity and privilege of working an internship at the Baltimore law firm Schochor, Federico, and Stanton P.A., which is where I developed a passion for law."

At Garrett College, in addition to serving as the SGA president, Royalty is also a member of the Student Ambassador Club.

"I decided to become SGA president because I believe that I am a positive leader for the school. I believe in not only helping the school, but also in being the voice of the school," he said.

Royalty, now in his second year at GC, is majoring in juvenile justice. After completing his studies at Garrett, he plans to go to Bowie State University.

"My hope is to mentor teens the way I was mentored," he said.

Garrett County resident Aimee Spiker graduated with honors from Southern High School in June 2011. Currently a psychology major at Garrett, she took merit, honors, and AP classes during high school.

In addition to her rigorous courses, Spiker pursued her interests in other school activities, including volleyball, bowling, Best Buddies, student council (as senior parliamentarian and junior chaplain), and co-anchored the morning announcements on the in-house TV during her junior and senior years.

"Out of school, my passion is dance," she said. "I took lessons in ballet, tap, and baton for about 13 years, and last year taught a class of little-girls' dance. It was a great experience."

She said that she wanted to be part of the Garrett's SGA because she likes to be in a position "to make a difference."

"I really enjoyed student council in high school, and I feel this is an opportunity to continue that experience," she said.

Alicia King, a native of Oakland, is a 2010 graduate of Southern High School. While at Southern she was a member of the National Honor Society, a member the German Exchange Program, the editor-in-chief of Southern's newspaper (The Acorn) staff, and a member of the girls' volleyball team for four years." She said it was her high school studies that led her to her choice of a college career.

"I was a part of Southern's allied health class, which eventually led me to Garrett College's pre-nursing program," she said. "This is my third semester at Garrett, and I thoroughly enjoy being here and being a part of all the fun activities."

King said that her involvement with the SGA grew from her desire to more fully participate in college life.

"I really enjoy helping people, and I saw this as a good opportunity to help my peers have a better college experience," she said. "My goal as SGA vice president is to help make this year at Garrett a memorable one for all of the students. So far, the SGA has held several activities, such as the Halloween Party and the Ice Cream Social, which have been two great successes. I hope that in the future I can remain involved wherever I decide to transfer after Garrett."

Connor Norman, who spent the first 14 years of his life in Detroit, moved with his family to Garrett County six years ago. He is also a 2010 graduate of Southern.

Norman said that he was influenced by his parents' decision to return to school to pursue nursing degrees.

"Following my parents' example, I wanted to attend college and make something of myself," he said. "With my passion to help others, heading into the nursing field seemed to be almost a no-brainer."

A self-described "man of simple tastes," Norman said he enjoys having fun with friends and "making the most of any situation." He said he considered the SGA as presenting an opportunity to contribute to the college.

"I want the people who attend this college and perceive themselves as 'little people' to realize and understand that they are members of the Garrett College family and that their voice can effect change," he said.

Norman said that SGA-sponsored events so far this year have had great participation.

"This makes me ecstatic, and I aim to make activities and opportunities bigger and

Philip Adams To Perform At W.Va. Wesleyan College

West Virginia Wesleyan's Department of Theatre and Dance is creating its own version of Romeo and Juliet, titled R&J. Directed by Thomas Schoffler, assistant professor of musical theatre, R&J will take stage on Dec. 1, 2, and 3 at 8 p.m. in the Culpepper Auditorium in the Virginia Thomas Law Center for the Performing Arts in Buckhannon, W.Va.

Oakland area resident Philip Adams, a senior biology major, will perform in the production.

R&J takes the classic Romeo and Juliet a different direction. Rather than a traditional script, the lines of all of the characters have been broken up among the ensemble cast. The characters live in props or costumes rather than one actor. Scenes have been created with Anne Bogart's theatrical technique, Viewpointing.

"Our department likes to present a Shakespearean production at least once every four years, as it gives our students experience with the most-produced playwright in the English-speaking world," said Schoffler. "This semester we are exploring an ensemble-based version of Romeo & Juliet, which I like to think of as a 'distillation.' Most people are familiar with this story, so we are taking it apart and reconstructing it usmg Shakespeare's words and movement languages. age point below last year's level. Personal income, real disposable income and consumer spending are all forecast above last year's levels. However, the growth rates of these indicators are weaker than last year, and Americans are expressing uncertainty about the future by way of weaker consumer sentiment and consumer comfort survey results. In particular, household net worth is expected to be 5.6 percent lower in the fourth quarter of this year compared to last year.

Automobile Travel Increases 4 Percent

Approximately 38.2 million people (90 percent of holiday travelers) plan to take to the nation's roadways this Thanksgiving holiday weekend, a four percent rise compared to Thanksgiving 2010. Automobile travel remains the preferred choice of transportation for holiday travelers as it is often more affordable, convenient and flexible.

The current national average price for regular unleaded gasoline is $3.39 per gallon, 50 cents more than one year ago. However, the national average price is 59 cents less than this year's peak price of $3 98 on May 5.

Number Of Air Travelers Expected To Increase

Almost 3.4 million leisure travelers (eight percent of holiday travelers) will fly during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, a 1.8 percent increase from 2010

Fuel costs, combined with steady air travel demand and capacity cuts have resulted in rising airfares over the past year. According to AAA's Leisure Travel Index, Thanksgiving airfares are expected to be 20 percent higher than last year, with an average lowest round-trip rate of $212 for the top 40 U.S. air routes.

Travelers To Experience Increases In Hotel Rates, Car Rental Rates Decrease

Hotel rates for AAA Three Diamond or mid-range lodgings are expected to increase six percent from one year ago with travelers spending an average of $145 per night compared to $136 last year

Travelers planning to stay at AAA Two Diamond hotels can expect to pay seven percent more at an average cost of $103 per night. Weekend daily car rental rates will average $37, an 11 percent decrease from one year ago.

Travelers Stay Closer To Home As Average Distance Decreases; Median Spending Increases

According to a survey of traveler intentions, the average distance traveled by Americans during the Thanksgiving holiday is expected to be 706 miles, which is a decline of 13.5 percent from last year when travelers planned to log an average of 816 miles. Median spending is expected to be $554; which is a 12 percent increase from $495 last year. However, Thanksgiving holiday travel is typically less expensive than other travel holidays because of the emphasis on the Thanksgiving meal and gathering of friends and family.

Fuel and transportation costs combine to consume the largest share of holiday spending (33 percent).

RAM JROTC FARES WELL IN COMPETITION – The Southern High School JROTC Drill and Color Guard team vied against other schools recently at the Mountain Top Classic JROTC Drill Competition, and captured second place overall. The drill and color guard events test each JROTC team's ability to conduct a marching or color guard sequence involving over 40 steps. These routines follow a prescribed format that is recognized nationally among the 1,000-plus schools in the nation with army JROTC. By using these sequences, the drill teams place themselves in a better position to compete at the state level Army JROTC drill competition and a chance to compete within their brigade for a bid to the national drill competition. In the armed squad category, Southern's drill team took first place, while in the unarmed squad and color guard sequence, the squad finished second. Sophomore Carl Cosner commanded the squad armed and unarmed team, while senior Elizabeth McClean commanded the color guard team. The team's next competitive event will be the Maryland State Army JROTC "Best of The Best," which is held at the Maryland Army National Guard's 5th Regiment Armory in Baltimore. At this event, the squad will compete in the unarmed squad, color guard, and armed in-ranks inspection sequence. Students invited veterans to join them for the special event, and breakfast was provided by the staff. The cafeteria was decorated in a patriotic theme and with student artwork and writings. After breakfast, the group watched each class perform a song, poem, skit, or other activity thanking them for their service. Several classes also presented the veterans with cards and flowers.

THANKSGIVING GRACES
by Mark Kimball Moulton,
illustrated by David Wenzel
C. 2011, Ideals Children's Books, $14.99; 26 Pages
Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

For as far back as you can remember, your parents have taught you that sharing is the right thing to do. You've always been told to let others play nicely with your toys and look gently at your books. If you have candy, you're encouraged to give someone else a bite. You might share your day, a silly story, a snuggly blanket, a seat, or a box of colors.

When you have abundance, it's always nice to share. And as you'll see in the book Thanksgiving Graces by Mark Kimball Moulton, illustrated by David Wenzel, when you give, you also get back.

It's Thanksgiving Day, and everyone's getting ready The turkey smells soooo good in the oven and the whole family is helping set the table.

Grandma's making pies when there's a knock on the door. It's the neighbor, Charlie, and she asks him to stay for dinner. There's plenty of food and plenty of room at the table for him. Charlie says he'd be glad to stay, but only if Grandma and Mom would let him pitch in and help. He rolls up his sleeves and plunges his arms into hot soapy water. Having someone to wash dishes is always a big help.

When the door opens a minute later, it's big brother Jim home from college, and he's not alone. He brought a friend, but that's okay There's plenty to eat and lots of room for two more. Jim sneaks a taste of what's on the stove, and Mom laughs. Jim has done this before.

Then everyone hears the sound of a horn honking. Two more people arrive and Grandpa adds another table at the end. Another guest calls to see if she can bring her cousin and her mother. Every time someone asks if there's room for an extra, the answer is always "Yes! Of course!"

But as the table gets longer and the room seems smaller, one young host gets a little worried. Grandma didn't make a lot of pies. There weren't many potatoes boiling on the stove, and the turkey wasn't very big – was it? Would there be enough food at this Thanksgiving table?

Sometimes, particularly when you're a kid, it's hard to separate the "thanks" of Thanksgiving from the legends, the parades, and the fun. But this sweetly gentle little story, told in rhyme, explains the real meaning behind why we gather.

In author Mark Moulton's holiday house, there's love, warmth, and welcome as the table slowly expands to make room for every new arrival. I loved the quiet worry in the words of Moulton's young narrator and I loved the simplicity of Moulton's story-poem, but neither would be the same without artist David Wenzel. One look at Wenzel's illustrations, and you can almost hear the laughter in this perfectly thankful book.

Two-to-8-year-olds will love Thanksgiving Graces, but I don't think anyone of any age would mind a read-aloud this holiday Whether yours is a feast for two or a fete for 2,000, this is a book to share.

DNR Announces Early Deer, Fall Turkey Harvests

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources has announced harvest results for early deer and fall turkey hunting seasons.

Deer hunters wrapped up the early portions of the bow and muzzleloader seasons by harvesting an estimated 24,324 deer during September and October, which is down 4 percent from last year's harvest of 25,324 deer for the same period.

The antlered harvest decreased 4 percent from 9,079 deer to 8,753, while the antlerless harvest also decreased 4 percent from 16,245 to 15,571 deer. Included in the totals were 532 antlered and 337 antlerless sika deer.

The two-month harvest total comprised 7,813 deer taken with vertical bows, 3,732 taken with crossbows, and 12,600 harvested with muzzleloaders. An additional 179 deer were reported during managed firearm hunts.

Our fall turkey hunters prevailed despite a very snowy opening day in many areas," said Pete Jayne, DNR's associate director for game management. "Some areas received over a foot of snow for the first day of the season, but a warming trend resulted in better conditions later during the weeklong season."

Turkey hunters reported harvesting 167 wild turkeys during the one week fall season that ended on Nov. 5. The harvest is similar to the 171 turkeys taken in 2010 and to the average harvest over the last 10 years, according to DNR.

Fall turkey hunting is only permitted in the three westernmost counties. Allegany County reported the highest harvest (72), followed by Garrett (64) and Washington (31).

Firearm Deer Season To Open November 26

Maryland's two-week deer firearm season will open Saturday, Nov. 26. Hunters usually take nearly half of the annual deer harvest during this period.

"The two-week firearm season has long been our most popular deer hunting opportunity, with over 50,000 hunters participating each year," said DNR Deer Project leader Brian Eyler. "Many deer hunters look forward to celebrating our hunting heritage and sharing time outdoors with friends and family, while also providing food for the table. The sustainable deer harvest over this two-week period is a critical part of DNR's deer management program and will help reduce deer-related habitat damage and conflicts with humans."

New this year, DNR has established a chronic wasting disease (CWD) management area (land code 233) in a portion of Allegany County with regulations designed to prevent the unintentional spread of the disease to other locations. More information on CWD and the regulations pertaining to the disease management area can be found online at dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife/Hunt_Trap/deer/disease/cwdinformation.asp or by consulting the 2011-2012 Maryland Guide to Hunting and Trapping.

DNR urges hunters to carefully inspect all tree stands before using them. Hunters should use a full-body safety harness while climbing into or out of a tree stand and while in the stand. DNR strongly recommends using a sliding knot, commonly known as a prussic knot, attached to a line that is secured above the stand. This allows a hunter to be safely tethered to the tree as soon as he leaves the ground.

More safety tips and a video on tree stand safety can be found online at dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide/ts.asp.

Complete bag limits, season dates, and other deer hunting information can be found online at dnr.maryland.gov/huntersguide. The 2011-2012 Maryland Guide to Hunting and Trapping issued with each hunting license also contains detailed information about all of Maryland's hunting seasons.

Lakers Edge Patrick Henry, But Fall To Erie In McDonald's Event

The men's basketball team of Garrett College edged previously undefeated Patrick Henry of Virginia, 84-81, in an opening-round game of the Lakers' annual McDonald's Tip-Off Classic tournament on Saturday in McHenry, but were then soundly topped by Erie College, currently ranked #3 in the country, on Sunday, 97-77.

Leading the Lakers offensively in the win over Patrick Henry was Armond Perez, who recorded 22 points, while former Northern High standout Matt Gibson finished with 16 points, with a dozen of his total coming from three-point range. Teammates Din Moore and Antonio Butler also reached double figures with 14 and 13 points, respectively

Guila Panzo had 10 rebounds for the Lakers, and Gibson also dished out five assists.

The Lakers finished with 10 three-point buckets.

Pacing Patrick Henry in scoring was Eddie Jenkins with a game-high 26 points. Brian Clarke and Rodney Livingston each finished with 16 points, and Derrick Cates scored 13.

In the Sunday night game against Erie, Garrett started off poorly, but kept the seore elose, trailing only 33-30 at halftime, even though Perez got into foul trouble early and spent much of the first half on the bench.

But the Lakers were outscored by a 64-47 margin in the second half

Larry Mike and Butler each scored 21 points to lead the Lakers, with Moore and Perez adding 11 each. Butler, an All-Tournament selection, pulled down eight rebounds.

Panzo came up with six boards and six points starting in place of injured Jordan Grady, who is out with a concussion for a week.

Yandell Denis ripped the nets for 34 points to lead Erie. Dequan Jones finished with 18, Sam Hattin netted 14, and Brandon Emmitt added 12 points.

"There is no excuse for giving up so many offensive boards," said Laker head coach Dennis Gibson. "We were as big as they were. What we did not do was remain tough and poised. Plus our bench has to give us more toughness and rebounding, and an understanding of our offense."

Gibson said he expected coming into the season that his squad would suffer some "growing pains" since most of last year's starters were lost to graduation.

"With some time and experience, and if we have our entire team healthy, I believe we will be able to compete with anyone," he added.

Joining Butler on the All-Tournament team were Denis and Jones of Erie, Livingston of Patrick Henry, and Carlton Johnson of Potomac State College.

The Lakers returned to action last night at home against Butler CC. See separate story.

Butler Paces Lakers To Easy Easy Win Over Butler Grizzlies

Antonio Butler and the Garrett Lakers proved to be way too much fire power for the Grizzlies of Butler Community College last night at McHenry, where the Lakers nearly doubled their opponents' point total in cruising to a 102-56 victory.

Butler, a sophomore, hit 26 points to lead the Lakers' offensive effort and five members of the team who finished in double figures.

Theo Dubuche netted 16 points for Garrett, Guila Panzo and Armond Perez each recorded 14, and Daniel Brown chipped in with 10 points.

Perez and Panzo also pulled down nine rebounds apiece, and Larry Mike was credited with nine assists.

Matching Butler's seoring effort for the Grizzlies was Antawane Davis with 26 points, but only Alex McDeavitt joined him in double figures, finishing with 11.

"We pretty much outmanned them, especially on the inside," said GC coach Dennis Gibson. "It was nice to get the win, especially coming off our loss to Erie on Sunday

The 3-2 Lakers will be faeed with a significant challenge this Saturday when they travel to Frederick CC. They will be back on their own floor next Tuesday when they host Chesapeake College Tip-off for that contest will be at 7 p.m.

But like the United States of America, we have a much better chance to stand if we are united. We may end up with a massive world depression. Almost all major economic powers have the same problems we are facing – all the money is in the hands of a tiny number of mega wealthy individuals, which results in masses of people having almost nothing. That was usually not true in America, but things have changed horribly in the past few decades.

Here we are again with the biannual jerking around of our biological clocks. Since it is fall, we all turn back the clock one hour. So it gets fully dark at an early hour in the evening. That is bad news for me, because I get very sleepy as soon as darkness falls, and I do not wake up by using an alarm clock. I just get up as soon as I can't stand to stay in bed. That oftentimes is between 4 and 5 a.m. That became a habit when my days were so full of demands that I needed to start my day before daybreak.

I do not feel 58. It sounds a little old for me. In my mind, I am still about 28 years old. Those were my best years. I do not feel as young as I did then, but my thinking is very similar.

I got a birthday visit and gifts from my old high school best bud, Linda Bowman Nerberger, and what great gifts they were – three old Nancy Drew mysteries, a perfect escape. I heard that many high-performance women say they were avid fans of Nancy Drew. She had great appeal to us, because she did not allow her gender to limit her activities. And the author uses fairly high-level vocabulary. My first dip into one took me back 50 years, when my whole life was in front of me.

I do not like the main question when you decide how you will vote in one year in 2012. Instead of asking if you are better off now than four years ago, a much better question is, "Which of the candidates on the ballot is more likely to make my life better in the next four years?"

It is amazing that reality television has really gained wide fan support. Kim Kardashian is a major star in that sector. Only a few hours after she filed for divorce, she reversed her position, and now she will devote everything she has to making her marriage work. Well, she doesn't have many available resources to call on. And the whole "Jersey Shore" thing portrays our nation's young people in the worst possible way. They are only interested in getting drunk and getting the deepest possible tan, and are obsessed with sex.

The Republican candidate debates seem more like a reality television program than part of American democracy. Each candidate seems to almost play a scripted character. It is hard to believe that they are real people.

It is sponsored by the Preston County School System. The public is invited. Several musical presentation are planned for the event.

Infant children are in need of special food and diapers as well. Those interested in donating may get more information from a local church or school.

CLIP TO CARE

Maple Spring Church of the Brethren has initiated a new program and "Clip to Care" is a program through which coupons are cut from magazines and other sources with long expiration dates on them. Those participating are encouraged to share coupons. This program is in conjunction with a regular program of giving to the food pantry, which operates 12 months of the year, not just Christmas.

AURORA ALUMNI BOOK

The Aurora Area Historical Society has 50 copies of the Aurora Alumni Book for sale at the price of $21.20 including tax. Those interested should contact Jo-Ann Hellton at 304-735-5832. They also have a large selection of area pottery (from Eglon, Aurora, Amboy, and Horse Shoe Run) which makes nice gifts. DEATH

Milnor Corbin, 85, Eglon, died Saturday, Nov. 12, 2011, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, Md. A full obituary for Mr. Corbin can be found in this week's A-section.

UNION SENIORS

The covered dish dinner held on Nov. 10 was supplemented by pork chops and sauerkraut from the Kingwood facility. A total of 37 members turned out for the meeting of the Union District Seniors at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building. Mary Jane Hanline led the devotions, with "Heaven's Grocery Store."

Two from Preston Memorial Hospital's physical therapy department, Jodi and Becky, were present to talk to the group about the use of movements in various ways to try to maintain a degree of normal life. They also brought along stretch bands, which they distributed to the group. These help with home exercise.

Janice Tackett and Dee Douglas attended an officers' training meeting in Kingwood. Janice reported that Aurora had one of the first senior groups in Preston County for 1974, their first year, and that Morgan Barr was the first name on the roster.

The next shopping trip will be to Uniontown, Pa., on Dec. 7. Those interested in going should call Janice Tackett.

The next regular meeting will be held on Dec. 8, with the menu set to include lasagna, with lime Jello and pineapple. Heating assistance applications have not yet been received. Wilma Mae Teets won the candy jar.

Responsible for December devotions will be Deanna Arnold. Those attending the next meeting are reminded to bring donations for the Terra Alta Food Pantry (only non-perishable items). Gelina Abitia, R.N., distributed "Eating Healthy at Thanksgiving" literature. Janice Tackett closed the meeting with a Maxine comic.

better," he said.

Samantha Mnyandu was born in Durban, South Africa, and has lived there most of her life.

"I moved to America at the age of 9, resided there for five years, and went back to my country to finish my four years of high school," she said. "My main goal while in school was to come back to Americea to further my education."

With determination and help from her older brother, Mnyandu got the chance to return to the United States. She is majoring in liberal arts.

"What made me come to Garrett College was the fact that I wanted a new opportunity, a chance to enjoy a place away from home," she said. "Garrett College gave me that opportunity, and the fact that they offer so much gave me the urge to get involved."

Mnyandu said the reason she ran for the SGA position was to get a chance to be known, be the voice for the students, and be able to "make a differenee" while enhaneing her leadership skills.

"Also, when I need to transfer, it will be pleasing to see SGA service on my academie record," she noted.

Her choices for transfer schools to further her edueation in liberal arts are currently Bucknell University and the University of California, Berkeley.

Chavis, advisor to the SGA, said the officers this year are committed to developing opportunities to enhance school spirit.

"I am in a very privileged position to be able to advise sueh bright, creative, enthusiastic young leaders," he said. "I try to encourage all my SGA officers to think out of the box, push the creative envelope, and most importantly, have fun. This year's SGA looks to inject a higher sense of school spirit into the student body They are also looking for this year to be one of SGA's most productive years thus far. I have faith that all these future goals will be carried out."

For more information on the Student Government Association or the group's upcoming events, persons may contact Chavis at 301-387-3129 or via e-mail at michael.ehavis@garrettcollege.edu.

Republicans Outnumber Democrats Seeking Bartlett's Congressional Seat

by Andrew Damstedt
Capital News Service

More Republicans than Democrats have signed up to unseat Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, in the April primary, even though boundary changes made during redistricting favor Democrats in the general election.

So far, four Republicans and three Democrats have announced their campaigns to run in the recently redrawn 6th Congressional District, where 85-year-old Bartlett has served as Congressman for the past 20 years.

Those seeking Bartlett's seat are Republicans Robert Coblentz, Robin Ficker, Joseph Krysztoforski and Brandon Rippeon; and Democrats Rob Garagiola, Milad Pooran and Duchy Trachtenberg.

Portions of Baltimore and Harford counties, as well as Carroll County, were taken away from the 6th District during redistricting. More of Montgomery County was put into the district, while another part of Montgomery County was removed and added to northern Frederick County to reform the 8th District.

"I've run and won in a Democratic majority registration Sixth District and never enjoyed the benefit of having a district drawn to pick voters for me," Bartlett wrote in an e-mail. "I am proud to have enjoyed the support and votes from Democrats and independents as well as Republicans."

In the past decade, the Maryland State Board of Elections shows the 6th District has had more registered Republicans than Democrats. Even in Bartlett's first election win in 1992, which his staff cited as an example, there were more registered Republicans than Democrats. Data shows there were 140,797 registered Republicans and 139,922 registered Democrats in that election, with both parties having more than 80 percent voter turnout.

Adding more of Montgomery County is expected to put more Democratic voters in the district. Montgomery County has the second-highest number of Democrats in the state at 322,981, elections board data shows.

Sixth District boundary changes make Bartlett one of the most vulnerable incumbents in the country, said Center Maryland columnist Josh Kurtz, who said he isn't entirely convinced Bartlett will seek re-election. However, Bartlett is the only incumbent Maryland congressman to file for re-election.

"Republicans are in a kind of wait-and-see mode for a while about Bartlett," Kurtz said, who speculated that national Republicans might be more willing to donate money to the race if someone other than Bartlett got the nomination.

So far, Bartlett has the most money of any candidate in the race, Federal Election Commission filings show, with $260,727 cash-on-hand.

Only two other candidates have reported any campaign funds, with Krysztoforski reporting $5,123 raised; while Rippeon contributed $2,500 to his campaign and took out a $47,500 loan. The next FEC reporting deadline is Jan. 31.

In 2010, an average, successful, congressional race cost $1.44 million, while an average winning campaign in Maryland cost $1.68 million, the Center for Responsive Politics reported. Bartlett spent $367,098 in 2010 and $204,443 in 2008, the center reported. He's raised $3.45 million in his congressional career and has raised $606,097 for the past two elections.

Frederick County Democratic Central Committee Chairwoman Myrna Whitworth has hopes a Democrat can win in the 2012 election. The last Democrat to represent the district was Bartlett's predecessor Rep. Beverly Byron of Frederick. She served in Congress from 1979 to 1993.

"I think there's going to be a lot of attention paid to the 6th District, not only in the state but nationwide," Whitworth said. "It's not a given. I think we're going to have a tough race and I'm confident we are going to have a good nominee coming out of the process to bring us victory in November."

Three possible Democratic candidates have emerged, 39-year-old Garagiola, 34-year-old Pooran, and 57-year-old Trachtenberg. Garagiola has received several endorsements from Democratic leaders from the district.

Republican candidate Ficker said the district's boundary changes were made to award state Senate Majority Leader Garagiola the seat.

"I know that first of all, it's not his seat; it's the people's seat," Ficker said. "I know that the people in this district want someone who will promote jobs and prosperity and not be a tax-increase specialist."

A Boyd resident and defense attorney, the 68-year-old Ficker said while he agrees with Bartlett on many issues, he is running against the congressman because he can bring a fresh perspective to the district.

Garagiola, who's been in the Maryland Senate for nine years, dismissed redistricting as a main reason he got into the race. He wants to represent the district instead of having an "ideological member of Congress," do the job, he said.

"I think in part there's a frustration in the public right now that Congress is doing these stopgap (measures), with the budgets and really operating in a very dysfunctional way," said Garagiola, a Germantown resident.

The Republican Congress, he said, has not moved a jobs bill for the past nine months and has been focused on partisan politics rather than the U.S. economy.

Trachtenberg, a former at-large Montgomery County Councilwoman, portrays herself as the anti-establishment candidate and Garagiola as a political insider.

"It's a nice contrast. You have the establishment candidate who comes out of the Annapolis insiders club, and you have the insurgent progressive candidate who has a track record of independence and common sense," said Trachtenberg, a North Bethesda resident. "It's a clear contrast; we've got different records and I think we have a different approach to problem solving."

Jefferson resident Pooran paints both his primary opponents as career politicians. His military and medical experiences are assets he said he would bring to Congress. Pooran served in the U.S. Air Force Medical Corps and the Maryland Air National Guard.

"I think the way our country was designed to be was truly private citizens who felt strongly in a cause and then went into politics for that purpose," Pooran said. "And then they went back to being private citizens."

His cause, he said, is to help get the country out of the economic crisis by cutting non-essential government programs and increasing revenue by reforming the tax code.

Other Democrats could enter the race before the Jan. 11 filing deadline, though Gazette columnist and WBAL radio commentator Blair Lee said Garagiola likely will get the nomination. However, whether Democrats vote by party lines or whether they are frustrated with the dis-

Sisler Farm Is "Christmas Trees For Troops" Site

Oakland's Mountaintop Christmas Tree Farm will serve as a drop-off location for donated Christmas trees headed for Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri as part of the annual Trees for Troops effort.

Fresh-cut evergreens from several western Maryland tree farms will be picked up by the FedEx Corporation on Nov. 30 at Randy and Jean Sisler's tree farm, located along Pineview Drive just north of Oakland.

The Mtn. Top Tree Farm is a member of the Maryland Christmas Tree Association, which is coordinating Maryland's role in the national program, which expects to provide some 17,000 Christmas trees to military families stationed at more than 60 bases in the U.S. and overseas.

Tree farmers donate 6- to 7-foot cut trees, which are tightly baled for easy shipment.

Trees for Troops is a collaborative project of FedEx, which donates its freight services, and the Christmas Spirit Foundation, a charitable arm of the National Christmas Tree Association.

The seventh annual effort is expected to reach a milestone this holiday by topping 100,000 trees delivered since the program was launched in 2005.

"Our military and their families have been providing a real service to our country," said Maryland Christmas Tree Association president Wilma Muir, who is also a Harford County tree grower. "As tree farmers, we want military families to be able to experience Christmas with a fresh, real tree."

Maryland Christmas Tree Association farmers grow trees on approximately 5,300 acres, with some 4 million trees planted and about 370,000 harvested annually. Christmas trees are 100 percent biodegradable, and they can be recycled for a variety of uses after the holidays, a spokesperson noted. Discarded trees are used to halt erosion, provide fish habitat, and make garden mulch.

NRP Locate Lost Hunters; Make Several Arrests

A recent six-hour search by Maryland Natural Resources Police (NRP) with assistance from members of the Department of Natural Resources Wildlife and Heritage Service in the Cranesville Swamp area of Garrett County ended on a successful note, as a father and son who were hunting together became lost after harvesting a black bear during the black bear season.

Officials were notified by the wife of 69-year-old Robert Metheny, Terra Alta, W.Va., after he and his son Scott Metheny, 41, of Pennsylvania became lost. Mrs. Metheny received a call from the elder Metheny stating that they had become disoriented in the thick vegetation and could not find their way out of the swamp.

The search began at 9 p.m. on October 24. Officers had to locate the hunters by foot because of foggy conditions that prevented the use of the Maryland State Police helicopter. The search lasted almost six hours through the thick and dense foliage that covers most of the swamp. The men were found in good condition and did not require any medical attention.

The NRP also noted a number of arrests during the recent Maryland bear season.

Charles Lester Blum, 47, and Nancy Marie Blum, 53, both of Finksburg, Philip Joseph Martinek, 36, of Falston, and James Francis Martinek, 67, Oakland, were all charged with hunting black bears with the aid of bait and failing to maintain visual contact while black bear hunting. This incident occurred in the Cranesville area.

Anthony Noel Russell Jr., 42, Reisterstown, and Michael George Foriter, 51, Glyndon, were charged with hunting bears with the aid of bait and failing to wear fluorescent orange while black bear hunting. This incident occurred on private property off Dry Run Road near Swanton.

Neil Franklin Howes, 64, and Thomas James Howes, 25, both of Sykesville, were charged with hunting black bears with the aid of bait. This incident occurred in the Stag Run area of Garrett County.

NRP charged Terri Russell Tavenner, 48, Hanover, Mark Douglas Snider, 48, and Lucas Tyler Snider, 18, both of Artemas, Pa., and Carl Irvin Dillman, 52, and Ralph Kaese Dillman, 43, both of Berkeley Springs, W.Va., with hunting black bear with the aid of bait and failing to maintain visual contact while black bear hunting.

Ralph K. Dillman and Terri R. Tavenner were also charged with hunting black bear without a permit. This incident occurred on Collier Road.

Then on November 5 at 10:05 p.m., NRP charged Timothy A. Wilhelm, 31, and Travis V. Wilhelm, 22, both of Barton, and Larry R. Hook Jr., 23, Paw Paw, W.Va., with casting rays of artificial light onto fields and woodland with a weapon in possession and hunting from a vehicle. Timothy Wilhelm was also charged with possessing a loaded weapon in a vehicle.

Officers seized five rifles, two handheld spotlights, night vision goggles, and ammunition as evidence. This incident occurred in the Russell Road area.

Southern States Holiday Food Drive Launched

With the holiday season approaching, Southern States Cooperative is joining with local food banks to promote the first annual Southern States Holiday Food Drive.

"Farmers in the United States lead the world in producing quality meats, grains, fruits and vegetables," said Southern States president and CEO Tom Scribner. "Essentially, American farmers feed the world, so it's just not right for families right here in the U.S. to go hungry, especially at this time of year."

The drive began Monday and will continue through December 18. Many Southern States locations are working with area food banks to help fill the shelves with food that will go to families in need during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. The participating retail locations are serving as collection centers for customers who bring in canned goods and non-perishable items, and Southern States will make regular deliveries of the donated items to the food banks.

Tom Hart, manager of the Oakland store, said that the local SS store is participating in the drive, which will benefit the House of Hope, Oakland.

According to Turner Gravitt, Southern States director of community relations, the Holiday Food Drive is a natural extension of the company's ongoing commitment to the communities they serve.

"We live in these cities and towns," he said. "We work here, our friends are here, so we as individuals – and as a company – have a responsibility to lend a hand, not only to our customers, but also to our neighbors."

Steve Patterson, Southern States vice president of marketing, encourages those interested in contributing to the Southern States Holiday Food Drive to contact their participating Southern States retail location for more information.

Southern States is a Richmond, Virginia-based farm supply and service cooperative, founded in 1923, that now has more than 300,000 farmer-members. It is one of the nation's largest agricultural cooperatives, with some 1,200 retail outlets.

REMEMBERING

Did you ever forget an important anniversary or birthday? Do you ever feel forgotten, even by those closest to you? God always remembers you. You need only to believe in His plan and have faith in your Creator. He tells us in Jeremiah 29:11... "For I know the plans I have for you...to give you a future and a hope." Remember God this week at your house of worship; He knows every thing about you and will never forget you.

Intercessory Prayer

God answers prayer and praying for others is very important in our daily lives. Intercessory prayer is effective and powerful, and God responds when someone takes the time to pray for another individual. Praying for others does not have to be long or time consuming. If an emergency vehicle goes by, a quick "Heavenly Father, please help whoever needs assistance from this emergency call, I ask this in the name of Jesus". Quite often we may want to do something for someone, but we don't know what to do. We can always pray for them. Praying is a wonderful and amazing activity. It has been around for thousands of years, and God is always there waiting and listening for us. Quite often you may hear of a group of people or a church group praying for someone; this is a wonderful communal activity that benefits both the person receiving and the person asking for our Lord's blessing.

And whatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive.

Jason Lee off the 'Memphis Beat' for good

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Jason Lee

Q: Will we ever see "Memphis Beat" again? We miss Jason Lee. – Peter and Constance Lepera, Palm Coast, Fla.

A: You'll undoubtedly see Lee again – next month, in fact, in the newest "Alvin and the Chipmunks" movie ("Chip-Wrecked") – but as for "Memphis Beat," only if TNT or another network repeats the existing two seasons. The show has been canceled.

Q: What ever happened to the national weather person on CBS' "The Early Show" I really miss the national forecast; I have several relatives around the country. – Patrick Frank, Westbrook, Maine

A: Unfortunately, you're out of luck as far as that program goes, at least for the time being. As part of an overall "Early Show" restructuring, Marysol Castro – who had been brought over from ABC's "Good Morning America" specifically for that job – was relieved of her duties, and the weather segments were turned over to the individual CBS stations. Virtually all of them were doing their own weather anyway for the local cut-ins during "The Early Show," but it now means an even busier morning meteorologist at every CBS affiliate in every market.

Q: What happened to "The Glades"? I can't find it anywhere. – Jeanie Thornhill, Columbus, Ohio

A: The Matt Passmore-starring A&E Network mystery series ran its course for Season 2, and those 13 episodes were meant to span only the summer months. That also was the case with its first season, and it likely will apply to its third round as well when the show returns in 2012.

Q: Is the actress Kirsten Nelson from "Psych" any relation to the late singer-actor Rick Nelson? And is there any connection between her and Mark Harmon, the star of "NCIS"? – Richard Rose, Watervliet, Mich.

A: Kirsten Nelson has no direct link to the famous family that was headed by Ozzie and Harriet. However, Kristin Nelson (note the different first name spelling) – as she was known during her 1963-82 marriage to Rick – is the sister of Mark Harmon and also the mother of actress Tracy Nelson and twins Gunnar and Matthew, who have performed as a music duo named Nelson.

Q: I was watching an old "Little House on the Prairie" movie on Hallmark Channel. There was a young actress in it playing Laura's niece, Jenny, and she looked exactly like Shannen Doherty. Could that have been her? – Liz Monty, Port St. Lucie, Fla.

A: Not only could it have been, it was. Doherty had done her first television acting job for executive producer Michael Landon on NBC's "Father Murphy," and he must have liked what he had seen, since he signed her up shortly afterward to join his "Little House" creative family toward the end of that show's run.

Doherty reprised the role of Jenny in several TV movie sequels, then she would be a co-star of the NBC show "Our House" before landing at the address that would bring her considerably bigger fame ... "Beverly Hills, 90210".

Strange BUT TRUE

• It was the 40th president of the United States, Ronald Wilson Reagan, who made the following sage observation: "Politics is not a bad profession. If you succeed there are many rewards; if you disgrace yourself you can always write a book."

• If you're like 75 percent of Americans, you like to doodle.

• There was a shipwreck in 1664 that had only one survivor, one in 1785 that also resulted in all but one aboard being killed, and one in 1860 that likewise left a single person alive. Considering the fact that shipwrecks ere not that uncommon -- particularly in the heyday of ocean travel -- you might not think this much of e coincidence. Think again, though; in each of those shipwrecks, the sole survivor was named Hugh Williams.

• Those who study such things say that Roman Emperor Caligula's last words were, "I'm still alive!"

• If you go bankrupt, your creditors are forbidden from seizing your wedding ring to pay debts.

• In 1984, e woman named Deborah Martoreno was shopping at Bloomingdale's in New York City, when one of the store's employees, a perfume demonstrator, sprayed her with scent. The experience evidently caused Martorano, who suffered from allergies and asthma, to spend 10 days in a hospital. This respiratory distress resulted in a $75,000 settlement from the store.

• The Dead Sea isn't a sea at all; it's a lake.

• If you ever travel to Borneo or Sumatra and come face-to-face with an orangutan, keep this tidbit of information in mind: If one of these great epes belches at you, you might want to back off; that's how they warn others to stay out of their territory.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Nov. 25, 1783, nearly three months after the Treaty of Peris was signed ending the American Revolution, the final British soldiers withdraw from New York City, the last British military position in the United States. The city had been in British hands since 1776.

• On Nov. 26, 1898, e powerful winter storm batters New England, killing et least 450 people in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts. Blizzard conditions caused 20-foot snowdrifts, some 100 ships were blown ashore in Boston and another 40 were sunk. About 100 people died when a steamer sank near Cape Cod, filling the harbors and nearby beaches with bodies end debris.

Collecting

by Larry Cox

Q: We have an old stamp album with specimens from the 1930s and earlier How do we find a reputable stamp collector so the collection can be appraised? -- Sue, Guttenberg, Iowa

A: First of all, I can only vouch for my honesty. A quick check of your local Better Business Bureau should reveal how good or bad a dealer or business is. There are at least two established stamp dealers in your region, Terry Holdridge, Iowa Stamps and Coin, P.O. Box 77, Ankeny, IA 50021; and Jerry Koepp, 8190 Hickman Rd., Des Moines, IA 50325. If you have your stamps appraised, you should expect to pay for this service.

There are several excellent price guides available that you also might find helpful. I especially like The Official Blackbook Price Guide to U.S. Postage Stamps 2012, by Thomas E. Hudgeons Jr. (House of Collectibles, $8.99).

Q: The items in these photographs heve been in my family for more than 100 years, and I know they are old. How much are they worth? -- Leo, Bunnell, Fla.

A: Even though I was in the antique/collectible business for more than 25 years, I em not a certified expert and this column is not meant to be e free appraisal service. If an appraisal is what you need, you should hire the services of a professional. Keep in mind, a free appraisal is worth what you pay for it.

Q: I have two dinner plates made by Taylor, Smith and Taylor china. One is crecked, the other chipped. Are they worth anything? -- Doris, Orlando, Fla.

A: The value of any collectible --- whether it is a baseball card or e Barbie doll --- is determined by three major factors: condition, rarity and demand. "Cracked" and "chipped" make your two plates unmarketable to a collector.

HOT WATER HEATING

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. I share an apartment where the hot water heater is in the kitchen, easily reachable, and set to turn on with a timer. My roommate almost always switches it off, and we never seem to have hot water at the right time for washing dishes, for example. How much money are we saving by turning the water heater off so much? If we're saving 60 dollars a month, I guess that's worth it. But if it's 20 dollars, I'd prefer to use the water heater more often.

A. To analyze your situation, the key question is "How good is the insulation surrounding the hot water chamber?" A reasonably good hot water heater has enough insulation around it so that when you put your hand on the outside it feels only a tiny bit warm, not at all uncomfortable. A terrible hot water heater would be one where it's like touching the outside of a pan that had been sitting on the stove containing hot water.

Assuming your hot water heater is a normal one, I think the thing to do is leave it on all the time, but set the thermostat on it to a slightly lower number. You never need hot water over 132° F (55 C), and it may be adequately hot at 120° F (49° C).You want to have sufficient hot water stored so that when two people take a shower a few minutes apart, the second person doesn't start feeling a drop in temperature.

For a two-person household, it's doubtful that your monthly electric bill contains a hot-water-related amount of $60, so there is no way you could ever save $60/month. You're looking at the small difference between heating water at one time of day vs. another. If the electric company has put you on "time of day pricing," then you'll want to heat water between midnight and 6 a.m. But for most residential customers, the price of electricity is the same no matter when you use it.

Money is saved via the difference between 120° F and 132° F. If the insulation is any good at all, the practice of switching off when you're not there won't make any significant difference. If you're going away for three weeks, switch off the hot water heater; but certainly not for an absence of three days.

If the insulation is poor, as in an "el cheapo" water heater, and the outer wall is warm to the touch, then go to a hardware store and buy an insulating blanket for the water heater, which will keep even more heat inside. The kit costs around $20. Very soon, that will save you real money.

While you're there, buy some pipe-wrap insulation too. Wrap the hot water pipes leading away from the water heater, preferably with insulating foam-rubber-tubing, thus keeping the water hot on its way to the faucets in other rooms.

Even if you move away within a year, leaving the blanket in place (so as to benefit the landlord or the next tenant), the money you'll save in a few months will recover the cost of the blanket.

trict's gerrymandering will decide which party wins the election, Lee said.

"If I'm Roscoe Bartlett, I run on gerrymandering and nothing else," Lee said. "I run against the entire Democratic apparatus that disenfranchised western Maryland. I make that the issue and not cies, but because he believes the congressman has been in office too long.

"I just don't really care for the direction of the country," Coblentz said. "I think the established politicians are in it for their meal ticket and I don't think they have done a good job representing the people."

This is Krysztoforski's second time running against Bartlett, the first in 2010, where he received 15.8 percent of the primary vote.

"Look at the economy and look at what has to be done," Krysztoforski, a 57-year-old Hunt Valley businessman said. "We have a national debt of $15 trillion, the raising of the debt ceiling – we looked like a banana republic. The people in Washington who are supposed to be solving the problems are the ones who created the problems. We have to control the spending."

Citing his work in the private sector, most of it as an auto dealer, Rippeon, 39, said he wants to simplify the tax code, increase domestic petroleum and natural gas production, and overhaul the nation's immigration policy.

"We have so many individuals who are career politicians," said Rippeon, a Darnestown resident. "I think a lot of these people are out of touch and I don't think they understand so many of the things they are doing in Congress at the federal level, how they affect real people and the real economy."

Garagiola. That would entice a lot of Western Maryland Democrats to vote their resentment."

Republicans Coblentz, Krysztoforski, and Rippeon are promoting themselves as anti-establishment candidates.

WARM THE CHILDREN

Providing New Winter Clothing For Needy Children

For the 14th year, The Republican newspaper and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland are asking for your help. Without it, many Garrett County children will go cold this winter.

Just what is the WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM?

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland and The Republican's WARM THE CHILDREN PROGRAM is basically neighbors helping neighbors. We here at the paper are asking for monetary donations (tax deductible) from you, the readers. The collected funds are being used to purchase new winter clothing for Garrett County children in need. Because the newspaper administers the program, there are no added fees or overhead costs. Every penny donated is used to buy the winter items.

How are needy children being identified?

A special corps of volunteers is working right now to identify those in need this year. (Please do not call for the service. If you have been selected, you will be notified.)

How will the children's clothing be purchased?

Members of the Civic Club of Oakland are taking the families shopping at Wal-Mart. The children, with the help of their parents, may select their own new coats, hats, sweaters, long johns, jeans, boots, pajamas, or other needed winter items, spending up to $125 per child.(We may also shop at Magic Kids in Oakland.)

The Civic Club of Oakland is again heading up the volunteer/shopping coordination. Many volunteers are working together to make sure the children of Garrett County stay warm this winter.

The Republican and the GFWC Civic Club of Oakland

To make a donation, please complete the coupon below, cut it out, and mail it along with your tax-deductible contribution to the address noted. All checks should be made out to Warm the Children.

Donations should be postmarked by December 5, 2011. Those collected after December 5 will be saved for next year's campaign.

A new dehumidifier can save you $20 a year in energy costs.

Replacing an old dehumidifier with an ENERGY STAR® qualified dehumidifier can save you about $20 per year, or more than $220 over its lifetime. These dehumidifiers are more efficient than conventional models, so they use about 15% less energy. In fact, the energy you save over its lifetime could power an ENERGY STAR qualified refrigerator for five months.

For information about energy-efficient products and conservation tips, visit energysaveMD.com or call 1-877-928-8928.

Youth Compete In National 4-H Eng. Challenge

The Maryland 4 H Engineering Team recently traveled to Lafayette, Ind., for the 61st National 4-H Engineering Challenge. The 12-member team participated in individual events, and a team of eight competed in the 4-H Engineering Bowl.

They also attended educational workshops at Purdue University and educational field trips in the Lafayette area to Rea Magnet Wire Company and Subaru of Indiana.

The event included 56 youth from 10 states competing in nine project areas. Safety is a major component of this event.

Most of the Maryland team members were the state grand champions in mechanical science events in Division V of the 4-H Engineering Events at the Maryland State Fair in August.

These events include tractor operator safety, lawn tractor, arc welding, small engines, electric/energy, computer, robotics and bicycle. The youth first competed in their individual counties.

This year, a new official event was the Robotics Challenge. A four-member Maryland team participated: Danielle Franc, Logan Hardesty, Patrick McQuay, and Nathan Young, all of Carroll County.

SEVERAL LOCAL YOUTH recently participated in the 4-H Engineering Challenge in Lafayette, Ind. Pictured above, from left, are Nathan Tichnell, who placed seventh in the Tractor Operator Safety Event; Mikail Perrine, who placed fifth in the Arc Welding Event; and Levi Lantz, who placed third in the Lawn Tractor Event. See story for details.

The first of two challenges was to build and program a robot to travel to a wall target and then turn, scarch, and go to a light source (asynchronous control). The second challenge required building a robot and guiding it to pick up rings and place them onto a vertical tic-tac-toe board (remote control).

Illinois won the first of these by a slim margin, and Maryland won the second by a wide margin. Gary Young, volunteer from Carroll County, was the Maryland robotics coach at the national event. This is part of an effort toward SET – science, engineering, and technology – educational programming.

The Maryland Team (not including robotic members) made it into the semi-final round of the Engineering Bowl competition. In individual events, three third place winners were included. They were Joshua Driesman (Howard County) in the Computer Event, Levi Lantz (Garrett County) in the Lawn Tractor Event (Learn-to-Earn); and Douglas Megee (Cecil County) in the Small Engines Event.

Placing fourth were Benjamin Wolf (Carroll County) in the Bicycle Event, and Samuel Zambuto (Cecil County) in the Electric/Energy Event. In the Arc Welding Event, Mikail Perrine (Garrett County) placed fifth and James Rawlings (Carroll County) placed sixth. Lincoln Electric presented a welder to each contestant.

The Tractor Operator Safety Event was the largest, and Nathan Tichnell, Garrett County, placed seventh. Maryland did not have senior contestants in the Aerospace category this year.

Each event included a written exam, either a presentation or parts identification test, and a demonstration of skills component (operation of a vehicle, computer programming, or welding).

Dr. David S. Ross, professor emeritus and extension agricultural engineer (retired), Department of Environmental Sciencc and Technology, College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, University of Maryland, College Park, was the Maryland group coordinator and chair of the National Bicycle Safety Event.

Dwayne Murphy, faculty extension assistant, 4-H Youth Development, Baltimore County, University of Maryland Extension, was chaperone and co-chair in the Welding Event.

Extension agricultural engineers and 4-H professionals and volunteers from participating states conducted the event. John Deere, Lincoln Electric, Landis and Gyr, and Stuart C. Irby Company are national sponsors; and the Maryland 4-H Foundation, Chesapcake Chapter, American Socicty of Safety Engineers, Fair View Farm, Maryland State Fair, and equipment dealers are local sponsors of this program.

SERVPRO MAKES DONATION – Steven and Joanna King, owners of Servpro of Allegany and Garrett counties, recently offered their thanks to area residents. "Thanks to your support, we are able to donate over $1,000 to the Children of Fallen Soldiers Relief Fund (CFSRF)," they said. The CFSRF was founded in order to provide support to surviving U.S. military children and spouses who have lost a loved one in the Iraq and Afghanistan wars or whose service member has sustained a serious disability. The non-profit's Grant Committee has awarded $293,546.00 in college scholarships and $244,000 in assistance to help wounded warrior charities continue with helping veterans. More information on the CFSRF can be found at www.cfsrf.org. King noted that from Memorial Day through Labor Day, a portion of every sale was set aside to make the donation possible. He served in the Army National Guard and was deployed as part of Operation Enduring Freedom. "We service property losses daily, but the losses that these families have suffered are unimaginable. This is just a small token of our appreciation and could not have been possible without the residents' patronage. We hope to be able to double our donation next year," he said. Pictured from left are Jennifer Samler; John Lancaster; Vickie Minick; Kay Bittinger; Beverly Pannunzio; Monica Jones, secretary of CFSRF; Steven King; Sharon Knopsnyder; Nancy Bittner; Amy Brant; and Misty McDonald.

Northern, Southern GOP Women Attend Western Md. Convention

Western Maryland (Allegany, Frederick, Garrett, and Washington counties) clubs hosted the event at the Hagerstown Hotel and Conference Center. Approximately 90 members representing 42 clubs statewide were in attendance.

The Northern and Southern Garrett County clubs were responsible for registration and for monitoring the auction items donated by the clubs. The proceeds benefit MFRW activities.

MFRW president Ruth Umbel of Garrett County presided over all the general meetings.

Awards chair Cathy Watts presided over the club awards presentations, while National Federation of Republican Women president Sue Lynch and Umbel presented the awards.

The Southern Garrett County club earned four awards: the Maryland Shield (for recognition of advance leadership and [illegible] club performance), [illegible] worthwhile Meeting for a Small Club (for a September 10 meeting in which Umbel introduced new members to the NFRW and MFRW, and described where the club appears on the state organizational chart and its responsibilities), the Literacy Award (for distribution of 70 "Etiquette of Stars and Stripes" booklets to the local high schools), and the NFRW Silver Award (based on points for overall club performance, donations, and volunteer contributions).

REPUBLICAN WOMEN BRING HOME AWARDS – Members of the Northern and Southern Garrett Republican Women's clubs attended the annual convention of the Maryland Federation of Republican Women (MFRW) earlier this month in Hagerstown. The event included guest speakers, workshops, and award presentations. The Southern club received four awards, and the Northern group was awarded one. See story for details. Pictured, left to right, above are NGRW members Carol Frazee and Carolyn Ganoe, MFRW president Ruth Umbel, National Federation of Republican Women president Sue Lynch, and NGRW members Lisa Herman and Mary Jane Brenneman. Below are SGRW member Ann Rebele, Umbel, Lynch, and SGRW member Nita Roberts.

The Northern Garrett County club earned the NFRW Bronze Award (based on points for overall club performance, donations, and volunteer contributions).

The 2012–2013 MFRW officers were installed by Lynch. Umbel was elected to a second two-year term. She asked for support and cooperation from all state clubs.

Southern Garrett County club president Sondra Buckel was elected as co-western regional chair. She will help guide western region clubs toward the goals of MFRW.

Convention speakers included Del. Kelly Schulz, who welcomed the MFRW to western Maryland; Dan Bongino and Richard Douglas, candidates for the U.S. Senate; Brandon Rippeon, candidate for the U.S. House of Representatives; Maryland State Republican Party chair Alex Mooney, who gave a brief review of "politics in motion" in Maryland; Congressman Roscoe Bartlett, who spoke on "Energy"; and Lynch, who gave a brief review of the recent NFRW activities and goals for next year.

Members expressed support for such legislative issues as "Voter ID" (showing identification prior to voting) and "E-Verify" (proof of legal status.

They also discussed opposing "Plan Maryland," state legislation that restricts septic systems in rural areas, state legislation that diminishes the rural population while encouraging movement into urban and city districts, and legislation that takes away states' rights to retain control over academic standards, curriculum, instruction, and testing.

Convention workshops were well attended, according to a local MFRW member. Issues reviewed included how parents can help bring the Constitution back into schools, tips on "Giving Testimonials" and "Effective Letter Writing to Legislature," and discussions on "How to Run for Office."

A "Go-To-Meeting" web site committee was established to research the feasibility of this program for use by MFRW.

A memorial service was held for the 32 members who died this year. As their names were called, a candle was lit for each one.

All clubs were urged to enlarge their memberships, actively support/oppose legislative issues, join candidates' political campaigns, promote voter registration, become involved in the Literacy and Caring for America programs, and donate money and time to charities.

An evening reception in celebration of MFRW's 90 years of service to the state and nation was held to give attendees an opportunity to network with clubs throughout the state. Presentation of colors was performed by American Legion Post 10, Boonsboro, color guard under the direction of Capt. George Harding. Light hors d'oeuvres and a patriotically decorated cake were served.

4-H BEEF RAFFLE HELD – Four quarters of beef were recently raffled by the Garrett County 4-H Program as a fundraiser. For the last 41 years, an animal has been purchased at the Annual Livestock Sale at the Garrett County Fair by First United Bank & Trust and donated to the 4-H Program for this purpose. Pictured above with the winning tickets are Sarena L. Rodeheaver of First United and Ethan Merrill of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club, who raised the raffled beef. See story for details.

4-H Program Raffles Four Beef Quarters

The Garrett County 4-H Program recently completed its annual fundraiser by raffling off four quarters of beef. First United Bank & Trust donated the beef to the 4-H Program. This is the 41st year that the bank has supported the 4-H program through the purchasing and donation of an animal during the annual 4-H/FFA Livestock Sale at the Garrett County Fair.

Winners of each quarter of a beef were Tammy Grove, sold by Colton Grove, Snowy Creek 4-H Club; Blake Gordon, sold by Blake Gordon, Finzel 4-H Club; Joe Embleton, sold by Jacob Hauser, Country Explorers 4-H Club; and Joey Spiker, sold by Jacob Toothman, Country Explorers 4-H Club.

The top three ticket sellers were Tanner Friend of Grantsville 4-H Club, 384 tickets sold, Warren Wright of North Glade 4-H Club, 300 tickets sold; and Nicholas Friend of Ryan's Glade 4-H Club, 263 tickets sold.

Top club sellers were Country Explorers 4-H Club, 450 tickets sold; Finzel 4-H Club, 450 tickets sold; and Grantsville 4-H Club, 384 tickets sold.

The beef was purchased by First United National Bank & Trust, Oakland, and was owned by Ethan Merrill of Grantsville 4H Club. The whole beef was donated to the county 4-H Program, and the live weight was 1,174 lbs.

Winning tickets were drawn by Sarena L. Rodeheaver of First United Bank & Trust's main office, and by Ethan Merrill.

After expenses, the remaining raffle monies will be used in support of county 4-H programs and activities such as Achievement Night, Leaders' Recognition, teaching materials, awards, ribbons, out-of-county scholarships, promotional literature, and camp scholarships.

FSA Introduces Free Online News Service In State

Farmers and ranchers in Maryland now have a more efficient, timely option for receiving important FSA program eligibility requirements, deadlines, and related information, according to Charles Cawley, USDA State Farm Service Agency (FSA) executive director.

"FSA is now offering free online communications through our GovDelivery electronic news service," he said. "News will now be sent via e-mail right to your home or farm office or to your smartphone – allowing you to receive immediate notification of farm program news that is pertinent to your agricultural operation."

Through FSA's GovDelivery electronic news service, producers can establish subscriber preferences by choosing to receive federal farm program information by topic, by state, and/or by county. Producers can select as many subscriber options as they want, which allows producers who farm in multiple counties or across state lines to receive updates from each county in which they operate or have an interest.

According to Cawley, GovDelivery is a one-stop shop for the most up-to-date USDA program information.

"If, after using this online system, producers no longer wish to receive hardcopy newsletters from their local county office; they should contact the office and make their preferences known," he said. "GovDelivery will enable FSA to keep producers better informed and allow us to conserve resources and reduce taxpayer expenses associated with the preparation, printing and distribution of hardcopy newsletters."

To begin using GovDelivery, persons may subscribe online at www.fsa.usda.gov/subscribe, or contact the local office for subscription assistance.

Dec. 5 Deadline Set For County Committee Votes

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds farmers and ranchers that the 2011 FSA county committee elections began on Friday, Nov. 4, with USDA mailing ballots to eligible voters. The deadline to return the ballots to local FSA offices is Dec. 5.

"Our county committee members play a vital role in the funding and operation of our government," said Charles Cawley, state executive director.

"New county committee members provide input and make important decisions on the local administration of disaster and conservation programs. With better participation in recent years, we have also seen promising increases in the number of women and minority candidates, helping to better represent the richness of American agriculture."

County committee members provide a link between the agricultural community and USDA. Farmers and ranchers elected to county committees help deliver FSA programs at the local level, applying their knowledge and judgment to make decisions on commodity price support programs; conservation programs; incentive indemnity and disaster programs for some commodities; emergency programs; and eligibility. FSA committees operate within official regulations designed to carry out federal laws.

To be an eligible voter, farmers and ranchers must participate or cooperate in an FSA program. A person who is not of legal voting age, but supervises and conducts the farming operations of an entire farm may also be eligible to vote.

Agricultural producers in each county submitted candidate nominations during the nomination period, which ended on Aug. 1.

Eligible voters who do not receive ballots in the coming week can obtain ballots from their local USDA Service Center. Dec. 5 is the last day for voters to submit ballots in person to local USDA Service Centers. Ballots returned by mail must be postmarked no later than Dec. 5. Newly elected committee members and their alternates will take office Jan. 1, 2012.

Close to 7,700 FSA county committee members serve in the 2,244 FSA offices nationwide. Each committee consists of three to 11 members who serve three-year terms. Approximately one-third of county committee seats are up for election each year.

More information on county committees, such as the new 2011 fact sheet and brochures, can be found on the FSA web site at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections or at a local USDA Service Center.

Northern FFA Team Competes In Meats Event

Members of the Northern Garrett County FFA Chapter were among 41 teams participating in the recent National FFA Meats Evaluation and Technology Career Development Event (CDE). The event was held in conjunction with the 84th National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Ind. The team, led by advisor Richard McRobie, was awarded a bronze emblem.

Members also competed for individual awards with 155 other participants. Garrett County members receiving bronze emblems were Tristen Devalk, Ashely Edmonds, Tyler Gilpin, and Colton Grove.

The top six individuals and the national winning team members received scholarships to further their education in a postsecondary institution of their choice. The scholarships and the event are sponsored by Cargill Meat Solutions of Kansas, Hormel Foods Corporation of Minnesota, Kraft Foods–Oscar Mayer of Wisconsin, and Tyson Foods Inc. of Arkansas as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

The National FFA Meats Evaluation and Technology CDE is a competitive activity that tests students' skills and competencies in evaluating and identifying meat carcasses and products. Event components include a general knowledge exam, beef carcass evaluation; identification of wholesale and retail cuts of beef, lamb, and pork; quality and yield grading of beef carcasses, a team meat merchandising activity; and solving of a meat formulation problem. Each team has competed on the local and state levels to earn the privilege of representing its state at the national FFA convention.

This event, held at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, is one of many educational activities at the National FFA Convention in which FFA members apply classroom knowledge to real-life situations.

The National FFA Organization, formerly known as the Future Farmers of America, is a national youth organization of 523,309 student members – all preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business, and technology of agriculture – as part of 7,487 local FFA chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

The National FFA Organization changed to its present name in 1988, in recognition of the growth and diversity of agriculture and agricultural education.

The 84th National FFA Convention was held Oct. 19 to 22 in Indianapolis, Ind.; the annual convention draws 50,000-plus FFA members, advisors, and guests from across the country.

The FFA mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education. For more information, persons may visit www.ffa.org.

Blanket Drive Under Way In Garrett County

A "Blanket the Homeless" drive is being held by the Grantsville Involvement Group and the Happy SADD Club of Grantsville.

New and good, clean used blankets will be collected through Friday, Dec. 9. Donations can be made at the following locations: the Grantsville Town Hall, with Robin Jones; Route 40 Elementary School with Kista Wilt; and the Garrett County Health Department with Sharon Menges.

Those donating a blanket will be entered in a drawing, but there is a limit of five donations per person. The prize for ages 2 to 20 is a $50 Wal-Mart gift card, and the prize for ages 21 and up is a $100 Wal-Mart gift card.

The drawing will be held during a party on Friday, Dec. 9, at the Grantsville Senior Center. The evening will include crafts and goody bags for all ages, music with Jimmy B, a cake walk, games with the SADD group, cookies and hot chocolate, and pictures with Santa.

For more information, persons may call Sharon Menges at 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111, extension 6528.

GC HUMANE SOCIETY OFFERING PURR-FECT CHRISTMAS GIFTS – Tux is looking for special gifts for his owner and animal friends this holiday season, and the Garrett County Humane Society may have the solution to his dilemma. The nonprofit, volunteer organization is offering a variety of gifts for people and pets alike, courtesy of the Grand Central Station Flea Market in Oakland. Tux and Santa can pick up specialized Monopoly games (at less than catalog prices), car magnets, pet stockings, handmade wooden ornaments, and dog-bone shaped cookie cutters with a recipe. Every purchase enables the GCHS to continue its effort to help homeless and helpless animals. Every year the group provides emergency medical care to all kinds of domestic animals, distributes spay/neuter vouchers, and responds to hundreds of animal neglect calls. "If you would rather not purchase a gift, you can make a monetary donation to the Humane Society," a group spokesperson said. "Please note who the donation is in memory/honor of and where you want the thank-you card sent. Mail your donation to GCHS Treasurer, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. Also remember, you can make this year a merry Christmas for a homeless pet by adopting from a shelter or rescue."

PRESENTS SUITCASES TO CHILDREN'S HOME – Alyna Raynovich, the state of Maryland's past Grand Worthy Advisor for the International Order of Rainbow for Girls, recently presented more than 125 suitcases, duffle bags, totes, and bags to the Burlington Children's Home in Burlington, W.Va. Raynovich's special project during her year as Grand Worthy Advisor (2010–2011) was "Suitcases for Kids," a charity in which foster children receive luggage. Rev. Richard Hogg, Burlington's chaplain and director of youth services, said the staff was very delighted to receive the donations, which will be put to very good use. Pictured, left to right, with a portion of the luggage are Raynovich and Hogg. A junior at Towson University, Raynovich is the daughter of Debbie and Ted Raynovich, Oakland. At the age of 10, Aubyn Burnside founded Suitcases for Kids in Hickory, N.C., after learning that the average child in foster care moves three to four times and traditionally carries his/her personal belongings from home to home in black garbage bags. "I thought it was horrible that the children had nothing to carry their things in as they moved so many times," she notes on her web site, suitcasesforkids.org. "I wanted to make them feel special by giving them something of their own to keep. I tried to put myself in their place and think how I would feel."

Tips For Shopping Smarter During The Holiday Season

(ARA) – If you're like most Americans, you'll be approaching this year's biggest gift-buying season a bit more cautiously With ongoing economic uncertainties, shoppers are expected to take a different approach to holiday shopping this year, preferring gifts that provide long-term real value versus those that provide an immediate but short-lived "wow" effect.

So what types of gifts deliver the most bang for the buck? Homemade gifts, whether they are baked goods, crafts, artwork, or are knitted or embroidered, rank high on the list of favorites. They deliver a strong message that you care enough to give of your time and not just your money.

Personalized gifts also send a strong message, even though they don't require a lot of money Simple gifts can easily be made to appear extra special with just a few added touches. For example, why not give a picture frame with a favorite picture inside? Or consider including a DVD of the person's favorite actor, or a big box of candy or even a special book with an added gift of a bookmark.

Another highly economical gifting approach is the purchase of a single larger item that can be shared and enjoyed by multiple family members, such as a gaming system, electronics, or a ride-on vehicle. Smaller, less-expensive items that can be enjoyed by the whole family include board games, candles and flowers.

Educational gifts, especially when purchased for children, also provide a real long-term value With the high cost of books and school supplies, it's sometimes hard to keep up with just the basics for school-age kids, so the holidays provide an ideal time to purchase those tools that give students an added edge in school.

A mark-my-time digital bookhght is just one example of an educational gift that provides immediate appeal and continues to benefit the student throughout the school year and even through summer reading programs. A bookmark, timer, and booklight in one, it helps kids track their required readmg time – day or night – and, in the proeess, encourages them to build strong readmg habits. Available at retail stores or through mark-my-time.eom in a number of eye-catching eolors, including blue, pink, and green eamouflage, it actually makes reading fun. It's an affordable stoeking stuffer idea that will be appreeiated and used long after the holidays are over.

Other affordable but equally attractive educational gifts designed for short- and long-term appeal include books, puzzles and word games. Even traditional school supplies can be jazzed up to create attractive gift ideas when they're purehased in today's hot eolors, gel textures, and stylish designs.

And, since the holidays hit right before the start of the seeond school semester, it might be an ideal time to replenish supplies in an attraetive and fun way.

Of eourse the ultimate in gift frugality is the reeyeled gift. Regifting, as it has beeome known, onee frowned upon, is now viewed as aeeeptable by many, and there are even web sites devoted to discussing proper regifting etiquette. An eBay survey found that 83 pereent of adults have received an unwanted gift. Of those, 46 pereent say they have resold or regifted items.

Beyond the selection of value-oriented gifts, the makers of the mark-my-time digital booklight offer the following tips to help keep holiday shopping budgets manageable.

* Set a budget in advance. Be realistie, but make a eommitment to stiek with it. Some finaneial experts reeommend a budget of 1 to 2 pereent of your annual income to eover all holiday-related expenses, ineluding gifts, entertainment, and travel expenses.

* Make a shopping list before leaving the house. Wandering aimlessly through the stores ean lead to overspending.

* Compare priees before making impromptu purchasing decisions. Be certain to include all related expenses, including shipping and installation expenses if appropriate.

* Beware of diseounts based on inflated prices. Don't be fooled by sales that promote double-digit discounts on extravagantly prieed items. It's the bottom-line price that counts.

* Consider patronizing loeal merchants instead of buying online this year. Not only will you be doing your part to help support the local eeonomy, but you might aetually find some great deals as briek-and-mortar retailers are beeoming more aggressive in combating online sales strategies.

The eurrent eeonomie elimate is causing people to change the way they do a lot of things in life, including the way they eelebrate and shop for the holidays. But with some eareful planning and creative thinking, it's still possible to find the perfect gift that fits your budget and needs exactly.

HART For Animals And Dutch's Join Forces For New Year's Eve Fundraiser

It has been one of HART's most exciting years because of the start of construction of its adoption center on Bumble Bee Road, according to a spokeswoman for the non-profit volunteer organization.

"To cap 2011 off in style, HART and Dutch's at Silver Tree are hosting a New Year's Eve Celebration that will give both visitors and residents an exciting year-end gala to attend," she said.

The event will begin at 7 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 31, and end at 1 a.m. on Jan. 1, 2012. Dutch's is located at 567 Glendale Road, Deep Creek Lake.

Tickets for the event are on sale at Dutch's, the HART Spay/Neuter Clinic, and on the HART web site. The price per ticket is $125, which includes a full dinner with a surf and turf entree of steak and crab cake, complimentary wine service, a champagne toast at midnight, hats and noisemakers, an after-midnight light fare buffet, and $10 in chips for the casino. The ticket price includes gratuities and sales tax.

Tables can be reserved for two, four, six, or eight people, but must be reserved in advance as space is limited to 200 guests.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the Bobby Nicholas Band, which plays a range of music that may appeal to all age groups and musical preferences - from long-running Broadway plays to contemporary, country, oldies-but-goodies, rhythm and blues, and jazz.

"The New Year's Eve celebration is the place to be when at Deep Creek Lake at year's end, particularly for those wishing to end the year with happy feet and a dance in their hearts," said the spokeswoman.

Suggested attire for the event is evening wear.

"Thanks to the generosity of Dutch's owner, Eileen Gideon, HART will hold its Fur Ball Casino and Silent Auction in the beautifully remodeled lower level, with all proceeds going to the HART Building Fund," the spokeswoman added. "In addition, Ms. Gideon has made a generous donation to HART of $5,000, which will be identified as an expression of her generosity when the center opens in the summer of 2012."

Church Presenting Cricket County City Christmas Comedy

The Brookside Church of the Brethren in Aurora, W.Va., will present Cricket County City Christmas, a staged comedy, twice in December. The show dates and times are Saturday, Dec. 17, at 6 p.m., and Sunday, Dec. 18, at 2 p.m. The performances will take place at the church, which is located along Rt. 50 in Aurora.

"This production is about the wealthy Tippinheimer family who invites their country cousins from Cricket County to join them for Christmas in the city," a spokesperson said. "This is the countrified cousins' first time outside their rural corner of the world and they are not sure how to act. The city cousins take it upon themselves to teach their dear simple family the sophisticated way of life. This comedy presentation will make you laugh, but also remind you of the true meaning of Christmas."

Library Schedules Annual Open House

The Accident library will hold its annual Open House on Wednesday, Dec. 21, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. with light refreshments, a children's book giveaway, and ornament making. The event is free and open to the public.

Garrett College Gift Certificates Provide Education And More

Shoppers searching for a unique and personal gift may discover that Garrett College is just the place to find it. A wide variety of gift certificates are available for people of all ages and interests. The creative Santa can shop Garrett College for gift certificates for personal interest classes such a Chinese cooking or landscape painting, or a certificate for workforce development classes in computer usage or welding techniques.

The perfect gift for someone could be a certificate to be used in the Garrett College Book Store, where it could be redeemed for books, college T-shirts, coffee mugs, sweatshirts, and more. The recipient will be able to choose from over 500 items.

Gift memberships are also available for the Garrett College Community Aquatic & Recreation Complex (CARC). For the recipient, it offers year-round access to swimming, exercise facilities, and more. In addition, health and fitness classes at the CARC might be on the top of someone's wish list. Classes, which are offered for people of all ages, include swimming, dance, exercise, and other activities.

Perhaps a Santa would choose to sponsor a swimmer and provide the gift of "I Can Swim!" classes for a Garrett County kindergarten child.

The thoughtful Santa may know a special Garrett College student who would appreciate some help with tuition costs. There is a gift certificate available for this purpose as well. Funds will be applied to the student's bill and a certificate issued naming the gift-giver.

A sports enthusiast may really appreciate the jolly Santa who gives season tickets to the Garrett Lakers games, or tickets to a single game.

There is a long list of possibly perfect gifts available at Garrett College for the creative, jolly, thoughtful Santa this year. For a list of gift suggestions, persons can visit the GC web site at www.garrettcollege.edu/gifts.

ALLEGANY COMMUNITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The 13th annual Joy of Christ Celebration will be held in the Oakland Community Center, formerly the Oakland Armory, Monday through Friday, Dec. 5-9, starting daily at 6:30 p.m.

For five days, all members of the public may come out to hear the free Christmas concerts, and receive a free meal and refreshments, as well as free compact discs that are given away by many of the performers. There will be children's activities and educational offerings as well.

"The Joy of Christ Celebration seeks to provide the community with a non-denominational break from the commercialism of Christmas by focusing on the birth of Christ through free concerts, activities, and community interaction," said organizer Paul Browning. "New visitors are amazed that we can provide everything for free."

This year's schedule is as follows:

Monday, Dec. 5

6:30, Lois Sanders; 6:35, Sharon Honsaker; 7, Teal Steel (steel drums); 8, Edsel Calhoun Jr. (magician)

GC HUMANE SOCIETY OFFERING PURR-FECT CHRISTMAS GIFTS – Tux is looking for special gifts for his owner and animal friends this holiday season, and the Garrett County Humane Society just may have the solution to his dilemma. The nonprofit, volunteer organization is offering a variety of gifts for people and pets alike, courtesy of the Grand Central Station Flea Market in Oakland. Tux and Santa can pick up specialized Monopoly games (at less than catalog prices), car magnets, pet stockings, handmade wooden ornaments, and dog-bone shaped cookie cutters with a recipe. Every purchase enables the GCHS to continue its effort to help homeless and helpless animals. Every year the group provides emergency medical care to all kinds of domestic animals, distributes spay/neuter vouchers, and responds to hundreds of animal neglect calls. "If you would rather not purchase a gift, you can make a monetary donation to the Humane Society," a group spokesperson said. "Please note who the donation is in memory/honor of and where you want the thank-you card sent. Mail your donation to GCHS Treasurer, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550. Also remember, you can make this year a merry Christmas for a homeless pet by adopting from a shelter or rescue."
